The Path Of The Buddha Buddhism Interpreted By Buddhist:

The Path of the Buddha Kenneth W. Morgan, 1986-01-01 This book presents Buddhism from the Buddhist point of view. It is an earnest attempt of eleven devout Buddhist scholars to describe the beliefs and practices of the Buddhist world twenty-five centuries after the Buddha. The need for such a book grew out of conversations among fellows of the National Council of UAS on Religion in Higher Education. It was agreed that a fuller understanding of the leading non-Christian religions requires books written by men speaking from the point of view of their own faiths and edited by a Westerner to make the meaning clear to readers brought up in the Greek Hebrew Christian Tradition. Bhikhu J. Kashyap of India has contributed the first chapter on the origin and expansion of Buddhism. U. Thittila of Rangoon wrote the second chapter on the fundamental principles of the Theravada Buddhism. Balangoda Ananda Maitreya of Ceylon, who wrote the third chapter, was recommended as a man who can speak for all Theravada countries. The Path of the Buddha; Buddhism Interpreted by Morgan, 1956 The Concept of Self in Hinduism, Buddhism, and Christianity and Its Implication for Interfaith Relations Kiseong Shin, 2017-05-05 This is the first comparative study of the self and no self in Hinduism, Buddhism, and Christianity. In spite of doctrinal differences within these three belief systems, they agree that human beings are in a predicament from which they need to be liberated. Indian religions, including Hinduism and Buddhism, share the belief that human nature is inherently perfectible, while the epistemological and psychological limitation of the human being is integral to Christian belief. Regarding the immortality of the human being, Hinduism and Christianity traditionally and generally agree that human beings as atman or soul possess intrinsic immortality. On the contrary, Buddhism teaches the doctrine of no self (anatta). Further in their quest to analyze the human predicament and attempt a way out of it, they employ different concepts such as sin and salvation in Christianity, attachment (tanha) and enlightenment (nirvana) in Buddhism, and ignorance (avidya) and liberation (moksha) in Hinduism. This volume seeks to show that behind these concepts are deep concerns related to human existence and its relationship with the whole creation. These common concerns can be a basis for a greater understanding and dialogue between Christians, Hindus, and Buddhists.
