The Poetics of Fragmentation in Contemporary British and American Fiction Vanessa Guignery, Wojciech Drąg, 2019-12-02. The last decades have seen a revival of fragmentation in British and American works of fiction that deny linearity, coherence and continuity in favour of disruption, gaps and fissures. Authors such as Ali Smith, David Mitchell and David Shields have sought new ways of representing our global, media-saturated contemporary experience which differ from modernist and postmodernist experimentations from which the writers nevertheless draw inspiration. This volume aims to investigate some of the most important contributions to fragmentary literature from British and American writers since the 1990s, with a particular emphasis on texts released in the twenty-first century. The chapters within examine whether contemporary forms of literary fragmentation constitute a return to the modernist episteme or the fragmented literature of exhaustion of the 1960s, mark a continuity with postmodernist aesthetics or signal a deviation from past models and an attempt to reflect today's accelerated culture of social media and over-communication. Contributors theorise and classify literary fragments, examine the relationship between fragmentation and the Zeitgeist influenced by globalisation, media saturation and social networks, analyse the mechanics of multimodal and multimedial fictions and consider the capacity of literary fragmentation to represent personal or collective trauma and to address ethical concerns. They also investigate the ways in which the architecture of the printed book is destabilised and how aesthetic processes involving fragmentation, bricolage and/or collage raise ontological, ethical and epistemological questions about the globalised contemporary world we live in and its relation to the self and the other. Besides the aforementioned authors, the volume makes reference to the works of J.G. Ballard, Julian Barnes, Mark Z. Danielewski, David Markson, Jonathan Safran Foer, David Foster Wallace, Jeanette Winterson and several

Karl, 2022-05-05 Over the last few decades and from across a spectrum of centrist political thought a variety of academic disciplines and numerous public intellectuals the claim has been that we need to empathize more with marginalized people as a way to alleviate social inequalities If we all had more skill with empathy so the claim goes we would all be better citizens But what does it mean to empathize with others How do we develop this skill And what does it offer that older models of solidarity don't Why empathy and why now Rereading Empathy takes up these questions examining the uses to which calls for empathy are put in the face of ever expanding economic and social precarity The contributors draw on a variety of historical and contemporary literary and cultural archives to illustrate the work that empathy is supposed to enable and to query alternative models of building collective futures     Crazy Age Jane Miller, 2010-09-02 Ever since I have inhabited old age I have looked and listened mostly in vain for news of what it is like for others who inhabit it too Naturally I'm interested in its well known depredations the physical and mental ones that people in their forties and fifties so publicly dread And who would not delight in the theatrical props of old age the pills and sticks the shrieking hearing aids and the tricks for countering the loss of names and threads and glasses But that's not all I have a fond hope that in old age there may be new kinds of time and of pleasure perhaps even new kinds of vitality and that though we forget and muddle and fail to hear things there may be moments when we truly understand what's going on for the first time But then I've always been a late developer Deeply thoughtful wry and resilient this fascinating and absorbing book about growing older is a life enhancing look at what all of us if we are lucky can aspire to     Retroland Peter Kemp, 2023-01-01 The essential companion for lovers of the contemporary novel Over the past fifty years fiction in English has never looked more various Books bulkier than Victorian three deckers appear alongside works of minimalist brevity and experiments with form have produced everything from verse novels to Twitter thread narratives This is truly a golden age But what unites this kaleidoscopic array of genres and styles Celebrated writer and critic Peter Kemp shows how modern writers are obsessed with the past In a series of engaging and illuminating chapters Retroland traces this novelistic preoccupation with history from the imperial and the political to the personal and the literary Featuring famous names from across the United Kingdom United States and the wider Anglophone world ranging from Salman Rushdie to Sarah Waters Toni Morrison to Hilary Mantel this is a work of remarkable synthesis and clarity a wonderfully readable and enjoyably opinionated guide to our current literary landscape     Out of Time Lynne Segal, 2013-11-05 In Out of Time leading thinker Lynne Segal examines her life and surveys the work and lives of other writers and artists to explore the pleasures and perils of growing old Following in the footsteps of Simone de Beauvoir who in her mid fifties mourned never again and yet was energetically writing in her sixties and seventies Segal mixes memoir literature and polemic to examine the inevitable consequences of staying alive Who is that stranger who stares back from the mirror What happens to ambition and sexuality As millions of baby boomers approach their sixth or seventh decade these questions are becoming increasingly urgent Must the old always be in conflict with the young How can we deal with the inevitability of loss and find victory in survival Brilliant moving and challenging Out of Time is an urgent and necessary corrective to the assumptions and taboos that constrain the lives of the aged Julian Barnes Frederick M.
