Padraic Kenney, 2020-11-10 This is the first history of the revolutions that toppled communism in Europe to look behind the scenes at the grassroots movements that made those revolutions happen It looks for answers not in the salons of power brokers and famed intellectuals not in decrepit economies but in the whirlwind of activity that stirred so crucially unstoppably on the street Melding his experience in Solidarity era Poland with the sensibility of a historian Padraic Kenney takes us into the hearts and minds of those revolutionaries across much of Central Europe who have since faded namelessly back into everyday life This is a riveting story of musicians artists and guerrilla theater collectives subverting traditions and state power a story of youthful social movements emerging in the 1980s in Poland East Germany Czechoslovakia Hungary and parts of Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union Kenney argues that these movements were active well before glasnost Some protested military or environmental policy Others sought to revive national traditions or to help those at the margins of society Many crossed forbidden borders to meet their counterparts in neighboring countries They all conquered fear and apathy to bring people out into the streets The result was a revolution unlike any other before nonviolent exuberant even light hearted but also with a relentless political focus a revolution that leapt from country to country in the exciting events of 1988 and 1989 A Carnival of Revolution resounds with the atmosphere of those turbulent years the daring of new movements the unpredictability of street demonstrations and the hopes and regrets of the young participants A vivid photo essay complements engaging prose to fully capture the drama Based on over two hundred interviews in twelve countries and drawing on samizdat and other writings in six languages this is among the most insightful and compelling accounts ever published of the historical milestone that ushered in our age

The Invention of Public Space Mariana

Mogilevich, 2020-08-04 The interplay of psychology design and politics in experiments with urban open space As suburbanization racial conflict and the consequences of urban renewal threatened New York City with urban crisis the administration of Mayor John V Lindsay 1966 1973 experimented with a broad array of projects in open spaces to affirm the value of city life Mariana Mogilevich provides a fascinating history of a watershed moment when designers government administrators and residents sought to remake the city in the image of a diverse free and democratic society New pedestrian malls residential plazas playgrounds in vacant lots and parks on postindustrial waterfronts promised everyday spaces for play social interaction and participation in the life of the city Whereas designers had long created urban spaces for a broad amorphous public Mogilevich demonstrates how political pressures and the influence of the psychological sciences led them to a new conception of public space that included diverse publics and encouraged individual flourishing Drawing on extensive archival research site work interviews and the analysis of film and photographs The Invention of Public Space considers familiar figures such as William H Whyte and Jane Jacobs in a new light and foregrounds the important work of landscape architects Paul Friedberg and Lawrence Halprin and the architects of New York City's Urban Design Group The Invention of Public Space brings together psychology politics and design to uncover a critical moment of transformation in our understanding of city life and reveals the emergence of a concept of public space that remains today a powerful if unrealized aspiration

History and Precedent in Environmental Design Anatol Rapoport, 2013-06-29 This book is about a new and different way of approaching and studying the history of the built environment and the use of historical precedents in design However although what I am proposing is new for what is currently called architectural history both my approach and even my conclusions are not that new in other fields as I discovered when I attempted to find supporting evidence In fact of all the disciplines dealing with various aspects of the study of the past architectural history seems to have changed least in the ways I am advocating There is currently a revival of interest in the history of architecture and urban form a similar interest applies to theory vernacular design and culture environment relations After years of neglect the study of history and the use of historical precedent are again becoming important However that interest has not led to new approaches to the subject nor have its bases been examined This I try to do In so doing I discuss a more rigorous and I would argue a more valid way of looking at historical data and hence of using such data in a theory of the built environment and as precedent in environmental design Underlying this is my view of Environment Behavior Studies CEBS as an emerging theory rather than as data to help design based on current theory Although this will be the subject of another book a summary statement of this position may be useful

Brazil's Revolution in Commerce James P. Woodard, 2020-03-03 James P Woodard's history of consumer capitalism in Brazil today the world's fifth most populous country is at once magisterial intimate and penetrating enough to serve as a history of modern Brazil itself It tells how a new economic outlook took hold over the course of the twentieth century a time when the United States became Brazil's most important trading partner and the tastemaker of its better heeled citizens In a cultural entangling with the United States Brazilians saw Chevrolets and Fords replace horse drawn carriages railroads lose to a mania for cheap automobile roads and the fabric of everyday existence reweoven as commerce reached into the deepest spheres of family life The United States loomed large in this economic transformation but American consumer culture was not merely imposed on Brazilians By the seventies many elements once thought of as American had slipped their exotic traces and become Brazilian and this process illuminates how the culture of consumer capitalism became a more genuinely transnational and globalized phenomenon This commercial and cultural turn is the great untold story of Brazil's twentieth century and one key to its twenty first

