Absorption Narratives Stephanie M. Pridgeon, 2024-12-16 In Absorption Narratives Stephanie M Pridgeon explores cultural depictions of Jewishness Blackness and Indigeneity within a comparative inter American framework The dynamics of Jewishness interacting with other racial categories differ significantly in Latin America and the Caribbean compared with those in the United States and Canada largely due to long standing and often disputed concepts of mestizaje broadly defined as racial mixture As a result a comprehensive understanding of Jewishness and the construction of racial identities requires an exploration of how Jewishness intersects with both Blackness and Indigeneity in the Americas Absorption Narratives charts the ways in which literary works capture differences and similarities among Black Jewish and Indigenous experiences Through an extensive and diverse examination of fiction Pridgeon navigates the complex connections of these identity categories offering a comparative perspective on race and ethnicity across the Americas that destabilizes US centric critical practices Revealing the limitations of US focused models in understanding racial alterity in relation to Jewishness Absorption Narratives emphasizes the importance of viewing the narrative of race relations in the Americas from a hemispheric standpoint

Rigelhof, 2000 Punctuate his title as you like but T F Rigelhof considers This is Our Writing a declaration an enquiry and an exclamation As a writer of half a dozen a reviewer of dozens upon dozens and as a reader of a multitude more books Terry Rigelhof knows much about writing in Canada In these eleven essays he asks what is best in what has been written by Canadians in the twentieth century He examines selected works of some writers whose accomplishments need serious revaluation What are the real achievements of Robertson Davies Carole Corbeil Mavis Gallant Mordecai Richler Hugh Hood Leonard Cohen and George Grant Rigelhof comes up with a list that will surprise some and dismay others This is a book for readers who have always known in their heart of hearts that Robertson Davies was an egregious windbag and that underneath the inspired silliness of their carefully contrived and managed public images Mordecai Richler and Leonard Cohen have produced three of the most intelligent novels we have In a sequence of interlocking personal essays Rigelhof explores living a writerly life in Canada at the end of the twentieth century The text is fortified by a dozen photographs all but one previously unpublished by Gabor Szilasi one of Canada's greatest active documentary photographers The Novel Michael Schmidt, 2014-05-12 The 700 year history of the novel in English defies straightforward telling Encompassing a range of genres it is geographically and culturally boundless and influenced by great novelists working in other languages Michael Schmidt choosing as his travel companions not critics or theorists but other novelists does full justice to its complexity A History of Canadian Fiction David Staines, 2021-08-05 The first one volume history of Canadian fiction covering its growth and development from earliest times to the present day Recounting the struggles and the glories of this burgeoning area of investigation it explains Canada's literary growth alongside its remarkable history An Echo in the Mountains Nicholas Bradley, 2020-09-23 From the 1960s until his death in 2000 Al Purdy was one of the most prominent writers in Canada famous for his frank language and his boisterous personality He travelled the country and wrote about its people and places from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island A central figure in the CanLit explosion of the sixties and seventies Purdy has been called the best the most and the last Canadian poet But Purdy's Canada no longer exists A changing country and shifting attitudes toward Canadian literature demand new perspectives on Purdy's impact and accomplishments An Echo in the Mountains reassesses Purdy's works the shape of his career and his literary legacy grappling with the question of how to read Purdy today a century after his birth and in a new era of Canadian literature Contributors to the volume examine Purdy's critical reception explore little known documents and textual problems and analyze his representations of Canadian history and Indigenous peoples and cultures They show that much remains to be discovered and understood about the poet and his immense body of work The first sustained examination of Al Purdy's works in over a decade An Echo in the Mountains showcases the critical challenges and rewards of rereading an iconic and influential Canadian writer Mordecai Richler Reinhold Kramer, 2008-03-20 Based on never before published material from the Richler archives as well as interviews with family members friends and acquaintances Mordecai Richler Leaving St Urbain shows how Richler consistently mined his remarkable life for material for his novels Beginning with the early clashes with his grandfather over Orthodox Judaism and exposing the reasons behind his life long quarrel with his mother Kramer follows Richler as he flees to Ibiza and Paris where he counted himself as one of the avant garde who ushered in the 1960s His successes abroad gave him the opportunity to remain in England and leave novel writing behind but he did neither More than a biography Mordecai Richler Leaving St Urbain is the story of a Jewish culture finding its place within a larger stream a literary culture moving into the colloquial and a Canada torn between nationalism and cosmopolitanism Character
