Southern African Futures Critical Factors For Regional Development In Southern Africa Discubion Paper S

Reinhart Kössler, Henning Melber, Per Strand

Southern African Futures Critical Factors For Regional Development In Southern Africa Discussion Paper S:

Southern African Futures Bertil Odén, 1996 The fall of apartheid in South Africa and post cold war international development changed the preconditions for regionalization in southern Africa From being used as an instrument in the overlaying conflict between apartheid South Africa and the rest of the region it can now be constructively used to improve regional development This study examines a number of decisive factors for future southern African regionalization One of its conclusions is that the process will mainly be spontaneous rather than politically guided Functional integration in sectors like hydropower water management transport and communication is easier to envisage than traditional trade integration Investments rather than trade will be the driving force Threats to the three main interrelated components of a positive scenario for the region high economic growth political stability and absence of major armed conflicts between and within the countries are analyzed The risk that regionalization by default may lead to enclaves of growth and wealth in a sea of poverty is noted

Land Reform Under Structural Adjustment in Zimbabwe Sam Moyo, 2000 This study represents a first systematic effort to document Zimbabwe's new land uses during the years of economic crisis the role of the state in promoting them the differentiation associated with them not only between black and white farmers but also among them and the implications of all these for the political economy of the Zimbabwean land question The fact that some of the new land uses avoid redistribution of clearly under utilised large scale commercial farms suggests that the Zimbabwean land question will remain a live political issue for a long time

The New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD) Henning Melber, 2002 From 24 to 26 February 2002 the Hanns Seidel Foundation based in Germany came together in Dar es Salaam with African counterparts for its annual workshop This Discussion Paper publishes some of the presentations to the workshop in an effort to document the newly initiated debate from different positions

Fault-lines in South African Democracy Fred Hendricks, 2003 The transition from apartheid to democracy in South Africa has raised questions on the one hand about the tension between the imperatives of justice and equality and on the other reconciliation Transforming the decades old apartheid system under conditions of a political compromise has turned out to be a formidable challenge This paper is about the complexity of the transformation process going on in South Africa Although too early for a real assessment of the experiment the tensions dilemmas contradictions paradoxes and some of the changes have already begun to manifest themselves The paper shows how political deals affect the administration of justice and how they impinge upon the nature of democracy often by frustrating efforts to realise social goals in the post authoritarian phase It also raises the fundamental question of the broader necessities for the long term survival of democracy in South Africa

Structural Stability in an African Context Robert Kappel, Andreas Mehler, Henning Melber, 2003 Structural Stability is a particular focus for reconceptualizing developmental strategy and development aid and has provoked unforeseen responses in the course of a recent mainly German debate This debate began late in 2000 when a number of prominent German scholars in African Studies initiated a policy dialogue through a widely circulated and publicly discussed Afrika Memorandum centred on the notion of structural stability. Its arguments are relevant not only to a German audience but offer stimulating and thought provoking inputs into the debate in the wider European context on bilateral and multilateral relations with Africa. This Discussion Paper presents the revised contributions to a Consultative Workshop on Structural Stability in an African Context that took place at the Nordic Africa Institute in Uppsala on 31 March and 1 April 2003.

Development from Below Reinhart Kössler, Henning Melber, Per Strand, 2003. Covers aspects of rebuilding post apartheid society with particular reference to marginalized groups the Nama. Outlines the event of the annual Festival at Gibeon commemorating a political manifestation started by Kaptein Hendrik Witbooi in 1930. Following the main paper Reflections on Heroes Day by R Kössler gives the rejoinders. The local and the global a comment by P Strand and Nama or Namibian by H Melber.

Zimbabwe Suzanne Dansereau, Mario Zamponi, 2005. The two articles are revised versions of papers presented at the end of May 2004 to a Zimbabwe Conference at the Nordic Africa Institute which was co organized by the project Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa LiDeSA. They highlight current socio economic aspects of Zimbabwean society. By doing so they raise relevant issues yet ones that have tended to be neglected given the almost exclusive concentration on political events. While this is understandable the articles fill the gap in our knowledge and add insights into important sectors of society. These include information on the Zimbabwean economy and the present constraints of the decline which together help us to understand the structural legacy that any future government will have to deal with. What is more the elections in Zimbabwe in 2005 provide an ideal moment to discuss such matters. This Discussion Paper will thereby make a substantive contribution to the analysis of the overall picture in Zimbabwe.

Political Cultures in Democratic South Africa M. Neocosmos, Raymond Suttner, Ian Taylor, 2002. The contributions to this Discussion Paper reflect upon different but related aspects of South African democracy after Apartheid as represented in a variety of social forces institutions and individuals. They illustrate that societies in transition have to make sustained efforts to overcome the legacies of the past and that the present reproduces some of the past structural constraints and patterns of power and control in the new framework. The contributions were originally presented to a workshop organized in Cape Town in December 2001.

Measuring Democracy and Human Rights in Southern Africa Yul Derek Davids, 2002. Attitudes Among the Youth.

Regulating Mining in Africa Bonnie K. Campbell, 2004. Liberalisation of the mining sector in Africa in the 1980s a developmental perspective II.
