Intertwined Rebecca Kormos,2024-04-30 Winner of the Studs and Ida Terkel Prize A powerful argument that greater inclusion of women in conservation and climate science is key to the future of the planet Women are disproportionately impacted by climate change floods droughts and extreme temperatures overwhelmingly affect women in the short and long term In some cases women make up almost 90 percent of casualties during dangerous climate events and the majority of those displaced in the aftermath are women Despite this disparity women are underrepresented at every level of decision making about the future of our planet only 24 percent of CEOs in nonprofit conservation and around one third of the representatives in national and global climate negotiating bodies have been women In Intertwined writer and wildlife biologist Rebecca Kormos elevates the voices of women working to prevent the climate crisis weaving together their stories to make a powerful case for why women are essential to changing our current trajectory toward catastrophic global warming and environmental degradation Kormos argues that empowering women is one of the most important solutions to climate change and biodiversity loss women s leadership and equal representation is linked to lower CO2 emissions better forest management better land protection less land grabbing and fewer conflicts over resources For readers of All We Can Save and Braiding Sweetgrass Kormos joins the ranks of recent breakthrough efforts to showcase women s voices in the movement to combat climate change Kormos takes this endeavor one step further with a global intersectional narrative of how women and gender nonconforming individuals are doing the crucial work at the local and national levels to reframe how we think about environmental activism Ultimately Intertwined proves that climate justice is inextricable from gender equality

Albrecht Altdorfer and the Origins of Landscape Christopher S. Wood,2013-07-15 In the early sixteenth century Albrecht Altdorfer promoted landscape from its traditional role as background to its new place as the focal point of a picture His paintings drawings and etchings appeared almost without warning and mysteriously disappeared from view just as suddenly In Albrecht Altdorfer and the Origins of Landscape Christopher S Wood shows how Altdorfer transformed what had been the mere setting for sacred and historical figures into a principal venue for stylish draftsmanship and idiosyncratic painterly effects At the same time his landscapes offered a densely textured interpretation of that quintessentially German locus the forest interior This revised and expanded second edition contains a new introduction revised bibliography and fifteen additional illustrations

Empty churches : The rural-urban dilemma Charles Josiah Galpin,2025-04-24 In Empty Churches The Rural Urban Dilemma Charles Josiah Galpin critically examines the profound socio economic and cultural shifts that have precipitated the decline of rural churches in America Drawing on meticulous field research Galpin employs an analytical narrative style that combines sociological rigor with a compelling storytelling approach He situates the church s diminishing role within broader themes of urbanization and modernization highlighting how rural communities grapple with their identities and traditions in an increasingly urban centric society The book delineates the tension between faith and community offering a poignant reflection on what these empty spaces symbolize in the contemporary American landscape Charles Josiah Galpin a prominent sociologist and theologian dedicated much of his life to exploring the intersections of religion community and social change His upbringing in a small rural town coupled with his extensive academic background imbues his work with both personal insight and scholarly depth Galpin s reflections are shaped by his keen observations on the pastoral life and the changing dynamics of faith in modern society making him uniquely positioned to address this pressing issue Empty Churches is essential reading for scholars clergy and lay readers alike Galpin s thoughtful analysis not only unpacks the complexities surrounding rural religious life but also prompts vital questions about the future of faith communities in a rapidly changing world It is a clarion call to understand the implications of empty churches and to consider pathways toward revitalization

Songs of the Empty Place James F. Weiner,Don Niles,2015-07-13 For 31 months between 1979 and 1995 James F Weiner conducted anthropological research amongst the Foi people in Southern Highlands Province Papua New Guinea This book contains the transcriptions translations and descriptions of the songs he recorded The texts of women s sago songs obedobora men s ceremonial songs sorohabora and women s sorohabora are included Men turn the prosaic content of women's sago songs into their own sorohabora songs which are performed the night following large scale inter community pig kills called dawa. While women sing sago songs by themselves men sing their ceremonial songs in groups of paired men. Women also have their own ceremonial versions of such songs. The songs are memorial in intent; they are designed to commemorate the lives of men who are no longer living. Most commonly they do so by naming the places the deceased inhabited during his lifetime. These song texts and translations are introduced by Weiner. Ethnomusicologist Don Niles then brings together information about each type of song and considers these Foi genres in relation to those of neighbouring groups, highlighting aspects of regional performance styles. Consideration is also given to the poetic devices used in Papua New Guinea songs. Eighteen recordings illustrating the Foi genres discussed in this book are available for download. It remains uncertain how such songs may be affected by the major oil extraction project that has been undertaken in the region for more than two decades. This book will interest students of anthropology, ethnomusicology, linguistics, verbal art, aesthetics and cultural heritage.
