Economic Growth in the 1990s World Bank,2005 This report was prepared by a team led by Roberto Zagha under the general direction of Gobind Nankani World Forest Products Demand and Supply 1990 and 2000 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1982-01-01 Presents estimates of production and consumption for softwoods and hardwoods in five product groups sawnwood and sleepers solidwood panels reconstituted panels other industrial products and pulps Global and Regional Economic Inequality Stanisław Maciej Kot,Katarzyna Ostasiewicz,2019-11-11 Global economic inequality has attracted the attention of researchers and policy makers for several years Globalization has raised questions about its impact on global inequality and poverty However the recent answers to such questions are ambiguous According to some researchers global inequality increases Other economists hold that inequality decreases One can also find the opinion that global inequality dose not exhibit any visible increasing or decreasing trend One may ask the question what the reason of such variety of opinions about global inequality is The lack of countries statistical income data comparable across countries and years seems to be the main reason of controversial conjectures concerning global inequality and its evolution over time Global samples of individual income data on a worldwide scale would be ideal for this purpose However such micro data are currently available only for a limited number of countries and years In the databases which purport to collect income data on a worldwide scale only some summary statistics quantile income shares means Gini indices are presented However countries Gini indices cannot be used for the evaluation of global inequality since this measure of inequality is not decomposable Therefore the development of efficient methods of extracting micro data from available secondary statistics now seems to be the only way of overcoming the scarcity of national household surveys samples The recent ungrouping methods have several shortcomings among them unknown statistical reliability and the limited coverage of countries are the most serious In this monograph a new method of retrieving the global sample of incomes is proposed This method based on the Sequential Probability Ratio Test generates random samples which reconstruct unavailable national samples with predetermined statistical reliability and numerical precision The application of this method brings empirical evidences which contradict the widespread opinion about rising global inequality in two recent decades Global Employment Trends Claire Harasty,Dorothea Schmidt,International Labour Office,2003 Incorporating the most recent data available for 2002 this report analyses current labour market trends and examines the impact of the global economic downturn and post 11 September developments upon different world regions Covering Latin America and the Caribbean East Asia South East Asia the Middle East and North Africa and sub Saharan Africa the transition economies and industrial countries it focuses on the distinct labour market characteristics and challenges faced by each region and economic group It also traces factors contributing to the global employment decline such as the increase in informal sector employment the decrease in employment in information and communication technology as well as extensive jobs losses in the travel and tourism industries and the export and labour intensive manufacturing sectors Atlas of Global Development, 2009 Evolving Food Gaps in the Middle East/North Africa Nabil Khaldi, 1984 Research report on food policy and projections regarding food security and food requirements in the Middle East and North Africa to the year 2000 examines trends in food production and trade since 1966 foresees increase in regional disparity between food producing countries and labour exporting and petroleum exporting countries leading to some staple food shortages Graphs statistical tables

Music and the Play of Power in the Middle East, North Africa and Central Asia Dr Laudan Nooshin, 2013-01-28 What is it about the history geographical position and cultures of the Middle East North Africa and Central Asia that has made music such a potent and powerful agent This volume presents the first direct look at the complex relationship between music and power across a range of musical genres and countries Discourses of power in the region centre on some of the most contested social issues most notably in relation to nationhood gender and religion Individual chapters examine the ways in which music serves as a forum for playing out issues of power ideology resistance and subversion How does music become a space for promoting or conversely resisting or subverting particular ideologies or positions of authority How does it accrue symbolic power in ways that are very particular perhaps unique And how does music become a site of social control or alternatively a vehicle for agency and empowerment at times overt and at others highly subtle What is it about music that facilitates and sometimes disrupts the exercise and flows of power Who controls such flows how and for what purposes In asking such questions in the context of countries such as Afghanistan Egypt Iran Tunisia and Tajikistan the book draws on a wide range of relevant theoretical and critical ideas and many disciplines including ethnomusicology anthropology sociology politics Middle Eastern studies globalization studies gender studies and cultural and media studies The countries and areas explored share a great deal in historical and cultural terms including a legacy of colonial and neo colonial encounters and predominantly Judeo Muslim religious traditions It is hoped that the volume will contribute ultimately to a richer understanding of the role that music plays in these societies Equality for Women Mayra Buvinic, Andrew R.
