The Past Today Historic Places In New Zealand:

Handbook of Blended Shore Education Gabriele Strohschen, 2008-11-07 As we confront the future of our professional endeavors we tend to rely with confidence on longstanding and widely honored assumptions about the world and ourselves. We believe we have accumulated sturdy structures of knowledge, effective practices and sound values. Yet we rely on these resources with scant consciousness that in the long run our assumptions, practices and values may not only be inimical to the viability of our profession but as well oppressive in their effects on others. There is at least one assumption common across many professions and cultures that is of particular significance. It is the assumption that the world is made up of discrete entities or units. There are not only the species of plants and animals for example but there is me as opposed to you vs them, my business enterprise in competition with yours, our nation or religion and yours. And with this assumption of separable units we assemble ways of sustaining and protecting those units of which we feel a part. We erect buildings, laws, schools, governments and armies to ensure that what is inside the boundary will flourish and what is outside cannot threaten us. In effect the assumption of a world of independent entities establishes the way in which we understand and conduct ourselves within relationships.

Richard Seddon: King of God's Own Tom Brooking, 2014-08-27 2014 Must Read Otago Daily Times The life, the health, the intelligence and the morals of the nation count for more than riches and I would rather have this country free from want and squalor and unemployed than the home of multi millionaires. Richard Seddon 1905. Casting a long shadow over New Zealand history, Richard John Seddon, Premier from 1893 to his untimely death in 1906, held a clear vision for the country he led. Pushing New Zealand in more egalitarian directions than ever before, he was both the builder and the maintenance man, if not the architect of our country. Challenging popular opinion of New Zealand's longest serving Prime Minister as a ruthless pragmatist, cunning misogynist and Imperialistic jingoist, this landmark biography of Seddon presents an altogether more sympathetic, erudite appraisal. Reconciling two generations of New Zealand scholarship, Richard Seddon: King of God's Own demonstrates that while holding fast to common ideals, Seddon was successful by mastering the art of the possible. He knew instinctively what his electorate would tolerate and remained in step with public opinion. Despite contradictions in his attitudes towards other races, he fought to ensure privilege did not become entrenched in what he envisioned as a white man's utopia. In this perceptive new evaluation, political historian Tom Brooking explains Seddon's complex relationship with Maori and shows how he in fact held a progressively bi-cultural vision for the future of God's Own Country. Seddon was no saint. Somewhat autocratic and given to petty nepotism, he nevertheless remains the most dominant political leader in our country's history. Internationally, his high profile within the Empire helped put New Zealand on the map. Domestically, he sought a middle ground between free market extremism and full-blown socialism. And more privately, Seddon was a devoted family man, his actions shaped much more by his supportive wife and assertive daughters than has previously been realised. Richard Seddon: King of God's Own is a superlative achievement in New Zealand history.

writing Absorbing wide ranging and beautifully articulated it reframes and repositions one of the founding fathers of modern New Zealand The definitive biography of one of New Zealand s most influential political leaders Paul Moon author of New Zealand in the Twentieth Century King of God s Own is a nuanced and generous assessment of our most famous Premier a man very much of his own time Gavin McLean co editor of the bestselling Frontier of Dreams The Story of New Zealand An excellent biography and a major revision of an important period in this country s history Barry Gustafson acclaimed biographer of Sir Keith Holyoake Sir Robert Muldoon and Michael Joseph Savage Also available as an eBook New Zealand's First World War Heritage Imelda Bargas,Tim Shoebridge,2015-04-01 Rediscover New Zealand s hidden First World War history through the places where it happened No battles were fought here yet the First World War intruded into the daily life of every New Zealander who remained at home This ground breaking book provides vivid new insights into their experiences through exploring the places where they lived worked coped and mourned army camps fortifications soldier settler farms town halls wharves convalescent homes and hospitals cemeteries and war memorials dairy factories and woollen mills From Northland to Stewart Island our landscape is signposted with thousands of poignant memorials and behind the fa ades of old buildings beneath scrub and behind farm fences lies a less visible landscape of war and hundreds of hidden stories waiting to be told a soldier s name carved on a remote railway station a once bustling uniform factory in the heart of a city a long abandoned gun battery This unique book will be a revelation to all New Zealanders Extensively illustrated with new and period photographs and fascinating maps it contains original research and information that will open the eyes of every reader to places and stories in their community hidden in plain sight The impact of the First World War on New Zealanders was immense its legacy can be seen all around us today The Past Today John Wilson,1987

