The Metronomic Society Natural Rhythms And Human Timetables:

The Metronomic Society Michael Dunlop Young,1988 Discusses the nature of time its perception natural rhythms biological cycles the timing of social behavior human habits artifacts customs and traditions Ibss: Anthropology: 1988 British Library of Political and Economic Science,1992 This bibliography lists the most important works in anthropology published in 1988 The Rhythms of Society Michael Young,Tom Schuller,2025-01-06 Originally published in 1988 The Rhythms of Society reflects the time obsessed age we lived in when it was written The contributors drawn from a range of disciplines develop a common sociological approach to examine time in a range of cultures sub cultures and historical periods With time even more of an issue now this can be read today with an eye to the future Unhastening Science Dick Pels,2003-01-01 This book offers a new account of what makes science special among other human pursuits critically engaging with a variety of approaches especially constructivist and relativist studies of science and technology It focuses on the studied lack of haste of science its relative freedom from stress and its socially sanctioned withdrawal from the swift pace of ordinary life Unhastening Science offers a balanced and thoughtful argument which emphasizes the dangers of cossetting science from the scourge of internal competition while at the same time highlighting the need for distance between the process of scientific thought and the faster machinery of politics business sports and the media Principles of Human Locomotion Thomas Rowland,2020-09-10 This book addresses how the general principles of biology influence the human capacity for locomotion and conversely how understanding the nature of muscular activity might provide insights into the basic nature of living beings Through a series of essays the book relates the evolutionary basis of animal locomotion to recognizing the determinants of exercise capacity While raising more questions than providing answers the discussions will assume that without knowing the correct questions to ask the answers will not be forthcoming At the root of this book lies the central query what is it that separates the principles governing the function of living beings from those that dictate the inanimate world The discussions here address this issue from the expectation that clues to the answer can be obtained through understanding adaptations to the stresses imposed by physical exercise As such the book provides thought provoking analyses of the biological basis of locomotion that will stimulate future efforts to understand these phenomena

Experiencing New Worlds Jürg Wassmann,Katharina Stockhaus,2007 The many different localities of the Pacific region have a long history of transformation under both pre and post colonial conditions More recently rates of local transformation have increased tremendously under post colonial regimes The forces of globalization which rapidly distribute commodities images and political and moral concepts across the region have presented Pacific populations with an unprecedented need and opportunity to fashion new and expanded understandings of their cultural and individual identities This volume the first in a new series examines the forces of globalization at different levels as they manifest themselves and operate across cultural cognitive and biographical dimensions of human life in the Pacific While posing familiar questions it offers new answers through the integration of cultural and psychological methods The contributors draw on practice theory cognitive science and the anthropology of space and place while exploring the key analytical rubrics of human agency memory and landscape

Ultradian Rhythms in Life Processes David Lloyd, Ernest L. Rossi, 2012-12-06 Profound progress has been made in the fields of chronobiology and psychobiology within the past decade in theory experiment and clinical application This volume integrates these new developments on all levels from the molecular genetic and cellular to the psycho social processes of everyday life We present a balanced variety of research from workers around the globe who discuss the fundamental significance of their approach for a new understanding of the central role of ultradian rhythms in the self organizing and adaptive dynamics of all life processes The years since the publication of Ultradian rhythms in physiology and behavior by Schultz and Lavie in 1985 have seen a burgeoning realization of the ubiquity and importance of ultradian rhythms within and between every level of the psychobiological hierarchy The experimental evidence lies scattered through a disparate literature and this volume attempts albeit in a highly selective manner to bring together some of the different strands The editors are very conscious of the omission of many important current aspects e g we have not included any of the fascinating and indeed long and well established experiments with plants Bunning 1971 1977 Guillaume and Koukkari 1987 Millet et al 1988 10hnsson et al 1990 that are widely regarded as having initiated the whole field of chronobiology De Mairan 1729 Neither have we reviewed recent developments on glycolytic oscillations since a great deal of the seminal work was already completed by 1973 Chance et al 1973

Consuming Football in Late Modern Life Kevin Dixon, 2016-05-23 Consuming Football in Late Modern Life explores the phenomenon of football soccer fandom as consumption in the age of late modernity By centralising fandom within the sociology of consumption the book examines how this phenomenon equates to a fluid series of consumption activities that are practiced in the course of everyday life In turn the work departs from much of the existing literature that features exceptional properties of fanatical fans in order to emphasise the position that seemingly trivial acts of consumption can have a profound influence on the construction maintenance and evolution of football fandom cultures Containing up to date research findings derived from a programme of interviews with a sample of football fans Kevin Dixon examines the social emotional economic and technological implications of consumption as fans participate in and respond to the demands of consumer life

Comparative Sociology and Social Theory Graham Crow, 1997-06-09 Recent developments have made obsolete the division of the globe into three worlds of capitalist state socialist and underdeveloped countries This book traces the interconnectedness of the disorganisation of capitalism in the industrialised west the transformation of former state socialist societies and the divergent fortunes of third world countries It argues that comparative sociology continues to have relevance in the age of globalisation and provides a framework within which these developments can be placed in their proper perspective

The Cultural Turn David Chaney, 2002-11 This book explains the turn to culture and the lessons to be drawn from this movement The author also provides an elegant and informative guide to the importance of culture in the postmodern world A key work in understanding culture
