Soldiers and Stability in Southeast Asia J. Soedjati Djiwandono, Yong Mun Cheong, 1988 Durable Stability in Southeast Asia Kusumā Sanitwong Na 'Ayutthayā, Sukhumband Paribatra (M.R.), 1987 Southeast Asian Perspectives on Security Derek Da Cunha, 2000 The conventional understanding of strategic issues in the modern world has been very much a Western driven phenomenon That is to say Western strategists thinkers and writers have tended to establish the principles of strategic concepts and to develop theories around them While there is utility in much Western strategic thought it is also apt to note that some of it does not have full relevance or validity when applied to a regional setting that is far removed from the geographical boundaries of the Western world In that connection this volume is partly intended to serve as an antidote to much of the Western commentary on Asia Pacific security issues by providing a range of perspectives on those issues from the Southeast Asian point of view It offers a range of Southeast Asian perspectives on the multifaceted security issues that confront the Asia Pacific region in the post Cold War era That there is no unitary perspective emanating from the region is symptomatic of the very fluid geopolitical situation that characterizes Asia Pacific security and of equal import the different schools of thought that analysts in the region have chosen to subscribe to Southeast Asian Security in the New Millennium Richard J. Ellings, Sheldon W. Simon, 2016-09-16 Assessing trends toward creating innovative forms of political economic and security co operation in Southeast Asia this text discusses the international dynamics of Southeast Asian security and its impact on such external factors as the US China and Japan Security, Arms Control, and Conflict Reduction in East Asia and the Pacific , 1993-07-30 This is the most comprehensive bibliography to date on the vast English language literature covering the myriad aspects of peace and security issues in the East Asia Pacific region McClean contacted 150 key research institutions and publishers around the world for information about the most significant books articles dissertations and official documents on international and intra state security arms control conflict avoiding diplomacy and militarization in the area He has selectively annotated 12 645 cross referenced entries and organized them into 27 sub regional and country chapters including two particularly extensive chapters on Japan and China and two further chapters on relations between Australia New Zealand and the United States and on U S and Soviet policy Military Modernisation in Southeast Asia after the Cold War Shang-Su Wu, 2024-04-01 Southeast Asian countries represent a wide range of approaches to military modernisation due to their great diversity in politics economies geography and other factors Bounded by the Pacific and Indian Oceans and located between China and India is the setting for the geostrategic impacts of military modernisation in Southeast Asian countries Differing from previous research focused on military acquisition this book additionally covers retention of assets and carefully examines the ageing issues that affect readiness and capabilities In doing so it provides a comprehensive view of military modernisation This book also compares each country s situation in the region in terms of military strength and security challenges to elaborate on the geostrategic impacts of military modernisation The ten cases of military modernisation in the post Cold War context provide rich content for readers to explore the evolution of military modernisation in developing countries after 1991 This book sheds light on security studies of Southeast Asia and is a useful resource for academic researchers policy makers and defence practitioners Maritime Security between China and Southeast Asia Liselotte Odgaard,2017-03-02 Arguing that security relations between China and Southeast Asia are profoundly affected by disputes over maritime space and territory in the South China Sea the author demonstrates that the primacy of strategic competition over strategic partnerships promotes the emergence of a structure of deterrence encouraging South East Asia to side with the United States to balance the military power of China Combining the concepts of international disputes and order the book establishes a framework designed to focus on periods of transition where international regulatory mechanisms are out of step with developments in the security environments of states Features include Substantial evidence that strategic competition between the United States China and South East Asia promotes stability A comprehensive account of military diplomatic economic historical and legal aspects of security environments of states Suitable for scholars and graduate students of international relations international law security studies conflict management and regionalism it will also be invaluable supplementary reading for undergraduate courses Trends in Force Modernisation in Southeast Asia Carlyle A. Thayer,1990 Department of Defense Appropriations United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations.
