

While Jesus was preaching and teaching, there were many people who said they would follow Jesus. They called themselves his disciples but they did not practice what Jesus preached, like loving others and changing their attitudes.

So Jesus decided to tell them a story of how two men built their houses. It is in the parable of the two builders. There is his parable.

The Matthean Parables Ivor H. Jones, 2014-04-09 The Matthean Parables offers a fresh approach to the origin of Matthew's Gospel. It builds on current historical, literary, rhetorical, and sociological studies of Matthew's Gospel to show how the Matthean parables illuminate the structure, purpose, and theology of that gospel. The first part of the book establishes the need for a new attempt to define the genre of Matthew's Gospel; examines what is meant by a parable; and summarises the contribution made by the parables to that new attempt. The second part is a thorough exegetical, historical, critical, and literary study of all the Matthean parables in the context of the whole gospel and in the light of all the Matthean figurative material. An appendix illustrates the use of syntactical material in defining the character and style of a biblical text.

The Parables of Jesus Richard Gribble, 2000-06 The parable is the most well-known literary form presented in the gospels. And since narrative or story sermons are such a prominent element in the contemporary pulpit, pastors are preaching on the parable texts more frequently than ever. Richard Gribble thoroughly examines each of the parables appearing in Cycle C of the Revised Common Lectionary. Each analysis includes discussion of the theme, spiritual food for the journey, application of the parable to contemporary life, openings for preaching, points of challenge, and questions to ponder. Exegesis and explanation of the parable context of the parable. These studies will be a classic resource for preaching or useful for Bible study and inspiration. The author of eight books and over 100 articles, Richard Gribble, CSC, is the acting superior at Moreau Seminary at the University of Notre Dame. Father Gribble earned his Ph.D. from The Catholic University of America and has also earned degrees from the United States Naval Academy, the University of Southern California, and the Jesuit School of Theology at Berkeley.

Stories Jesus Told: The Story of the Two Builders Tim Ladwig, 2021-03-02 The Christian parable of the wise and foolish builders with text taken directly from Scripture to help children understand the importance of following Jesus's commandments.
