The Laurel Rediscovery Of The North American Laurels:

The Laurel Book Richard A. Jaynes, 1975 Encyclopedia of Cultivated Plants Christopher Cumo, 2013-04-25 Readers of this expansive three volume encyclopedia will gain scientific sociological and demographic insight into the complex relationship between plants and humans across history Comprising three volumes and approximately half a million words this work is likely the most comprehensive reference of its kind providing detailed information not only about specific plants and food crops such as barley corn potato rice and wheat but also interdisciplinary content that draws on the natural sciences social sciences and humanities The entries underscore the fascination that humans have long held for plants identifies the myriad reasons why much of life on earth would be impossible without plants and points out the intertwined relationship of plants and humans and how delicate this balance can be While the majority of the content is dedicated to the food plants that are essential to human existence material on ornamentals fiber crops pharmacological plants and carnivorous plants is also included Flora Neotropica , 1968 Arnoldia , 1975 The Home-horticulture Extended Reference System Caroline Tien-chi Kiang, 1985 Appalachian Spring Marcia Bonta, 2010-06-15 Marcia Bonta is a naturalist writer who has lived on a 500 acre mountain top farm in central Pennsylvania for twenty years Appalachian Spring is her personal account of that glorious spectacle the coming of the spring to the woods and fields of Appalachia The book begins with spring preliminaries in January and February when gray squirrels mate and the great horned owls conduct their courtship rites Then with the onset of true spring the intricacies of the season unravel day by day in journal entries that combine Bonta s own meticulous observations with the research reported by botanists entomologists and other natural scientists She recounts her hours spent watching an active red fox den or observing the drumming of a male ruffed grouse all without the benefit of a blind She discovers new born fawns on the trail and hen turkeys with their poults in the field A black bear peers into her sitting room window deer play tag in her front yard Birdwatching is an integral part of her spring ritual she records both the return of nesting species and the passing through of migrants She spends a blustery St Patrick s Day following a flock of American pipits foraging in her field discovers and watches an ovenbird nest beside her trail and counts twenty three species of wood warblers during one spectacular day in mid May Every aspect of the natural world catches her eye from the life cycle of a tent caterpillar to the sex life of a jack in the pulpit But while she considers her book to be her own love song about the place and season on earth she loves most she also mourns the continual exploitation of the natural earth by humanity for its own often superficial uses She hopes by recounting the wonders of the natural world to convert others to what she calls the third stage in humanity s relationship with nature that of empathy with all of nature for its own sake To know the earth better to grasp a little of its workings to look on it with awe and wonder as well as with respect is to want to save it from destruction
