

The background of the cover is a sepia-toned illustration. In the upper left, a large, faint, ethereal face of a man with a beard and closed eyes is depicted, appearing to be part of the sky or a distant vision. In the lower right, a woman is shown from the chest up, wearing a dark, patterned sari. She is looking upwards and to the left, her right hand raised towards her face in a contemplative or reverent gesture. The overall mood is spiritual and poetic.

Discourses of Empire and Commonwealth Sandra Robinson, Alastair Niven, 2016-11-01 In Discourses of Empire and Commonwealth a range of prominent writers and critics reflect on the legacy of imperialism and the role of writers in forging a new more cosmopolitan identity The contributors writing about a wide range of countries affirm the freedom of the human spirit even within unjust or oppressive social systems They show the power of words to illuminate injustices and unite different peoples Salman Rushdie famously declared that Commonwealth Literature has had its day this book provides a vital antidote to this idea Editors Sandra Robinson and Alastair Niven have put together this mixture of personal reflections critical overviews historical re evaluations and creative works to illustrate the vitality of this genre

Clearing a Space Amit Chaudhuri, 2008 This book brings together many of Chaudhuri's best essays written over the past decade in journals such as the London Review of Books and the Times Literary Supplement Often beginning with the personal Chaudhuri enquires into the nature of the secular in India into the history of such categories as the West the foreign the global and the exotic and into the frequently torn and self divided nature of modern Indian identity Chaudhuri also makes a powerful case for thinking about Indian literature and culture in a way that departs strikingly from the parameters created since the publication of Midnight's Children and the consolidation of postcolonial studies While his mode is broadly oppositional it is also one of constant engagement with the positions he is arguing against Critical Response to Indian Poetry in English Amar Nath Prasad, 2008 Child Labour and School Enrolment Horst Friedrich Rolly, 2019-08-16 This book reflects the outcome of a long term involvement in issues of child labour non formal education and formal school enrolment It documents research findings and practical experiences on social economic and cultural causes of child labour and various pragmatic and theory guided methods as well as legal instruments to combat child labour The tenet that quality schooling prevents child labour implies a shift in child labour monitoring from a conventional controlling approach at workplaces to a community based enabling approach at schools Child labour and school enrolment are not isolated phenomena that can be strategically resolved under controlled conditions in the human lifeworld but are rather positioned reflected and acted upon in the context of a handed down and existing system Universal human rights instruments including educational rights offer directives to resolve problematic settings that prevailed over time however they require an unequivocal commitment which is not always the case in the ground reality of pluralistic stakeholders divided by conflicting group interests
