The Palestinians:

The Palestinians David McDowall, 1998-07-01 In 1918 Christian and Muslim Arabs formed over 90 per cent of the population of Palestine Fifty years later those left were a powerless minority in their own land while most were refugees outside Palestine Since 1967 Israel has been an occupying force in Gaza and the West Bank expropriating for example over 60 per cent of the West Bank's land area dispossessing many Palestinians While Israel's actions have been condemned in United Nations Security Council and General Assembly resolutions Israel continues its actions largely unchecked Within Israel Palestinians are systematically discriminated against in almost all areas of society While condemning the Israeli government's policies the Report also discusses the abuses of the newly established Palestinian Authority The Palestinians provides information on the outlook for Palestinian society and examines why the peace process once seen to offer a constructive way forward is now in tatters The Report offers a concise and accessible analysis of the background to this situation and cogently argues that the international community must act as a matter of urgency to enable a just settlement to be found one that promotes and protects Palestinians rights and enables Israel and the Palestinian Authority to work towards peaceful coexistence based on respect for international law Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues The Palestinians

, 1987-10-01 The Palestinian people are today treated as strangers in their own country and as refugees in Arab States Despite their rule by outsiders Ottoman Turks and from 1917 the British Palestinian Arabs had always remained the majority population within Palestine From the late 19th century increasing numbers of Zionist settlers came driven by savage pogroms in Eastern Europe and later by the Nazi Holocaust Despite fervent and increasingly desperate protests by Arabs Palestine was partitioned by the UN in 1947 and much of the area the Arabs retained was subsequently lost to the new Israeli State in the wars of 1948-9 and 1967 Today over 2 million Palestinians live under Israeli administration both within Israel itself and in the Occupied Territories of the West Bank and Gaza Strip while another 2.8 million live beyond the borders of Palestine unable to return Not only have many Palestinians been deprived of their homes and properties but they have been denied democratic rights and the hope of governing their own country Lacking the right to determine their own future they have sometimes struck back in frustration and despair Tile Palestinians the new Minority Rights Group report 24 not only outlines the history of the Palestinian people but their present situation inside and outside Israel It gives a detailed account of Palestinian disadvantage under Israeli administration in the fields of law local government civic amenities housing education health employment industry agriculture land ownership and settlement and water allocation and increasing suppression of dissent Newly written by David McDowall with a Foreword by Dr Claire Palley this report also contains maps statistics and an appendix outlining the main political groups within the Palestinian movement today A detailed and accurate account of the Palestinian people at a time when their sense of powerlessness has increased and when their position is especially precarious this report is essential reading for all those who feel concern for the future of the Palestinians Israel the Middle East and world peace Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues
