The Past Is Another Country:

Ussa: the Past Is Another Country Peter Wludyka, 2010-07-20 USSA The Past is Another Country is about what might have been as seen through the eyes of 17 year old Alex Nurov son of a prominent Russian father and a beautiful American mother Growing up on a barrier island near Charleston S C Alex has to deal with his dual ancestry in a world in which Russian snobbery views Americans as lazy and parasitic Alexs unquestioning view of the world gradually unravels when he discovers something he calls The Book He soon realizes this is not one of the mysteries he loves to read it is the lunatic ravings of Father Piotr Babulieski who presents an entirely different and dangerous history of the Great Uprising that produced socialist America And who is this Jesus Christ A general USSA The Past is Another Country takes place in vividly described locales in coastal South Carolina and the mountains of North Carolina Near Charleston the Nurov family lives on a barrier island on which Alex and his beautiful enigmatic mother swim and share long walks On the islands northern end is a huge dune the tops of giant oaks rise from it like the green plume from an extinct volcano which is 17 year old Alexs secret place where he reads his mysteries and daydreams far from the prying eyes of student block commander Gregorov Alex attends school in the old city of Charleston which is used by Alexs history teacher Brownsky as the example of pre Great Uprising America in which the decadent rich exploited the workers and slaves whose toil was converted into luxurious homes for a handful of capitalists Near the Nurovs mountain house Alexs discovers what he calls The Book Alexs knows he should turn The Book over to his father Or at least destroy it Instead this discovery turns Alex into one of the detectives he admires drawing him into a dangerous quest to prove that The Book is full of lies or that everything he has been taught is a lie There are three women in Alexs life Alexs American mother envisions a great future for her son and expects him to pursue the destiny she has earned for him through marriage She is willing to use her beauty and almost mystical charm to make sure her hopes come to fruition Alex is infatuated with a fellow student the athletic and gorgeous Martina Antipova a true Russian and the epitome of socialist womanhood Dedicated unquestioning and intelligent she is certainly the right choice While Alexs curiosity about The Book grows he encounters Celeste a wispy young American woman Easy and indifferent to the strict morality that governs Martina Antipova she introduces Alex to the seamy underbelly of old Charleston and more

The Past is a Foreign Country David Lowenthal, 1985-11-14 Lowenthal looks at the benefits and burdens of the past how we study the past and how we change it

The Past is a Foreign Country - Revisited David Lowenthal, 2015-10 A completely updated new edition of David Lowenthal s classic account of how we reshape the past to serve present needs

The Past Is a Foreign Country - Revisited David Lowenthal, 2015-10-01 The past remains essential and inescapable A quarter century after the publication of his classic account of man s attitudes to his past David Lowenthal revisits how we celebrate expunge contest and domesticate the past to serve present needs He shows how nostalgia and heritage now pervade every facet of public and popular culture History embraces nature and the cosmos

as well as humanity The past is seen and touched and tasted and smelt as well as heard and read about Empathy re enactment memory and commemoration overwhelm traditional history A unified past once certified by experts and reliant on written texts has become a fragmented contested history forged by us all New insights into history and memory bias and objectivity artefacts and monuments identity and authenticity and remorse and contrition make this book once again the essential guide to the past that we inherit reshape and bequeath to the future Memory and Power in Post-War Europe

Jan-Werner Müller,2002-08-29 How has memory collective and individual influenced European politics after the Second World War and after 1989 in particular How has the past been used in domestic struggles for power and how have historical lessons been applied in foreign policy While there is now a burgeoning field of social and cultural memory studies mostly focused on commemorations and monuments this volume is the first to examine the connection between memory and politics directly It investigates how memory is officially recast personally reworked and often violently re instilled after wars and above all the ways memory shapes present power constellations The chapters combine theoretical innovation in their approach to the study of memory with deeply historical empirically based case studies of major European countries The volume concludes with reflections on the ethics of memory and the politics of truth justice and forgetting after 1945 and 1989