Movement Nicole Gelinas, 2024-11-05 A gripping account of how the automobile has failed NYC and how mass transit and a revitalized streetscape are vital to its post pandemic recovery In 1969 as all students of New York City history think they have learned master builder Robert Moses lost his long battle to urbanist Jane Jacobs over his planned Lower Manhattan Expressway The ten lane elevated expressway would have sliced across SoHo and Little Italy demolishing historic buildings and displacing thousands of families and businesses Jacobs and her neighbors defeated Moses and as a result New York became the only major American city with no interstate highway running through its core Like many global cities though New York had spent fifty years during the first half of the twentieth century trying and failing to tame its heavily populated landscape to fit the private automobile New York has now spent more than fifty years trying to undo those mistakes wresting back city space for people not cars Movement New York's Long War to Take Back Its Streets from the Car chronicles the earlier less known battles that preceded the cancellation of the Lower Manhattan Expressway Jacobs became an example for generations of urban planners but whose example did Jacobs emulate in an earlier victory that saved Washington Square Park Moses may serve handily as New York's uber villain now but who before him was responsible for destroying a critical part of New York's transit system A well respected urban writer who has focused on New York's transportation system for more than a decade author Nicole Gelinas resumes the story where Robert Caro's landmark The Power Broker ended Movement explores how in the half century leading up to the COVID 19 pandemic New York's re embracement of its mass transit system and a livable streetscape helped save the city Gelinas tackles the 1970s environmental movement the 1980s rebuilding of the subways and more contemporary battles from Mayor Bloomberg's push for more pedestrian plazas and bike lanes in the early 2000s to transportation advocates protests to prevent traffic deaths in the Mayor de Blasio era of the 2010s to how New York's stewardship of its streets and subways have played a critical role during the 2020 pandemic and subsequent recovery Introducing a cast of transportation heroes to rival Jane Jacobs Shirley Hayes Hazel Henderson Richard Ravitch Nilka Martell and puncturing the myth of Moses as New York's anti hero Movement explores how New York City has helped redefine what it means to be a global city not a place that is easy to drive through but a place where people can take transit walk and bike to work to school or just for fun

The Public Realm Lyn H. Lofland, 2017-07-12 This book is about the public realm defined as a particular kind of social territory that is found almost exclusively in large settlements This particular form of social psychological space comes into being whenever a piece of actual physical space is dominated by relationships between and among persons who are strangers to one another as often occurs in urban bars buses plazas parks coffee houses streets and so forth More specifically the book is about the social life that occurs in such social psychological spaces the normative patterns and principles that shape it the relationships that characterize it the aesthetic and interactional pleasures that enliven it and the forces anti urbanism privatism post war planning and architecture that threaten it The data upon which the book s analysis is based are diverse direct observation interviews contemporary photographs historic etchings prints and photographs and historical maps histories of specific urban public spaces or spatial types and the relevant scholarly literature from sociology environmental psychology geography history anthropology and architecture and urban planning and design Its central argument is that while the existing body of accomplished work in the social sciences can be reinterpreted to make it relevant to an understanding of the public realm this quintessential feature of city life deserves much more u it deserves to be the object of direct scholarly interest in its own right Choice noted that The author s writing style is unusually accessible and the often fascinating narrative is generously supported by well chosen photos

Public Space Stephen Carr,1992 The authors offer a perspective of how to integrate public space and public life They contend that three critical human dimensions should guide the process of design and management of public space the users essential needs their spatial rights and the meanings they seek Houseways in Southern Oman Marielle Risse,2022-12-30 This book explores how houses are created maintained and conceptualized in southern Oman Based on long term research in the Dhofar region it draws on anthropology sociology urban studies and architectural history The chapters consider physical and functional aspects including regulations governing land use factors in siting houses architectural styles and norms for interior and exterior decorating The volume also reflects on cultural expectations regarding how and when rooms are used and issues such as safety privacy social connectedness and ease of movement Houses and residential areas are situated within the fabric of towns comparison is made with housing in other countries in the Arabian peninsula and consideration is given to notions of the Islamic city and the Islamic house The book is valuable reading for scholars interested in the Middle East and the built environment Highway Safety Literature ,1976 Housing and Planning References ,1976
