Zimmermann,Christian Tomuschat,Karin Oellers-Frahm,Christian J. Tams,2012-10-11 The International Court of Justice is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations and plays a central role in the settlement of disputes and the development of international law This commentary analyses the Statute of the Court and the related provisions of the UN charter and the Court s Rules of Procedure The Triggering Procedure of the International Criminal Court Héctor Olásolo,2005 The Rome Statute unlike the statutes of the International Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and for Rwanda creates a permanent court whose dormant jurisdiction covers the territory and includes the nationals of States Parties and is universal in cases where the Security Council makes a referral Besides unlike the ad hoc tribunals which have jurisdiction over specific crisis situations whose personal territorial and temporal parameters have been defined in their respective statutes by the UN Security Council in the case of the ICC it is not possible to determine a priori in which situations the ICC will be involved As a result the most relevant activity of the Court is the determination of those situations regarding which the dormant jurisdiction of the Court will be triggered The book The Triggering Procedure of the International Criminal Court constitutes the first comprehensive analysis of the proceedings that prior to any criminal investigation aim to make such a fundamental determination An Institutional And Normative Analysis of the World Trade Organization Mary E. Footer,2006 This book establishes a framework for analysis of the institutional and normative character of the WTO by locating the organization in a broader theory of international institutional law and in determining the basis for the conferral and exercise of powers in relation to its executive legislative and adjudicative functions The WTO is also read as an international regime in order to go beyond its formal legal and constitutional bases and to observe the Members practice in the context of the former semi institutionalised GATT treaty regime with which it retains strong links WTO decision making which underpins and informs its institutional and normative acts is analysed in order to better understand the dynamics of the organization Normative developments in the WTO are reviewed from the perspective of the creation maintenance and revision of legally binding and non binding or soft law norms in the sense of principles rules and standards contained in primary treaty rules which set out the rights and obligations of the Members and subsidiary rule making activity by WTO bodies The Cambridge Companion to International Organizations Law Jan Klabbers,2022-04-07 Offers an overview of international organizations law including how they work and how they affect their member states A Changing United Nations W. Knight,2000-10-19 The United Nations is at a critical juncture It is faced with two distinct choices to remain a decision frozen in time or to develop a long term adaptation agenda and strategy that would allow it to be a relevant institution of global governance for the twenty first century Reform and reflexive institutional adjustments have failed to address underlying problems facing this organization After fifty five years of existence it is still considered an inefficient and ineffective world body Worse yet its relevance is being questioned This study offers a critique of existing UN change processes and then shifts focus to considerations of institutional learning strategies that would allow the UN to maintain relevance amidst the evolution of global governance arrangements

International Organizations Before National Courts August Reinisch, 2000-04-13 A radical empirical investigation of how national courts react to disputes involving international organizations Through comprehensive analysis of the attitudes and techniques of national courts and underlying political motives Professor Reinisch first describes various legal approaches that result in adjudication or non adjudication of disputes concerning international organizations Secondly he discusses policy issues pro and contra the adjudication of such disputes His study then scrutinizes the rationale for immunizing international organizations from domestic litigations especially the functional need for immunity and substantially debates the implications of a human rights based right of access to court on immunizing international organizations against national jurisdictions Finally he identifies contemporary trends seeking to ascertain whether a more flexible principle exempting certain types of disputes from domestic adjudication might substitute for the traditional immunity concept which would simultaneously guarantee the functioning and independence of international organizations without impairing private parties access to a fair dispute settlement procedure
