Abstrak

A quantitative trait related to the strength of sensing behavior associated with stimuli. Behavior is all human action caused by encouragement and psychological desires as well as the effect of society and culture. This study aims to determine whether there is an influence between pornographic access to adolescent sexual behavior in MTS "X" kalipare. The design used in this study is quantitative descriptive, with a cross sectional study design. The population is all MTS X students as many as 150 students, with a sample of 109 respondents taken Simple Random Sample using a questionnaire. Then analyzed by person / product moment test. From the results of the study, the results for the category of pornography access in Kalipare MTS X are mostly classified as rare as 72.5%, while the good category is 25.7%, and the category never is 1.8%. For the category of sexual behavior, the results were mostly classified as quite as much as 65.1%, while the good category was 34.9%, and the less category was 0%. Based on the results of the test person / product moment in getting the results ($p = 0,000 < 0,05$, H_0 is rejected). Then it is known that there is an influence between the influence of pornographic access to adolescent sexual behavior in MTS X in Kalipare village. Accessing pornography is a deviant behavior, because it is expected to be the basis for making policies related to the use of social media in students as well as supporting government policies related to efforts to combat cases of sexual deviation.

Background

The development of information and communication technology has become one of the efforts to realize an advanced and intelligent generation of Indonesians. Information and communication technology can be used as a tool for students to expand their knowledge and develop themselves in order to achieve quality life. But on the other hand, the existence of communication and information technology tools actually creates a negative threat to children's behavior¹⁻⁴. Internet users in Indonesia in 2014 have reached 82 million people. With these achievements, Indonesia is ranked 8th in the world. Of the number of internet users, 80 percent of them are teenagers aged 15-19 years. For Facebook users, Indonesia is ranked 4th in the world. The survey results from Frontier Consulting Group, adolescents aged between 13-19 years in six major cities in Indonesia in 2011 showed that 91.2% of teenagers have social media accounts. This percentage increased in 2012 where as many as 97.5% of teenagers had social media accounts⁵⁻⁷. The mass media currently also shows a lot of shows that highlight the pornography aspect which is believed to be closely related to the increase in various cases of sexual violence. The progress of communication technology that occurs at this time, has resulted in almost no power capable of