Paul Ashton, Alex Trapeznik, 2019-01-10 Across the globe history has gone public With the rise of the internet family historians are now delving into archives continents apart Activists look into and recreate the past to promote social justice or environmental causes Dark and difficult pasts are confronted at sites of commemoration Artists draw on memory and the past to study the human condition and make meaning in the present As a result of this democratisation of history public history movements have now risen to prominence This groundbreaking edited collection takes a comprehensive look at public history throughout the world Divided into three sections Background Definitions and Issues Approaches and Methods and Sites of Public History it contextualises public history in eleven different countries explores the main research skills and methods of the discipline and illustrates public history research with a variety of global case studies What is Public History Globally provides an in depth examination of the ways in which ordinary people become active participants in historical processes and it will be an invaluable resource for advance undergraduates and postgraduates studying public history museology and heritage studies

The History Highway 3.0 Dennis A. Trinkle, Scott A. Merriman, 2002 Now including a CD ROM this redesigned and thoroughly updated edition of The History Highway guides users to the astonishing amount of historical information available on the Internet It features more entries on non U S history than ever before and the CD ROM contains the entire contents as PDF files with live links so that users can put the disk into their computers go on line and click directly to the sites A special feature Editor s Choice indicates superior destinations for researchers In addition to the complete new edition three specialized versions are also available offering specific coverage of just those sites that apply to world history U S history or European history along with basic information about Internet research that is included with all four versions Covering hundreds of sites and designed for ease of use and maximum flexibility The History Highway 3 0 is an indispensable tool for historical research in the twenty first century no matter what the area or level of interest The History Highway Dennis A. Trinkle, Dorothy Auchter, Scott A. Merriman, Todd E. Larson, 2016-12-05 Save yourself and your students hours of research time Now extensively revised and expanded The History Highway is widely recognized as the one essential tool for students teachers and researchers seeking a reliable guide to history sites on the web The History Highway offers the broadest most current coverage of the astonishing amount of historical information available on the Internet provides detailed easy to use and up to date information on more than 3000 web sites covers U S and World history and all sub fields features ten new chapters with coverage of futurism environmental history immigration history and Mediterranean and Middle Eastern history all sites have been thoroughly checked by specialists in the relevant field of history the best sites in each field are clearly identified hard cover and paperback editions include a CD of the entire contents with live links to sites and e book version with live links to sites is in preparation History, heritage, and colonialism Kynan Gentry, 2015-04-01 History heritage and colonialism explores the politics of history making and interest in preserving the material remnants of the past in late nineteenth and early twentieth century colonial society looking at both indigenous pasts and those of European origin Focusing on New Zealand but also covering the Australian and Canadian experiences it explores how different groups and political interests have sought to harness historical narrative in support of competing visions of identity and memory Considering this within the frames of the local and national as well as of empire the book offers a valuable critique of the study of colonial identity making and cultures of colonisation This book offers important insights for societies negotiating the legacy of a colonial past in a global present and will be of particular value to all those concerned with museum heritage and tourism studies as well as imperial history Going Public Bronwyn Dalley, Jock Phillips, 2001 This is a collection of essays in the rapidly growing field of public history The essays are short think pieces by leading writers and scholars which explore the connections between specific aspects of public history and the broader field of New Zealand history in general and show some new and challenging ways of looking at the past The contributions cover new media academic vs public history the Waitangi Tribunal Treaty claims research official war history government history the origins of public history museums heritage freelance research and writing public history in popular culture and state funded reference histories Ethics and Archaeological Praxis Cristóbal Gnecco, Dorothy Lippert, 2014-11-10 Restoring the historicity and plurality of archaeological ethics is a task to which this book is devoted its emphasis on praxis mends the historical condition of ethics In doing so it shows that nowadays a multicultural sometimes also called public ethic looms large in the discipline By engaging communities differently archaeology has explicitly adopted an ethical outlook purportedly striving to overcome its colonial ontology and metaphysics In this new scenario respect for other historical systems worldviews and social accountability appear to be prominent Being ethical in archaeological terms in the multicultural context has become mandatory so much that most professional international and national archaeological associations have ethical principles as guiding forces behind their openness towards social sectors traditionally ignored or marginalized by their practices This powerful new ethics its newness is based to a large extent in that it is the first time that archaeological ethics is explicitly stated as if it didn't exist before emanates from metropolitan centers only to be adopted elsewhere In this regard it is worth probing the very nature of the dominant multicultural ethics in disciplinary practices because a it is at least suspicious that at the same time archaeology has tuned up with postmodern capitalist market needs and b the discipline along with its ethical principles is contested worldwide by grass roots organizations and social movements Can archaeology have socially committed ethical principles at the same time that it strengthens its relationship with the market and capitalism Is this coincidence just merely haphazard or does it obey more structural rules The papers in this book try to answer these two questions by examining praxis based contexts in which archaeological ethics unfolds

