Literature's Critique, Subversion, and Transformation of Justice Ruben Moi, 2024-03-19 Literature is an institution per se as is justice and these two institutions enact each other in complex ways Justice appears in many forms from divine right and religious ordainment to metaphysical imperative and natural law to national jurisdiction social order human rights and civil disobedience What is just and right has varied in time and place in war and peace A sense of justice appears inextricable from human concerns of ethics and morals Literature includes a vast range of writing from holy texts to banned books Parts of literature particularly in the past have laid down the law In more recent history literature has gradually assumed radical roles of critique subversion and transformation of the existing law and order in contents themes language and form Literature's Critique Subversion and Transformation of Justice offers a selection of research that examines how various types of literature and arts give shape and significance to ideas of justice in various fields Mad in Translation Robin D. Gill, 2009 Even readers with no particular interest in Japan if such odd souls exist may expect unexpected pleasure from this book if English metaphysical poetry grooks hyperlogical nonsense verse outrageous epigrams the im possibilities and process of translation between exotic tongues the reason of puns and rhyme outlandish metaphor extreme hyperbole and whatnot tickle their fancy Read together with The Woman Without a Hole also by Robin D Gill the hitherto overlooked ulterior side of art poetry in Japan may now be thoroughly explored by monolinguals though bilinguals and students of Japanese will be happy to know all the original Japanese is included amazon com Perspectives on Literature and Translation Brian Nelson, Brigid Maher, 2013-10-15 This volume explores the relationship between literature and translation from three perspectives the creative dimensions of the translation process the way texts circulate between languages and the way texts are received in translation by new audiences The distinctiveness of the volume lies in the fact that it considers these fundamental aspects of literary translation together and in terms of their interconnections Contributors examine a wide variety of texts including world classics poetry genre fiction transnational literature and life writing from around the world Both theoretical and empirical issues are covered with some contributors approaching the topic as practitioners of literary translation and others writing from within the academy
