

A sepia-toned photograph of a caravan of people riding camels across a desert landscape. The lead camel and rider are in sharp focus in the foreground, while the rest of the caravan recedes into the distance. The riders are wearing traditional headwear and robes. The background shows a flat, arid desert under a clear sky.

American Alliance Policy in the Middle East, 1945-1992 John P. Miglietta,2002-01-01 American Alliance Policy in the Middle East provides a stimulating new look at a U S Cold War foreign policy gripped by anticommunist paranoia Through case studies of America s relationships with Iran Israel and Saudi Arabia John P Miglietta reveals how an overriding fear of global communism led to the overcommitment of U S security resources to the region The perceived need to preserve Middle East stability rendered U S policy ineffectual and unresponsive to changing local conditions drastically altering the patron client paradigm to the detriment of American strategic interests This superb analysis of American foreign policymaking illustrates how Cold War anticommunist ideology prevented the evolution of traditional military alliances into broader based relationships and perpetuated authoritarian regimes that mired the Middle East in a cycle of poverty and despotism The Regional Order in the Gulf Region and the Middle East Philipp O. Amour,2020-07-04 This book examines the regional order in the Gulf Region and the wider Middle East focusing on regional rivalries and security alliances The authors analyze the regional system in terms of its general structure as well as the major inter state and non state security alliances The structure of the regional system in the wider Middle East and the shake ups it has experienced explain the ongoing regional rivalry and polarization since 2011 in hotspots such as Syria Yemen and Libya As such the various chapters address regional transition and power dynamics between and among regional great powers and non state militant actors across the Gulf Region and the wider Middle East in terms of the alliance building persistence and disintegration since 2011
