The Men who Made the Nation Edwin Erle Sparks, 1904 The Men Who Made the Nation Edwin Erle Sparks, 2017-11-26 Excerpt from The Men Who Made the Nation: An Outline of United States History From 1760 to 1865. That the unification of the American people is now sufficiently accomplished to warrant the general reader in following up the chief events which have overcome inherent individualism and have by necessity compelled cooperation. That a recital of the events in the nation's career without the persons connected therewith is to the untrained reader an empty stage. However magnificently set, it is lifeless without the players. The making of the nation is the story of the men who made it. That at any given period of affairs, one man will be found who is master of the situation and events naturally group themselves about him. That the preeminence of one man at any period does not detract from the services of the minor characters, some of whom may become leaders subsequently.
