The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1783 (Annotated) Alfred Thayer Mahan, 2020-04-09 Differentiated book It has a historical context with research of the time The influence of sea power on history 1660 1783 is a naval war story published in 1890 by Alfred Thayer Mahan He details the role of sea power during the 17th and 18th centuries and discussed the various factors necessary to support and achieve sea power with an emphasis on having the largest and most powerful fleet Academics considered it the most influential book in naval strategy Its policies were quickly adopted by most major navies which eventually led to the First World War naval arms race It is also cited as one of the factors contributing to the United States becoming a great power Mahan formulated his concept of sea power while reading a history book in Lima Peru The book was published by Mahan while he was president of the United States Naval War College and was the culmination of his ideas about naval warfare Mahan began the book with an examination of the factors that led to the supremacy of the seas especially how Britain was able to achieve its near dominance He identified characteristics such as geography population and government and expanded the definition of maritime power as a strong commercial and naval fleet Mahan also promoted the belief that any army would succumb to a strong naval blockade The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1783 A. T. Mahan, 2016-08-26 The definite object proposed in this work is an examination of the general history of Europe and America with particular reference to the effect of sea power upon the course of that history

Historians generally have been unfamiliar with the conditions of the sea having as to it neither special interest nor special knowledge and the profound determining influence of maritime strength upon great issues has consequently been overlooked. This is even more true of particular occasions than of the general tendency of sea power. It is easy to say in a general way that the use and control of the sea is and has been a great factor in the history of the world; it is more troublesome to seek out and show its exact bearing at a particular juncture. Yet unless this be done the acknowledgment of general importance remains vague and unsubstantial, not resting as it should upon a collection of special instances in which the precise effect has been made clear by an analysis of the conditions at the given moments. A curious exemplification of this tendency to slight the bearing of maritime power upon events may be drawn from two writers of that English nation which more than any other has owed its greatness to the sea. Twice says Arnold in his History of Rome: "Has there been witnessed the struggle of the highest individual genius against the resources and institutions of a great nation and in both cases the nation was victorious. For seventeen years Hannibal strove against Rome; for sixteen years Napoleon strove against England; the efforts of the first ended in Zama, those of the second in Waterloo." Sir Edward Creasy, quoting this, adds: "One point, however, of the similitude between the two wars has scarcely been adequately dwelt on, that is the remarkable parallel between the Roman general who finally defeated the great Carthaginian and the English general who gave the last deadly overthrow to the French emperor."

Great Warrior Leaders/thinkers, 1989 The Asian Mediterranean François Gipouloux, 2011-01-01. This intensive monograph The Asian Mediterranean is a great synthesis of east-west maritime worlds under an emerging global world. Professor Gipouloux has combined historical studies on global maritime seas with regional economic studies on Asia. He also integrates historical interaction between maritime seas and coastal port cities by creating the imaginative geo-economical concept of the East Asian economic corridor running between Vladivostok and Singapore and locating China, Japan and Southeast Asia into this maritime area. To attain this goal, Professor Gipouloux globalises China through north-south-east-west and past-present combinations using cross-disciplinary approaches: political economy, geography and international relations under wide historical perspectives. The Asian Mediterranean opens a new horizon to look into Asia from a global perspective and at the same time reminds us of the connection beyond contrast between East and West. Takeshi Hamashita, Tokyo University, Japan and Sun Yat-sen University, Guangzhou, China. A fascinating analysis of the proposition that the start of the 21st century is witnessing the rapid rise in South East Asia of a new and powerful transnational economic zone, the Asian Mediterranean. It uses a wide range of historical and contemporary multidisciplinary sources to systematically explore how, why and in what ways we can better interpret and understand this contemporary version of economic globalisation by looking back to the equivalent processes centred on the ports around the Mediterranean and the Baltic seas during the late 16th century. Peter Daniels, University of Birmingham, UK. François Gipouloux has written a vast and comprehensive history of the Asian economic system. In the tradition of Braudel, he paints a picture that is detailed, full of insight and essentially very long term On the basis of an analysis of the old Mediterranean and Hanseatic economic networks he surveys the pre modern Asian system bringing it up to date with studies of Yokohama Hong Kong Singapore and other Asian hubs The culmination of many years work Gipouloux throws light on a new China a China no longer land based and inward looking but dependent on and a power in a maritime world Christopher Howe University of London UK Gipouloux s ground breaking study based on a long career as a scholar of Asia s past is a most original contribution to the study of globalization Connecting past and present the author has further developed the somewhat vague metaphor of an Asian Mediterranean into a well defined concept that can also be applied to analyzing contemporary affairs While in the past the traditional Chinese and Japanese state systems were failing to formulate adequate answers on a more informal level the port cities were able to meet with the maritime challenges of the emerging modern world system The author convincingly shows how also in the age of globalization a string of coastal metropolises continues to be instrumental in opening up the Far Eastern economy to the global economy Leonard Blussé Leiden University The Netherlands This insightful book draws upon a wide range of disciplines political economy geography and international relations to examine how Asia has returned to its central position in the world economy As in the case of the hosting of the Olympic games it is cities rather than states which compete whether as financial centres logistical hubs or platforms for coordinating international subcontracting Analysing the historical precedents of the Mediterranean maritime republics the Baltic Sea Hanseatic League and the South China Sea mercantile kingdoms the book delineates the way stable economic and legal institutions were developed largely beyond the purview of and at times in conflict with the State Discussing the strong link between history and contemporary economic situation The Asian Mediterranean will appeal to academics includin
