Security and Conflict in East Asia Andrew T. H. Tan, 2015-04-24 Security and Conflict in East Asia provides a timely and comprehensive analysis of the sources and implications of conflict on the Korean peninsula and in the People's Republic of China and Japan the three biggest economies in the world This analysis provides the building blocks for effective solutions to manage these tensions more effectively and is a vital resource to those seeking a clearer understanding of conflict in the most pivotal region in the world In the context of increasingly tense China US strategic rivalry the ever present potential for conflict on the Korean peninsula and over Taiwan the absence of effective regional institutions and regimes the emerging arms race in the region the rise in nationalism and the absence of crisis management mechanisms there are many good reasons why the high potential exists for miscalculation and misperception sparking a regional conflict Given the presence of nuclear armed powers in East Asia namely China North Korea and the USA it is also possible that any regional conflict could escalate into a nuclear conflict involving the world's three largest economies the USA China and Japan The security of and any conflict in East Asia thus has tremendous implications for global security The Handbook is divided into four parts The introductory section includes chapters which set the context explain the history of international relations in East Asia and examine the phenomenon of regional arms race The second section is made up of a series of chapters focusing on China examining China's military modernization its relationship with the USA and the various territorial disputes in which it has been involved The third section focuses on Japan and North and South Korea looking at the security challenges facing Japan and the Korean peninsula A concluding section examines the future role of China and the USA in East Asia as well as the prospects for managing security in the region The contributing authors are all experts in their respective fields and all share an abiding concern over developments in East Asia Their contributions aim to assist in a better understanding of the issues to suggest possible solutions and draw attention to the need for diplomacy confidence building measures crisis management mechanisms and other measures to prevent conflict This volume will be of use to government institutions involved in foreign policy intelligence and defence reference libraries universities research institutes and non governmental organisations It will also appeal to analysts researchers journalists policy advisers students academics and the general reader Scholarly analysis is yet to catch up and currently there are no other comprehensive works examining conflict in East Asia in the context of the current tensions

Conflict Management and Dispute Settlement in East Asia Ramses Amer, 2016-05-23 Through a multi disciplinary approach this volume studies the management and settlement of conflict and disputes in East Asia Conflict and disputes exist everywhere in human society The management and settlement of them has become an imperative This volume is a significant contribution to a broader understanding of the complexities involved in managing and settling disputes and conflicts at regional inter state and intra state levels in the East Asian region Drawing on expertise in Peace and Conflict International Relations and International Law the volume presents to the reader a general picture of how conflict can be managed at the international and regional levels through various mechanisms in particular through prominent regional organizations such as ASEAN It then moves on to case studies at the regional level including inter state and intra state conflicts and disputes The last part of the volume highlights how states resolve their maritime disputes This has drawn much attention from the international community due to various factors such as the increasing demand for natural resources from the oceans These disputes disrupt the smooth development of international relations as well as trigger tensions and confrontation between states

Race, Ethnicity and Religion in Conflict Across Asia Kunal Mukherjee, 2021-02-27 This book looks at conflict zones in the Asia Pacific with a special focus on secessionist groups movements in the Indian Northeast Tibet Chinese Xinjiang the Burmese borderlands Kashmir in South Asia CHT in Bangladesh South Thailand and Aceh in Indonesia These conflict zones are predominantly ethnic minority provinces which by and large do not share a sense of oneness with the country that they are currently a part of most of these insurgencies have had strong linkages with separatist nationalist groups in the region Methodologically the author uses extensive fieldwork interview data and participant observation from these conflict zones to take a bottom up approach giving importance to the voices of ordinary people and or the residents of these conflict zones whose voices have generally been ignored Although the book looks at both the historical background and contemporary dimensions of these conflicts the author focuses on exploring how the role of race ethnicity and religion in these conflicts can be both direct and indirect This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conflict and security in contemporary Asia with a background in politics history IR security studies religion and sociology
