James Lee Hutchinson EdS,2016-10-14 Life in the poverty of the Great Depression prior to World War II was a serious time which today s generation can only imagine and could not endure However I have used the short story format humor and a sixth grade vocabulary in many stories to encourage reading for ages twelve to ninety The names of my boyhood pals represent many of my childhood pals and stories are based on real events My sketches and photos help set the scene for each short story which stands alone but is more or less in order of events and seasons The sketches also signify that I qualify as a starving artist The twenty five percent unemployment in our community led to many people living on the edge of starvation Families lived in houses without electricity water or central heating and their lives were not complicated by bathrooms air conditioning television computer games or cell phones The outhouse was on the alley and house water came from well pumps or a neighbor s faucet Schools and parents demanded strict discipline and education was important Most families were striving to survive and rear their children to be law abiding citizens Children spent time in the fresh air organized their own games and roamed the streets fields or woodlands However they were assigned home chores and expected to contribute to the family The Greatest Generation saved our country and the freedom we have enjoyed for three quarters of a century

Reading Shaver's Creek Ian Marshall,2018-02-16 What does it mean to know a place What might we learn about the world by returning to the same place year after year What would a long term record of such visits tell us about change and permanence and our place in the natural world This collection explores these and related questions through a series of reflective essays and poems on Pennsylvania s Shaver s Creek landscape from the past decade Collected as part of The Ecological Reflections Project a century long effort to observe and document changes to the natural world in the central Pennsylvanian portion of the Appalachian Forest these pieces show how knowledge of a place comes from the information and perceptions we gather from different perspectives over time They include Marcia Bonta s keen observations about how humans knowingly and unknowingly affect the landscape Scott Weidensaul's view of the forest as a battlefield and Katie Fallon describing the sounds of human and nonhuman life along a trail Together these selections create a place based portrait of a vivid ecosystem during the first decade of the twenty first century Featuring contributions by nationally known nature writers and local experts Reading Shaver's Creek is a unique complex depiction of the central Pennsylvania landscape and its ecology We know the land and creatures of places such as Shaver's Creek are bound to change throughout the century This book is the first step to documenting how In addition to the editor contributors to this volume are Marcia Bonta Michael P Branch Todd Davis Katie Fallon David Gessner Hannah Inglesby John Lane Carolyn Mahan Jacy Marshall McKelvey Steven Rubin David Taylor Julianne Lutz Warren and Scott Weidensaul The Hills Brad Sieg, 2014-03-05 Back in the time when creeks were clean the air was fresh fish were found in the creeks and frogs That's when I would run through the woods just to explore and see what would be ahead or climb a tree to see how high I could go so I could see beyond the trees Backpacker , 2004-08 Backpacker brings the outdoors straight to the reader's doorstep inspiring and enabling them to go more places and enjoy nature more often The authority on active adventure Backpacker is the world's first GPS enabled magazine and the only magazine whose editors personally test the hiking trails camping gear and survival tips they publish Backpacker's Editors Choice Awards an industry honor recognizing design feature and product innovation has become the gold standard against which all other outdoor industry awards are measured Get out of Jena Levi M. Hatcher, 2010-12-13 Get Out Of Jena takes a look into the conditions that makes for racial divides to persist in any modern day American society that refuses to acknowledge the contributions that any race makes to that society Through the real life experiences of a family from LaSalle Parish Louisiana where Jena is the parish seat we can see how such conditions when ignored can create a hostile situation In North American society we cannot overlook the crippling effects of slavery's contribution to these conditions How it affects economic struggles attitudes and the pride of a people on both sides of the color line Get Out Of Jena does not lay the responsibility to change these conditions on the shoulders of any one race or people Therefore the adults of both sides contribute to these conditions either by submission or omission In the end we will see how it is the youth that pay a bigger price for the arrogance of those conditioned adults The price they pay for their refusal to acknowledge the importance of all its citizens The question this book asks is can any of us run away from that responsibility no matter how large or small we think our responsibility is And if we do run away where would we go and will we ever be called back to deal with the conditions we left behind Boys' Life , 1970-05 Boys Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America Published since 1911 it contains a proven mix of news nature sports history fiction science comics and Scouting The Unofficial Guide to California with Kids Colleen Dunn Bates, Susan LaTempa, 2008-11-24 More than 4 million copies sold This series is the only one that offers evaluations based on reader surveys and critiques compiled by a team of unbiased inspectors Hotels attractions and restaurants in all price categories
