sidestepped the era's more materialist science particularly Darwinism. They favored a conservative Christianized geology that promoted scientific study as a way to understand God. Their art was both shaped by and sought to preserve this threatened version of the science. And through their art they advanced consequential social developments including westward expansion, scenic tourism, the emergence of a therapeutic culture, and the creation of a coherent and cohesive national identity. This major study of the Hudson River School offers an unprecedented account of the role of geology in nineteenth-century landscape painting. It yields fresh insights into some of the most influential works of American art and enriches our understanding of the relationship between art and nature and between science and religion in the nineteenth century. It will draw a broad audience of art historians, Americanists, historians of science, and readers interested in the American natural landscape.

Exhibition Catalogs, 1886-1909: 1895-1898 Grolier Club, 1895 The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 Leanne M. Zalewski, 2022-12-15. This transatlantic study analyses a missing chapter in the history of art collecting: the first art market bubble in the United States. In the decades following the Civil War, French art monopolized art collections across the United States. During this Gilded Age picture rush, the commercial art system—art dealers, galleries, auction houses, exhibitions, museums, art journals, press coverage, art histories, and collection catalogues—established a strong foothold it has not relinquished to this day. In addition, a pervasive concern for improving aesthetics and providing the best contemporary art to educate the masses led to the formation not only of private art collections but also of institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and to the publication of art histories richly informed by collectors and art dealers, diaries, letters, stock books, journals, and hitherto neglected art histories. The New York Market for French Art in the Gilded Age, 1867-1893 offers a fresh perspective on this trailblazing era. Art Books Wolfgang M. Freitag, 1997.

Expanded to twice as many entries as the 1985 edition and updated with new publications, new editions of previous entries, titles missed the first time around, more of the artists' own writings and monographs that deal with significant aspects or portions of an artist's work, though not all of it. The listing is alphabetical by artist and the index by author. The works cited include analytical and critical biographical and enumerative; their formats range from books and catalogues raisonnés to exhibition and auction sale catalogues. A selection of biographical dictionaries containing information on artists is arranged by country. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Portland, OR. The Grove Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter, 2011. Arranged in alphabetical order, these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries.

For America Jeremiah William McCarthy, Diana Thompson, 2019-01-01. Featuring paintings by American icons like Winslow Homer and Thomas Eakins, this book illustrates the ways American artists have viewed themselves, their peers, and their painted worlds over 200 years. The Forum, 1894. A Measure of Perfection Charles Colbert, 1997. Despite its widespread popularity in antebellum America, phrenology has rarely been taken seriously as a cultural phenomenon Charles Colbert seeks to redress this neglect by demonstrating the important contributions the theory made to artistic developmen Landscape with Figures Malcolm Goldstein,2000-11-30 How did the United States become not only the leading contemporary art scene in the world but also the leading market for art The answer has to do not only with the talents of American artists or even the size of the American economy but also and especially the skills and entrepreneurship of American art dealers Their story has not been told until now Landscape with Figures is the first history of art dealing in the United States following the profession from eighteenth century portrait and picture salesmen in the colonies to the high profile jet set gallery owners of today Providing anecdotal and carefully researched biographies of the prominent dealers from more than two centuries of trade author Malcolm Goldstein shows how magnanimous personalities and social networking helped to shape the way Americans have bought and valued art These dealers range from Michael Paff whose enthusiasm often overshadowed his expertise but nonetheless helped him sell faux Old Master paintings to major collectors in the early nineteenth century to the imperious Joseph Duveen dealer to magnates like Henry Clay Frick to visionary Leo Castelli who helped to usher in a revolution in modern art during the 1960s by showing such avant garde artists as Jasper Johns Robert Rauschenberg and Andy Warhol Goldstein also shows that the American art trade while male dominated has been galvanized by female dealers including the inimitable Edith Gregor Halpert Peggy Guggenheim and Mary Boone Their fascinating stories unfold in the context of world art history the rise of major art institutions like the Museum of Modern Art and the Whitney Museum and the growing zeal of art collectors who would eventually pay millions for individual works of art Unprecedented and critical to understanding today s art world Landscape with Figures is a must for artists art history students and art lovers Paintings and Sculpture in the Collection of the National Academy of Design: 1826-1925 David Bernard Dearing, National Academy of Design (U.S.),2004 This is the first installment of a fully illustrated catalogue of the Academy s priceless collection of paintings and sculptures The Artist in American Society Neil Harris,1966 What was the place of the artist in a new society How would he thrive where monarchy aristocracy and an established church those traditional patrons of painting sculpture and architecture were repudiated so vigorously Neil Harris examines the relationships between American cultural values and American society during the formative years of American art and explores how conceptions of the artist s social role changed during those years The Letters of William Cullen Bryant William Cullen Bryant,Thomas G. Voss,2019-11-05 On April 26 1865 as Abraham Lincoln s funeral cortege paused in Union Square New York before being taken by rail to Springfield Illinois William Cullen Bryant listened as his own verse elegy for the slain president was read to a great concourse of mourners by the Reverend Samuel Osgood Only five years earlier and a few blocks downtown at Cooper Union Bryant had introduced the prairie candidate to his first eastern audience There his masterful appeal to the conscience of the nation prepared the way for his election to the presidency on the verge of the Civil War Now Bryant stood below Henry Kirke Brown s equestrian statue of George Washington impressing Osgood as if he were the 19th Century itself thinking over the nation and the age in that presence Bryant's staunch support of the Union cause throughout the war and of Lincoln's war efforts no less than his known influence with the president led several prominent public figures to urge that he write Lincoln's biography Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote him No man combines the qualities for his biographer so completely as yourself and the finished task would be a noble crown to a noble literary life But Bryant declined declaring his inability to record impartially critical events in which he had taken so central a part Furthermore while preoccupied with the editorial direction of the New York Evening Post he was just then repossessing and enlarging his family's homestead at Cummington Massachusetts where he hoped his ailing wife might during long summers in mountain air regain her health But in July 1866 Frances died of recurrent rheumatic fever and Bryant confessed to Richard Dana he felt as one cast out of Paradise After Frances death Bryant traveled with his daughter Julia for nearly a year through Great Britain and the Continent where he met British statesman and novelist Edward Bulwer Lytton and French literary critic Hyppolyte Taine renewed his friendship with Spanish poet Carolina Coronado Italian liberator Giuseppe Garibaldi and British and American artists and visited the family of the young French journalist Georges Clemenceau as well as the graves of earlier acquaintances Francis Lord Jeffrey and Elizabeth Barrett Browning In his spare moments Bryant sought solace by beginning the translation of Homer and Longfellow had found relief after his wife's tragic death by rendering into English Dante's Divine Comedy Home again in New York Bryant bought and settled in a house at 24 West 16th Street which would be his city home for the rest of his life Here he completed major publications including the Iliad and Odyssey of Homer and an exhaustive Library of Poetry and Song and added to published tributes to earlier friends such as Thomas Cole Fenimore Cooper and Washington Irving memorial discourses on Fitz Greene Halleck and Gulian Verplanck In addition to his continued direction of the New York Homeopathic Medical college and the American Free Trade League he was elected to the presidency of the Williams College Alumni Association the International Copyright Association and the Century Association the club of artists and writers of which twenty years earlier he had been a principal founder and which he would direct for the last decade of his life American Paradise Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1987 Traces the history of the Hudson River School of American painters shows works by Church Cole and Inness and describes the background of each painting
