Anglo-American Media Interactions, 1850-2000 Joel H. Wiener,Mark Hampton,2007-07-11 This volume reveals the complicated ways in which British and American media have influenced each other over the past two centuries In doing so it adds an important transatlantic dimension to media scholarship while demonstrating the crucial and varied ways in which media have helped build an Anglo American special relationship The Media Were American Jeremy Tunstall,2008 It has become clear that the U S media are no longer increasingly their grip throughout the globe Asia and the Arab Moslem world is virtually saturated with their own national media output Tunstall produces a well written provocative snapshot at global media today His point of view is relentlessly global he considers the role of the media in the collapse of the Soviet Union the ascendance of the Brazilian and Mexican soap opera the increasing strength of Bollywood the national cinema output of India as well as the relative decline in influence of US media Importantly Tunstall focuses on both the nation state and the geographical and cultural region as crucial levels in today's mass media Both the United States and the US mass media have now lost their previous moral leadership Lone American control of the world news flow has ceased today rather than Global media we see a world media system comprised of interlocking national regional cultural systems Tunstall's assessment is a wake up call for insular American media consumers The Anglo-American Media Connection Jeremy Tunstall,David Machin,1999 The Anglo American media constitute one of the world's most familiar and least analysed alliances For the United States media this close connection with Britain is one of several unambiguous American international media trading advantages For Britain the relationship is more ambiguous in news and factual media Britain can realistically see itself as the world media number two but across the broad range of entertainment Britain is closer to being a colonial dependency of Hollywood Is Britain a Trojan Horse for American media in Europe No more so than the other larger European countries which like Britain combine media nationalism with dependence on Hollywood Margaret Thatcher Francois Mitterrand and Brussels all pursued policies which assisted the American media in Europe Spanning a broad range from advertising to publishing pop music and pornography this book also addresses the media future does the merger of American TV networks with Hollywood companies constitute a new Hollywood cartel of a few companies controlling hundreds of channels which excludes European companies Can the BBC survive until 2022 Can televised sport help to create a European identity The book will be fascinating reading for all those interested in current media issues as well as students of British and international media Al Jazeera and the Global Media Landscape Tine Ustad Figenschou,2013-10-15 This book analyzes how and why Al Jazeera English AJE became the channel of choice to understand the massive protests across the Arab world 2011 Aiming to explain the Al Jazeera moment it tracks the channel's bumpy road towards international recognition in a longitudinal in depth analysis of the channel's editorial profile and strategies Studying AJE from its launch in mid November

2006 to the Arab Spring it explains and problematizes the channel's ambitious editorial agenda and strategies examines the internal conflicts practical challenges and minor breakthroughs in its formative years The Al Jazeera phenomenon has received massive attention but it remains under researched The growth of transnational satellite television has transformed the global media landscape into a complex web of multi vocal multimedia and multi directional flows Based on a combination of policy production and content analysis of comprehensive empirical data the book offers an innovative perspective on the theorization of global news contra flows By problematizing the distinctive characteristics of AJE it examines the strategic motivation behind the channel and the ways in which its production processes and news profile are meant to be different from its Anglo American competitors These questions underscore a central nexus of the book the changing relationship between transnational satellite news and power

The Media in Britain Jeremy Tunstall, 1983 British newspapers The Times The Guardian Daily Telegraph and Financial Times have long been considered among the best in the world and the BBC has become the world's most venerated television and radio organization In this book Jeremy Tunstall author of The Media are American surveys British media since 1945 including television radio films newspapers and magazines with the purpose of studying how they operate and what the future holds for them In the course of the book he discusses such issues as the relationship of politics to the media media audiences media biases control of the media by conglomerates and policies for the future

Advertising, the Media and Globalisation John Sinclair, 2012 This book offers a critical empirically grounded and contemporary account of how advertisers and agencies are dealing with a volatile mediascape throughout the world taking a region by region approach It provides a clear systematic and synoptic analysis of the dynamic relationship between media advertisers and agencies in the age of globalization and in an era of transition from mass to social media Advertising attracts much public criticism for the commercialization of culture and its apparent impact on social and personal life This book outlines and assesses the issues involved with regard to how they are manifested in different national regional and global contexts Topics covered include advertising as an object of study global trends in the advertising industry advertising and the media in motion current issues in advertising media and society advertising globalization and world regions While maintaining a contemporary focus the book explains developments over recent decades as background to the globalization of what it calls the manufacturing marketing media complex

International Journalism Kevin Williams, 2011-08-10 Kevin Williams has authored an account of foreign correspondence and international journalism that is the most comprehensively sourced inclusive contextualized timely and critical in its field At last we have an account that acknowledges that the largest employers of foreign correspondents for nearly two hundred years have been and continue to be the news agencies that the occupation is rooted in a history of imperialism post colonialism and commercialization whose vestiges today are all too apparent that the impacts of so called new media on the amount range and quality of international news while significant are less dramatic and less positive than commonly supposed Oliver Boyd Barrett Bowling Green State University Ohio What is the future of the foreign correspondent is there one Tracing the historical development of international reporting Kevin Williams examines the organizational structures occupational culture and information environment in which it is practiced to explore the argument that foreign correspondence is becoming extinct in the globalized world Mapping the institutional political economic cultural and historical context within which news is gathered across borders this book reveals how foreign correspondents are adapting to new global and commercial realities in how they gather adapt and disseminate news Lucid and engaging the book expertly probes three global models of reporting Anglo American European and the developing world to lay bare the forces of technology commercial constraint and globalization that are changing how journalism is practiced and understood Essential reading for students of journalism this is a timely and thought provoking book for anyone who wishes to fully grasp the core issues of journalism and reporting in a global context

Cultural Barriers to the Success of Foreign Media Content Ulrike Rohn, 2009 What media content attracts audiences across cultures and what does not What does the cross cultural audience demand depend on The author takes a new approach to understanding cultural barriers to the success of foreign media content by analyzing the entry strategies of Time Warner Disney Viacom News Corporation and Bertelsmann with regard to China India and Japan in terms of their respective localization efforts In depth interviews with companies representatives give an insight into how they view the need for locally produced media in these countries The author develops and employs the Lacuna and Universal Model that provides a new theoretical classification of reasons for the cross cultural success and failure of media content as well as the Vertical Barrier Chain that locates cultural barriers in the wider context of legal political and economic barriers to successful entry into foreign media markets
