American Literature 1950 to the Present offers a comprehensive analysis of the wide range of literary works produced in the United States over the last six decades and a fascinating survey of the dramatic changes during America's transition from the innocence of the fifties to the harsh realities of the first decade of the new millennium. Viewing works produced during this fertile literary period from a wide-ranging perspective, Wagner Martin considers literature in relation to such issues as the politics of civil rights, feminism, sexual preferences, and race and gender-based marketing. She also places a special emphasis on works produced during the twenty-first century and writings influenced by recent historic events such as the 9/11 terrorist attacks, Hurricane Katrina, and the global financial crisis. With its careful balance of scholarly precision and accessibility, A History of American Literature 1950 to the Present provides readers of all levels with rich and revealing insights into the diversity of literary forms and influences that characterize postmodern America. A monumental distillation of an enormous range of material, Wagner Martin's rich book should be required reading for anyone grappling with making sense of the prolific broad spectrum and diverse writing in the US since 1950. Thadious M. Davis, University of Pennsylvania.
