

The light shines
in the darkness,
and the darkness
can never extinguish it.

Called Into Life by the Light Bernard J. Fleury, 2002-12-20 A non-fiction account of the human experience of light in theology philosophy physics medicine and near death experiences Light the foundational stuff of all that exists an elusive pervasive something and someone calling each of us into life      The Groundwork of the Christian Virtues abp. William Bernard Ullathorne, 1890      The Groundwork of the Christian Virtues William Bernard Ullathorne, 1882      The Light Shines in Darkness Aylmer Maude, Leo Tolstoy, 2014-06-07 In this play in five unfinished acts Tolstoy portrays the generally negative reactions of a man's family and friends to views that Tolstoy himself advocated The man Nicholas rejects the notion that Christianity should be based upon blind faith and insists that religion must be rational He feels that people should love one another that this is the true basic message of Christianity and therefore people should not volunteer for military service where people kill one another He also contends that land belongs to everyone and that he must give up the thousands of acres that he owns to the peasants leaving himself only the bare necessities for life He knows the light that is shining in the darkness of the world Nicholas argues with a priest about Christianity He contends that the Church has perverted Christianity and is responsible for developing notions that are destroying the truth of Christianity Contrary to the contentions of the Church the Church does not preserve the truth He shows the priest contradictions in the Bible that cannot be reconciled He argues that the insistence of the Church upon certain ceremonies has divided Christianity into many groups each with their own sacraments He insists that humans are responsible for themselves and a Church should not think that it has a duty to direct and control human behavior The priest agrees with Nicholas that what Nicholas says is reasonable but insists that a Christian must accept Church doctrine based on faith Nicholas feels certain that once he explains about the military and about the rights of all people to all land his wife will see the reasonableness of his position She does not She feels that he wants to deprive his future son in law of a military life the life he desires the life that will give him joy and a livelihood and the happiness of their daughter She is shocked when she hears that he wants to give away his property and leave them in near penury She asks a more senior priest to come and reeducate Nicholas The priest comes and there is an interesting debate with the priest constantly calling Nicholas prideful as if this explained his behavior The play s final acts dramatize the adverse effects that Nicholas teachings have upon some people who accepted and acted upon them and the way that these ideas destroy Nicholas      Seeing by the Light Ike Miller,2020-05-05 How can we understand God s revelation to us Exploring both Augustine s and Karl Barth s readings of the Johannine literature Ike Miller casts a broader vision of divine illumination arguing for a fully Trinitarian view of illumination that forms not just our intellect but also appeals to the affections and encourages our ethical action      Songs of Resistance R. Alan Streett,2022-11-11 Songs of Resistance Challenging Caesar and Empire examines New Testament hymns in light of their historical and cultural contexts Such a reading yields new insights Rather than finding theological truths alone one also discovers lyrics that contest and defy Rome s great tradition The early Christ followers sang songs that opposed the empire s worldview and offered an alternative vision for society These songs were a first century equivalent of modern day protest songs But instead of marching and singing in the streets believers gathered in private spaces where they lifted their voices to Jesus and retold the story of his execution as an enemy of the state and how God raised him from the dead to rule over the universe As they sang believers were emboldened to remain faithful to Christ and withstand the temptation to comply with the sociopolitical agenda of the empire
