The Military Industrial Firm A Practical Theory Model:

The Military-industrial Firm John Francis Gorgol,1972 Entrepreneurship, Networks, and Modern Business Jonathan Brown,Mary B. Rose,1993 A collection of papers based upon a joint symposium of business historians from the universities of Lancaster and Reading Each paper addresses some aspect of entrepreneurship and topics under that heading range from business culture and family firms to cartels and the British arms industry The World Aircraft Industry Daniel Todd,Jamie Simpson,2019-08-13 Aircraft building is a major industry for many developed countries This book first published in 1986 provides a comprehensive survey of the state of the world aircraft industry It looks at how the industry developed and at its problems It examines the role of governments showing how this differs from country to country It concludes by assessing the prospects for the future shape of the industry particularly as newly industrialised countries become more involved Routledge Revivals: Defence Industries (1988) Daniel Todd,2018-02-01 Originally published in 1989 Defence Industries presents a worldwide survey of defence industries It argues that modern weapon systems and electronic warfare have led to the transition of the military industrial enterprise into a multifaceted entity where electronics production is the key It analyses the extent of defence industries showing that large portions of the aerospace shipbuilding motor vehicle and electronics industries are devoted to defence and discusses where the defence industries are located It examines the differences in government policies contrasting the superpowers with newly industrialised countries Eyeing the Red Storm Robert M. Dienesch,2016-04 In 1954 the U S Air Force launched an ambitious program known as WS 117L to develop the world s first reconnaissance satellite The goal was to take photographic images from space and relay them back to Earth via radio Because of technical issues and bureaucratic resistance however WS 117L was seriously behind schedule by the time Sputnik orbited Earth in 1957 and was eventually cancelled The air force began concentrating instead on new programs that eventually launched the first successful U S spy satellites Eyeing the Red Storm examines the birth of space based reconnaissance not from the perspective of CORONA the first photo reconnaissance satellite to fly but rather from that of the WS 117L Robert M Dienesch s revised assessment places WS 117L within the larger context of Dwight D Eisenhower s presidency focusing on the dynamic between military and civilian leadership Dienesch demonstrates how WS 117L promised Eisenhower not merely military intelligence but also the capacity to manage national security against the Soviet threat As a fiscal conservative Eisenhower believed a strong economy was the key to surviving the Cold War and saw satellite reconnaissance as a means to understand the Soviet military challenge more clearly and thus keep American defense spending under control Although WS 117L never flew it provided the foundation for all subsequent satellites breaking theoretical barriers and helping to overcome major technical hurdles which ensured the success of America s first working reconnaissance satellites and their photographic missions during the Cold War Purchase the audio edition British Weapons Acquisition Policy and the Futility of Reform Warren A. Chin,2019-09-17 Originally published in 2004 This incisive work reveals the causes of escalating costs and delays in British defence procurement from 1945 to the present. Tackling a complex subject in a straightforward and readable manner it considers how successive British governments reacted to this problem why they adopted the reforms they did and why these reforms failed to have any meaningful effect on the operation of this process. The study draws upon a number of disciplines such as economics politics and science and engineering to provide a broad synthesis that allows the reader to understand the technicalities of the process. The conclusion reached is that there is no apparent solution to the problem of intergenerational costs of weapons but that a key to controlling the growing cost of projects during their development lies in the construction of a more effective research and development strategy a path followed by Margaret Thatcher's predecessors and one that is also being advocated today.
