The Park Builders A History Of State Parks In The Pacific Northwest:

The Park Builders Thomas R. Cox, 1988 Among the greatest attractions of the Pacific Northwest are its state parks campgrounds and tree lined highways This book profiles the men who provided the parks and the times that shaped them More than a study of state parks this book is a study of the evolution of recreation conservation and government in the 20th century

The Park Builders Thomas R. Cox, 2011-04-21 Among the greatest attractions of the Pacific Northwest are its state parks campgrounds and tree lined highways From Idaho hot springs to the Oregon coast millions of people enjoy this priceless legacy every year but few stop to think about the source of this bounty The Park Builders profiles the men who provided the parks and the times that shaped them From its beginnings as part of the progressive crusades to its evolution into an expected function of state government the state parks movement in the Northwest is a window onto the political and social developments of the twentieth century The states of Washington Idaho and Oregon were generally in the mainstream of the parks movement but each of their histories is unique Taken together they help to define the nature and limitations of regionalism in the Northwest Especially in the early years the story of state parks was largely the story of individuals Drawing extensively from interviews and personal papers Thomas Cox creates memorable pictures of parks activists in each state Robert Moran creator of the battleship Nebraska spent a decade lobbying the state of Washington to accept his magnificent acreage on Orcas Island Sam Boardman went from a road crew to the head of Oregon's park system and took up his mission with a zeal that was literally religious To me a park is a pulpit he wrote The more you keep it as He made it the closer you are to Him In Idaho Senator Weldon Heyburn no proponent of state expenditures set out to create a national park and ended up with a premier state park named for him State parks serve more people at far less expense than do those in the National Park System Since their fates are determined largely at the state level they are an ideal venue for the study of grassroots activism and regional trends This book is the first to collect these themes into a coherent whole It will serve as a model for further regional studies of its kind Texas State Parks and the CCC Cynthia A. Brandimarte, Angela S.

Reed, 2013-01-10 Copyright 2013 by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department ECIP t p verso Building the National Parks Linda Flint McClelland, 1998 The Office of Strategic Services the forerunner of the Central Intelligence Agency was founded in 1942 by William Wild Bill Donovan under the direction of President Roosevelt who realized the need to improve intelligence during wartime A rigorous recruitment process enlisted agents from both the armed services and civilians to produce operational groups specializing in different foreign areas including Italy Norway Yugoslavia and China At its peak in 1944 the number of men and women working in the service totaled nearly 13 500 This intriguing story of the origins and development of the American espionage forces covers all of the different departments involved with a particular emphasis on the courageous teams operating in the field The volume is illustrated with many photographs including images from the film director John Ford who led the OSS Photographic Unit and parachuted into Burma in 1943 Northwest Lands, Northwest

Peoples Dale D. Goble, Paul W. Hirt, 2012-03-15 It can be said that all of human history is environmental history for all human action happens in an environment in a place This collection of essays explores the environmental history of the Pacific Northwest of North America addressing questions of how humans have adapted to the northwestern landscape and modified it over time and how the changing landscape in turn affected human society economy laws and values Northwest Lands and Peoples includes essays by historians anthropologists ecologists a botanist geographers biologists law professors and a journalist It addresses a wide variety of topics indicative of current scholarship in the rapidly growing field of environmental history Selected References Concerning the USDA Forest Service, 1995 Encyclopedia of Local History Carol Kammen, Norma Prendergast, 2000 How is local history thought about How should it be approached Through brief succinct notes and essay length entries the Encyclopedia of Local History presents ideas to consider sources to use historical fields and trends to explore It also provides commentary on a number of subjects including the everyday topics that most local historians encounter A handy reference tool that no public historian's desk should be without Presenting Nature Linda Flint McClelland, 1993 Gateways to the Southwest Jay M. Price, 2016-05-26 Arizona is home to some of the region's most stunning national parks and monuments and has had a long tradition of strong federal agencies along with effective local governments developing and managing parklands Before World War II protecting sites from development seemed counterproductive to a state government dominated by extractive industries By the late 1950s this state that prided itself on being a tourist destination found its lack of state parks to be an embarrassment Gateways to the Southwest is a history of the creation of state parks in Arizona examining the ways in which different types of parks were created in the face of changing social values Jay Price tells how Arizona's parks emerged from the recreation and tourism boom of the 1950s and 1960s were shaped by the environmental movement of the 1970s and 1980s and have been affected by the financial challenges that arose in the 1990s He also explains how changing political realities led to different methods of creating parks like Catalina Homolovi Ruins and Kartchner Caverns In addition places that did not become state parks have as much to tell us as those that did By the time the need for state parks was recognized in Arizona most choice sites had already been developed and Price reveals how acquiring land often proved difficult and expensive State parks were of necessity developed in cooperation with the federal government other state agencies community leaders and private organizations As a result parks born from land exchanges partnerships conservation easements and other cooperative ventures are more complicated entities than the state park designation might suggest Price's study shows that the key issue for parks has not been who owns a place but who manages it and today Arizona's state parks are a network of lake based recreation historic sites and environmental education areas reflecting issues just as complex as those of the region's better known national parks Gateways to the Southwest is a case study of resource stewardship in the Intermountain West that offers new insights into environmental history as it illustrates the challenges and opportunities facing public lands all over America Violent and Verdant KangJae Jerry

Lee,2025-03-21 Public parks in the U S are one of the most contentious and paradoxical places Many Americans believe public parks are encapsulations of nature promoters of health and embodiments of egalitarianism and democracy providing a wide range of health economic cultural and social benefits to users Yet the historical reality of American public parks has been riddled with greed hypocrisy prejudice and ulterior motives of the rich and powerful Numerous people have been displaced exploited and even killed because of public parks Drawing from multiple disciplines such as sociology history geography urban planning environmental science and leisure studies Violent and Verdant Systemic Injustice in Public Parks in the U S takes a two pronged approach to provide critical and fresh insights on public parks in the U S It looks back illuminating how parks have been sites of enduring violence and oppression But it also looks forward offering practical strategies and philosophical reimaginations of parks conception development and management