Why Collingwood Matters Giuseppina D'Oro,2023-10-05 R G Collingwood 1889 1943 was an English philosopher historian and practicing archaeologist His work particularly in the philosophy of action and history has been profoundly influential in the 20th and 21st century Although the importance of his work is indisputable this is the first book to consider how and why it actually matters Giussepina D oro considers the importance of Collingwood as a thinker who thinks kaleidoscopically and unlike lots of contemporary philosophers refuses to focus on narrow technical interests but instead observes the whole world of thought Why Collingwood Matters revives Collingwood s conception of the role and character of philosophical analysis and shows how it informs his understanding of the mind what it means to act and what it means to understand the past historically It also argues for the relevance of his metaphilosophical approach to the challenge posed by the Anthropocene and the global environmental crisis Both an elucidation of Collingwood s thought and a lively exploration of it s contemporary relevance Why Collingwood Matters provides a much needed examination of a 20th century polymath

The Routledge Handbook of Arabic Translation Sameh Hanna,Hanem El-Farahaty,Abdel-Wahab Khalifa,2019-12-09 Translation related activities from and into Arabic have significantly increased in the last few years in both scope and scale The launch of a number of national translation projects policies and awards in a number of Arab countries together with the increasing translation from Arabic in a wide range of subject areas outside the Arab World especially in the aftermath of the Arab Spring have complicated and diversified the dynamics of the translation industry involving Arabic The Routledge Handbook of Arabic Translation seeks to explicate Arabic translation practice pedagogy and scholarship with the aim of producing a state of the art reference book that maps out these areas and meets the pedagogical and research needs of advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as active researchers

Time Diane Owen Hughes, Thomas R. Trautmann, 1995 Considers an important dimension in understanding culture

The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics Kirsten Malmkjaer, 2017-12-14 The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics explores the interrelationships between translation studies and linguistics in six sections of state of the art chapters written by leading specialists from around the world The first part begins by addressing the relationships between translation studies and linguistics as major topics of study in themselves before focusing in individual chapters on the relationships between translation on the one hand and semantics semiotics and the sound system of language on the other Part II explores the nature of meaning and the ways in which meaning can be shared in text pairs that are related to each other as first written texts and their translations while Part III focuses on the relationships between translation and interpreting and the written and spoken word Part IV considers the users of language and situations involving more than one language and Part V addresses technological tools that can assist language users Finally Part VI presents chapters on the links between areas of applied linguistics and translation and interpreting With an introduction by the editor and an extensive bibliography this handbook is an indispensable resource for advanced students of translation studies interpreting studies and applied linguistics

The Sense of the Past Bernard Williams, 2009-02-09 Before his death in 2003 Bernard Williams planned to publish a collection of historical essays focusing primarily on the ancient world This posthumous volume brings together a much wider selection written over some forty years His legacy lives on in this masterful work the first collection ever published of Williams's essays on the history of philosophy The subjects range from the sixth century B C to the twentieth A D from Homer to Wittgenstein by way of Socrates Plato Aristotle Descartes Hume Sidgwick Collingwood and Nietzsche Often one would be hard put to say which part is history which philosophy Both are involved throughout because this is the history of philosophy written philosophically Historical exposition goes hand in hand with philosophical scrutiny Insights into the past counteract blind acceptance of present assumptions In his touching and illuminating introduction Myles Burnyeat writes of these essays They show a depth of commitment to the history of philosophy seldom to be found nowadays in a thinker so prominent on the contemporary philosophical scene The result celebrates the interest and importance to philosophy today of its near and distant past The Sense of the Past is one of three collections of essays by Bernard Williams published by Princeton University Press since his death In the Beginning Was the Deed Realism and Moralism in Political Argument selected edited and with an introduction by Geoffrey Hawthorn and Philosophy as a Humanistic Discipline selected edited and with an introduction by A W Moore make up the trio

The Making of Zimbabwe M. Tamarkin, 2012-11-12 First published in 1990 This volume is essentially a study in decolonization The approach of the author is of a conflict resolution process taken from the perspective of 1974 as the chosen point Following the decolonization of the Portuguese colonial empire the uniqueness of the decolonization of Rhodesia became more apparent and the conflict began to realize its full potential The author has taken three analytical concepts the goals continuum the strategic options continuum and the interaction within and between the three levels of the conflict system

