Marjorie Her War Years Patricia Skidmore,2018-08-11 Her family broken apart and her identity taken away she had to forget her past in order to face her future But forgetting isn't forever Taken from their mother's care and deported from England to the colonies ten year old Marjorie Arnison and her nine year old brother Kenny were sent to the Prince of Wales Fairbridge Farm School on Vancouver Island in September 1937 Their eight year old sister Audrey followed the next August Marjorie's new home was on an isolated farm a cottage she shared with at least ten other girls and a cottage mother at the head who had complete control over her children Survival required sticking to bare essentials Marjorie had to accept a loss which was difficult to forgive Turning inward she would find strength to pull her through but she had to lock away her memories in order to endure her new life Marjorie was well into her senior years before those memories resurfaced

Messengers of the Lost Battalion Gregory Orfalea,2010-05-11 The author of Before the Flames and the son of a member of the ill fated infantry battalion discusses America's 551st Battalion and their heroic little known role during World War II's Battle of the Bulge

Letters from a War Hero Robert C. Linnell,2005-03 I have to laugh at the bunk they spread all over the newspapers Every time somebody hears a rumor or gets an idea he flashes it out on the front page in huge black print The papers are full of speculation as to what will happen where and when It sounds to me as though the home front thought the surrender of Italy practically ended the war We received the news over the radio while underway for the invasion We took it with little excitement We had been expecting it any day and also knew that the fighting would still be plenty tough I guess the people at home thought that would mean a victory much through Italy I would say that it was nearer another Dunkirk The Germans still have lots of fight left in them and the war still has lots of months left in it an excerpt of a letter from Ensign R C Linnell to his parents October 3 1943 This endearing collection of letters written before during and after some of the most intense invasions of World War II provides insight into a bygone era Letters from a War Hero is a priceless account of American history entwined with a beautiful love story

M. Winter,2006-01-01 This is a masterful volume on remembrance and war in the twentieth century Jay Winter locates the fascination with the subject of memory within a long term trajectory that focuses on the Great War Images languages and practices that appeared during and after the two world wars focused on the need to acknowledge the victims of war and shaped the ways in which future conflicts were imagined and remembered At the core of the memory boom is an array of collective meditations on war and the victims of war Winter says The book begins by tracing the origins of contemporary interest in memory then describes practices of remembrance that have linked history and memory particularly in the first half of the twentieth century The author also considers theaters of memory film television museums and war crimes trials in which the past is seen through public representations of memories The book concludes with reflections on the significance of these practices for the cultural history of the twentieth century as a whole A "Yankee" in the "Texas Army" Dennis A.

Connole,2008 Dennis Joe Connole was an ordinary soldier He spent four years three months and seventeen days in the U S Army during World War II From March 1942 until December 1943 he was a member of the 26th Yankee Division on Coast Patrol duty in Maine In early 1944 Joe Connole shipped out to the European Theater of Operations ETO where he joined the 36th Texas Division as a replacement thus a Yankee in the Texas Army In June 1944 he received a Purple Heart for shrapnel wounds inflicted in Italy A letter to my neighbours on the subject of the war Henry Stebbing,1855 War Letters,

American World War II Orphans Network ,2005-03 Casualty of War Luisa Lang Owen,2002-11-19 Not all casualties of war die on the battlefield In the wake of World War II Yugoslavia purged its territory of the ethnic Germans who had formed a part of its human mosaic Tarred with their ethnic origins and the conscription of their fighting age men into the Waffen SS the Volksdeutsche as these settlers were called were rounded up at the war s end and herded into concentration camps Those who were not murdered or did not die from the harsh conditions were expelled from the village homes their families had known and loved for three hundred years Nine years old when she entered the concentration camp in 1945 author Luisa Lang Owen survived the persecution of the Danube Swabians eventually finding herself in America where she made a new life for herself a life that nonetheless held within it the memories and lessons of the atrocities she had experienced in her homeland Like thousands of other Germans in the Danube Valley at the end of the war Luisa and her family were chased from their home lodged in a sheep stall and resettled in camps with other Germans from her village Shorn of their possessions given little food or fuel pressed into hard labor beaten by guards and separated from their families many despaired and many died Luisa barely survived as others succumbed to malnutrition disease and exposure Her haunting memoir provides a window into the ethnic cleansing that preceded the recent exterminations in Bosnia and Kosovo by fifty years an episode of horrors that has not appeared as even a footnote in descriptions of the more recent atrocities practiced in that region Her testament as a casualty of war bears historic witness and gives insight into the personal experiences of ethnic cleansing It stands as witness to a massive crime that has been conveniently forgotten a corrective to a bit of neglect that did away with its victims as a people and a personal depiction of what ethnic cleansing is really about The problem was not just that they did not want us to have or to be Luisa Lang Owen writes they wanted us not to have been

The War Comes with You Stacey Peebles,2024-12-12 How do we tell twenty first century war stories when the wars seem to go on forever In the post 2011 surge of war stories published in America and Iraq the defining characteristic is the depiction of combat violence that crosses borders overtakes civilian spaces and disrupts chronology In The War Comes with You Enduring War in Life Fiction and Fantasy Stacey Peebles picks up where her groundbreaking first book Welcome to the Suck Narrating the American Soldier s Experience in Iraq left off Via careful readings of fiction memoir and poetry by writers such as Ben Fountain Siobhan Fallon Brian Turner and Hassan Blasim as well as recent superhero and Star Wars films Peebles argues that in the face of real and fantasy forever wars things fall apart Language identities bodies and even the stories themselves fragment These narratives suggest that people need not accept incoherence and there is a range of meaningful responses to the experience of everywhere all the time war Peebles illustrates what to do that is when war comes with you

War Letters of Edmond Genet Edmond Charles Clinton Genet,1918 Legislative Journal Pennsylvania. General Assembly,1919 War Orphan in San Francisco Phyllis H. Mattson,2006 In March of 1940 as Hitler plans to eradicate Jews 10 year old Lizzi left Vienna on a small transport of children seeking refuge in America Two weeks later she began her new way of life in San Francisco getting a new name Phyllis and having to learn a new language Although her family was scattered on three continents they are linked by letters This poignant coming of age story is told through the letters Phyllis wrote her parents details of her new life as she grew into adolescence and became an American while they tried to parent her long distance During the next six years she moved in and out of foster homes and an orphanage due to her rebellious behavior but as she defended herself stoutly in her letters she gained self confidence and skills to become an independent responsible adult Though her parents tried desperately to join her they were stopped by red tape Her mother labored in German slave camps while her father was erroneously incarcerated in Australia The moods hopes fears and accomplishments of all are recounted in the details of the letters Interwoven between the letters is a narrative that depicts the times and places of that era
