Letters of Samuel Rutherford Samuel Rutherford,2024-06-19 Like John Bunyan in Bedford gaol Samuel Rutherford did his best work while suffering imprisonment for the gospel His opponents had meant to silence him but instead they perpetuated his ministry through the centuries for it was out of this period that most of his famous Letters came Addressed to high and low they were so prized by the recipients that the first collection by Robert McWard appeared in 1664 just three years after Rutherford's death the successive editions contained more letters until they grew to the 365 in Andrew Bonar's classic edition From this the most remarkable series of devotional letters that the literature of the Reformed churches can show the great leaders in the Church as well as the humblest Christians have drawn strength It is said of Robert Murray M Cheyne that the Letters of Samuel Rutherford were often in his hand This abridged edition contains sixty nine of these letters

Bonar. Repr Samuel Letters of Samuel Rutherford Samuel Rutherford, Andrew Alexander Bonar, 1891 Rutherford Samuel Rutherford, 2013-04-28 Wherever the palm tree is there is water says the Eastern proverb and so wherever the godly flourish there we are sure must the Word of God be found In the history of the Reformation we read of Brother Martin a poor monk at Basle whose hope of salvation rested solely on the Lord Jesus long before Luther sounded the silver trumpet that summoned sin convinced souls to the One Sacrifice Having written out his confession of faith his statement of reliance on the righteousness of Christ alone the monk placed the parchment in a wooden box and shut up the wooden box in a hole of the wall of his cell It was not till last century that this box with its interesting contents was discovered it was brought to light only when the old wall of the monastery was taken down The palm tree speaks of the existence of water at its root the pure Word of God taught this man his simple faith And herein we learn how it was that Basle so early became a peculiar centre of light in that region the prayer and the faith of that hidden one and others like minded and the Word on which they fed may explain it all There is a fact not unlike the above in the history of the district where Samuel Rutherford laboured so lovingly The people of that shire tell that there was found some generations ago in the wall of the old castle of Earlston in the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright a copy of Wickliffe s Bible It was deposited in that receptacle in order to be hid from the view of enemies but from time to time it was the lamp of light to a few souls who perhaps in the silence of night found opportunity to draw it out of its ark and peruse its pages It seems that the Lollards of Kyle the adjoining district had brought it to Earlston We know that there were friends and members of the family of Earlston who embraced the Gospel even in those days In the sixteenth century some of the ancestors of Viscount Kenmure are found holding the doctrines of Wickliffe which had been handed down to them May we not believe that the Gordons of Earlston in after days were not a little indebted to the faith and prayers of these ancient witnesses who hid the sacred treasure in the castle wall As in the case of the monk of Basle their faith and patience were acknowledged in after days by the blessing sent down on that quarter when the Lord in remembrance of His hidden ones both raised up the Gordons of Earlston with many others of a like spirit and also sent thither His servant Samuel Rutherford to sound forth the Word of Life and make the lamp of truth blaze like a torch over all that region Letters of the Rev.
