Lectures, delivered in the Univ. of Aberdeen in the years 1912 and 1913 Andrew Seth Pringle-Pattison, 1971 Kantian Reason and Hegelian Spirit Gary Dorrien, 2015-03-16 Winner 2012 The American Publishers Award for Professional and Scholarly Excellence in Theology and Religious Studies PROSE Award In this thought provoking new work the world renowned theologian Gary Dorrien reveals how Kantian and post Kantian idealism were instrumental in the foundation and development of modern Christian theology Presents a radical rethinking of the roots of modern theology Reveals how Kantian and post Kantian idealism were instrumental in the foundation and development of modern Christian theology Shows how it took Kant's writings on ethics and religion to launch a fully modern departure in religious thought Dissects Kant's three critiques of reason and his moral conception of religion Analyzes alternative arguments offered by Schleiermacher Schelling Hegel and others moving historically and chronologically through key figures in European philosophy and theology Presents notoriously difficult and intellectual arguments in a lucid and accessible manner IDEA OF GOD IN THE LIGHT OF RE A. (Andrew) 1856 Seth Pringle-Pattison, 2016-08-26 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Idea of God A. Seth Pringle-Pattison, 2018-09-04 The author disclaims any attempt at a history of the idea of God Altho his method is critical and to some degree historical his aim is fundamentally constructive construction through criticism His approach to the theistic position is through the criterion of value in the light of which human life and existence as a whole are judged and ultimate reality seen Over against mechanism and naturalism he sets the newer biology and ethical idealism He defends the fundamental thesis that man is organic to nature and nature organic to man The positivism of Comte the monadology of Leibnitz the subjective idealism of Berkeley and the pantheism of Spinoza are subjected to critical inquiry The relation of the two most influential thinkers Hume and Kant to the theistic position is pointed out with great clearness The argument especially in the second series has especial reference to the idealistic positions of F H Bradley in Appearance and Reality and Bosanquet's well known Gifford Lectures on Individuality and Value and Value and Destiny Here he criticizes both the idea of value and the individual as Absolute and finite He enters the more definitely theological field in his presentation of the meaning of creation the ontological and cosmological arguments and teleology as a cosmic principle The volume closes with chapters on time and eternity with particular attention to Bergson's conception of time and a growing universe and on pluralism and a limited God as advocated by Rashdall McTaggart and William James Very many of the questions which have come up in present day speculative and theological thought receive here thoroughgoing consideration and are treated with candor lucidity and conviction We are indeed far from an intelligible and commonly accepted idea of God and perhaps we shall never be able to reduce God to a definition or to agree on many disputed points of view but a book like this will aid in disclosing inherent difficulties of the subject and in liberating thoughtful minds from notions which are the product of unreflecting habits or a jumble of inconsistent opinions Two or three quotations may be fitly introduced to show the tenor of this exceedingly suggestive volume If we are to reach any credible theory of the relations of God and man the traditional idea of God must be profoundly modified For a metaphysics which has emancipated itself from physical categories the ultimate conception of God is not that of a preexistent Creator but as it is for religion that of the eternal Redeemer of the world This perpetual process is the very life of God in which besides the effort and the pain he tastes we must believe the joy of victory won Homiletic Review Volume 75 The Idea of God in the Light of Recent Philosophy; the Gifford Lectures Delivered in the University of Aberdeen in the Years 1912 and 1913 A (Andrew) 1 Seth Pringle-Pattison, 1912-1913 Gifford Lectures, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The One, the Many, and the Trinity Marc A. Pugliese, 2011-04-15 Process metaphysics is frequently minimized or dismissed as a result of a failure to grasp its genuine significance Developments of the last several centuries in philosophy science and physics fostered a revolution in metaphysics This book surveys the reasons for process philosophy and theology its genesis and historical development It considers Alfred Whitehead's metaphysics and Charles Hartshorne's and others treatment of process theology The One the Many and the Trinity analyzes perhaps the most ambitious and robust system of process thought developed from a Roman Catholic perspective that of Joseph A Bracken S J Bracken brings together traditional Christian Trinitarian theism with process thought while integrating into a fundamentally Whiteheadian metaphysics a litany of diverse sources including Aristotelianism Thomism German Idealism Anglo American Idealism social theory existentialism postmodern thought and contemporary philosophy of science The book goes on to examine Bracken s process response to the problem of the one and many from a more traditional Catholic philosophical and theological perspective ABOUT THE AUTHOR Marc A Pugliese is assistant professor of theology at Brescia University PRAISE FOR THE BOOK Pugliese offers an extremely well informed careful and accurate reading of the philosophy of Joseph Bracken certainly the greatest Catholic advocate of process theology in the second half of the twentieth century With this book Pugliese has provided the most extensive reconstruction and critique of Bracken s thought yet available Philip Clayton Ingraham Professor of Theology Claremont School of Theology

The Humanity of Christ and the Healing of the Dysfunction of the Human Spirit Donald L. Alexander, 2015-08-13 The book represents a personal quest in what Anselm referred to as faith seeking understanding The primary focus centers on proposing an interpretation of the nature and function of the human spirit and its relationship to the divine spirit and the living of a godly Christian life Thus the book has a dual concern namely an academic one and a spiritual one The undergirding premise is that apart of the human spirit the divine spirit is personally unknowable This premise contains the following supporting concepts First the core of human personhood resides in the human spirit and constitutes the unique capacity for personal self relatedness Second as the result of humanity s idolatrous displacement of God a radical reversal occurred with the human spirit When restored to its original relationship with the divine spirit the human spirit as James Loder writes is called out of its futility and perversity into the light and truth of the divine spirit