Memory Is Another Country Nathalie Huynh Chau Nguyen,2009-08-25 2010

CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title The act of remembering is a means of bringing the past alive and an imaginative way of dealing with loss It has been the subject of much recent scholarship and is of particular relevance at a time of widespread transnational migration This book is a valuable and original contribution to the field of diaspora studies Based on in depth oral narratives of forty Vietnamese women it deals with themes both universal and specific to this diaspora divergent memories in families the significance of homeland the return to Vietnam cross cultural relationships intergenerational tensions and the issues of silence and unspoken trauma among Vietnamese refugees It is the first study to apply memory and trauma theories to a substantial base of oral narratives by Vietnamese women in the West Nguyen argues that understanding of these narratives provides not only an insight into the way Vietnamese women have dealt with loss but also illuminates the experience of the wider Vietnamese diaspora and other refugees

Narrating Our Pasts Elizabeth Tonkin,1995-04-13 Using

Writing

the Barbarian Past: Studies in Early Medieval Historical Narrative Shami Ghosh,2015-10-27 Writing the Barbarian Past examines the presentation of the non Roman pre Christian past in Latin and vernacular historical narratives composed between c 550 and c 1000 the Gothic histories of Jordanes and Isidore of Seville the Fredegar chronicle the Liber Historiae Francorum Paul the Deacon s Historia Langobardorum Waltharius and Beowulf it also examines the evidence for an oral vernacular tradition of historical narrative in this period In this book Shami Ghosh analyses the relative significance granted to the Roman and non Roman inheritances in narratives of the distant past and what the use of this past reveals about the historical consciousness of early medieval elites and demonstrates that for them cultural identity was conceived of in less binary terms than in most modern scholarship

The Traveling and Writing Self Marguerite Helmers, Tilar Mazzeo, 2009-03-26 The collected essays that comprise The Traveling and Writing Self examine the critical relationship between the journey the author of the travel narrative and published and private texts Contributors draw attention to the performed nature of the travel writer's self emphasizing that the carefully crafted persona of the traveler protagonist is a fiction The traveler's identity is frequently in flux negotiating between social convention literary convention personal motivations and nationalist agendas The Traveling and Writing Self is a notable addition to studies of travel writing because the contributors explore several genres in addition to the traditional accounts of the journey these genres include histories of exploration diaries memoir poetry film and short story Not limited to a specific historical era or geographical location individual chapters explore the work of Rebecca Solnit Isak Dinesen Melinda Atwood William Byrd E J Pratt Beatrice Grimshaw and Louisa May Alcott From each we learn that perhaps the most interesting subject of any travel account is the author

Janus at the Millennium Thomas F. Shannon, Johan P. Snapper, 2004-05-26 This volume contains a selection of articles originally presented at the Tenth Interdisciplinary Conference on Netherlandic Studies These revised contributions relating to the common theme of Janus and the perspective of time examine Dutch language and culture from the U S Belgium and the Netherlands

Tomorrow Is Another Country Allister Sparks, 1996-07 He concludes with a vivid assessment of the problems facing South Africa in the new era

The Southern Past William Fitzhugh Brundage, 2009-07 Since the Civil War whites and blacks have struggled over the meanings and uses of the Southern past Indeed today's controversies over flying the Confederate flag renaming schools and streets and commemorating the Civil War and the civil rights movement are only the latest examples of this ongoing divisive contest over issues of regional identity and heritage The Southern Past argues that these battles are ultimately about who has the power to determine what we remember of the past and whether that remembrance will honor all Southerners or only select groups For more than a century after the Civil War elite white Southerners systematically refined a version of the past that sanctioned their racial privilege and power In the process they filled public spaces with museums and monuments that made their version of the past sacrosanct Yet even as segregation and racial discrimination worsened blacks contested the white version of Southern history and demanded inclusion Streets became sites for elaborate commemorations of emancipation and schools became centers for the study of black history This counter memory surged forth and became a potent inspiration for the civil rights movement and the black struggle to share a common Southern past rather than a divided one W Fitzhugh Brundage's searing exploration of how those who have the political power to represent the past simultaneously shape the present and determine the future is a valuable lesson as we confront our national past to meet the challenge of current realities