Architectural Conservation in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Islands John Stubbs, William Chapman, Julia Gatley, Ross King, 2023-12-22 The fourth in a series that documents architectural conservation in different parts of the world Architectural Conservation in Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands National Experiences and Practice addresses cultural heritage protection in a region which comprises one third of the Earth's surface In response to local needs Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands have developed some of the most important and influential techniques legislation doctrine and theories in cultural heritage management in the world The evolution of the heritage protection ethos and contemporary architectural conservation practices in Australia and Oceania are discussed on a national and regional basis using ample illustrations and examples Accomplishments in architectural conservation are discussed in their national and international contexts with an emphasis on original developments solutions and contributions made to the overall field Enriched with essays contributed from fifty nine specialists and thought leaders in the field this book contains an extraordinary breadth and depth of research and synthesis on the why's and how's of cultural heritage conservation Its holistic approach provides an essential resource and reference for students academics researchers policy makers practitioners and all who are interested in conserving the built environment

Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand Joanna Boileau, 2017-07-27 This book offers a fresh perspective on the Chinese diaspora It is about the mobilisation of knowledge across time and space exploring the history of Chinese market gardening in Australia and New Zealand It enlarges our understanding of processes of technological change and human mobility highlighting the mobility of migrants as an essential element in the mobility and adaptation of technologies Truly multidisciplinary Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand incorporates elements of economic agricultural social cultural and environmental history along with archaeology to document how Chinese market gardeners from subtropical southern China

adapted their horticultural techniques and technologies to novel environments and the demands of European consumers It shows that they made a significant contribution to the economies of Australia and New Zealand developing flexible strategies to cope with the vagaries of climate and changing business and social environments which were often hostile towards Asian immigrants Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand will appeal to students and scholars in the fields of the Chinese diaspora in particular the history of the Chinese in Australasia the history of technology horticultural and garden history and environmental history as well as Asian studies more generally The Edwin Fox Boyd Cothran, Adrian Shubert, 2023-10-17 It began as a small slow and unadorned sailing vessel in a word ordinary Later it was a weary workhorse in the age of steam But the story of the Edwin Fox reveals how an everyday merchant ship drew together a changing world and its people in an extraordinary age of rising empires sweeping economic transformation and social change This fascinating work of global history offers a vividly detailed and engaging narrative of globalization writ small viewed from the decks and holds of a single vessel The Edwin Fox connected the lives and histories of millions though most never even saw it Built in Calcutta in 1853 the Edwin Fox was chartered by the British navy as a troop transport during the Crimean War In the following decades it was sold recommissioned and refitted by an increasingly far flung constellation of militaries and merchants It sailed to exotic ports carrying luxury goods mundane wares and all kinds of people not just soldiers and officials but indentured laborers brought from China to Cuba convicts and settlers being transported from the British Empire to western Australia and New Zealand with dire consequences for local Indigenous peoples and others But the power of this story rests in the everyday ways people nations economies and ideas were knitted together in this foundational era of our modern world
