Sun My Father Nils Aslak Valkeapaa:

The Sun, My Father Nils-Aslak Valkeapää, 1997 Nils Aslak Valkeapaa was born in 1943 to a reindeer breeding family in Sapmi homeland of the Sami whom outsiders have called Laps or Laplanders A Finnish citizen he lives in both Norway and Finland Much of traditional Sami life was nomadic involving herding reindeer and living in harmony with the landscapes weather and animals of the far north The poems in The Sun My Father serve as a link between past and present According to one myth the Sami are the children of the sun and the poet honors that myth reaching back into the Sami past from the point of view of a modern Sami The Sami edition was originally published in 1988 and won the Nordic Council's Literature Award The translation team includes Ralph Salisbury a Native American poet Lars Nordstrom a Swedish translator and Harald Gaski a Sami scholar

The Earth, My Mother Nils-Aslak Valkeapää, 2017 Jorda min mor 2006 org Eanni eann zan 2001 var den siste boka av Nils Aslak Valkeap 1943 2001 som ble publisert mens han levde Den er n gjendiktet til engelsk av Harald Gaski Lars Nordstr m og Ralph Salisbury The Earth My Mother The Earth My Mother has at long last joined The Sun My Father The Earth My Mother originally published as Eanni eann zan in 2001 became Nils Aslak Valkeap's 1943 2001 final book Harald Gaski Lars Nordstr m and Ralph Salisbury have once more translated one of the author's major literary works into English The Sun My Father 1997 originally published as Beaivi hc zan 1988 won the Nordic Council's Literature Prize in 1991 In this new translation the Sami perspective has been expanded to embrace indigenous people around the world The Sami stood in the center of The Sun My Father while the speaker in The Earth My Mother travels far and wide to visit jungles and deserts and their indigenous peoples It is always clear that the speaker comes as a guest and he does not pretend to be like them even though he registers kindred values and ways of life The book combines poetry original art work as well as color and black and white photographs a composition technique that reflects Nils Aslak Valkeap's unique creative aesthetic In this book the indigenous peoples voices are expressed through poetry and imagery The contrasts between insight and primitiveness in the traditional western sense of these words are transformed into a message about humanity's relationship to the earth something which we all depend on for our existence As part of this there is also a cosmic and religious dimension of indigenous peoples faith and gratitude for everything that makes life beautiful and good The images are in addition to the author's personal photographs and paintings collected from various archives and photographers

Nature and Culture in the Northern Forest Pavel Cenkl, 2010-03-15 Nearly 30 million acres of the Northern Forest stretch across New York Vermont New Hampshire and Maine Within this broad area live roughly a million residents whose lives are intimately associated with the forest ecosystem and whose individual stories are closely linked to the region's cultural and environmental history The fourteen engaging essays in Nature and Culture in the Northern Forest effectively explore the relationships among place work and community in this complex landscape Together they serve as a stimulating introduction to the interdisciplinary study of this unique region Each of the four sections views through a different lens the interconnections between place and people The essayists in Encounters have their hiking boots on as they focus on personal encounters with flora and fauna of the region The energizing accounts in Teaching and Learning question our assumptions about education and scholarship by proposing invigorating collaborations between teachers and students in ways determined by the land itself not by the abstractions of pedagogy With the freshness of Thoreau's irreverence the authors in Rethinking Place look at key figures in the forest's literary and cultural development to help us think about the affiliations between place and citizenship In Nature as Commodity three essayists consider the ways that writers from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries thought about nature as a product and thus how their conclusions bear on the contemporary retailing of place The writers in Nature and Culture in the Northern Forest reveal the rich affinities between a specific place and the literature thought and other cultural expressions it has nurtured Their insightful and stimulating connections exemplify adventurous bioregional thinking that encompasses both natural and cultural realities while staying rooted in the particular landscape of some of the Northeast's wildest forests and oldest settlements

Song and Significance Dinda L. Gorlée, 2005 Vocal translation is an old art but the interpretive feeling skill and craft have expanded into a relatively new area in translation studies Vocal translation is the translation of the poetic discourse in the hybrid art of the musicopoetic or poeticomusical forms shapes and skills This symbiotic construct harmonizes together the conflicting roles of music and language in face to face singing performances In opera folksong hymn and art song as well as in operetta musical song and popular song we have musical genres allied to a libretto with lyrical text A libretto is a linguistic text which is a pre existing work of art but is subordinated to the musical text The essays in this volume provide interpretive models for the juxtaposition of different orders of the singing sign events in different languages extending the meaning and range of the musical and literary concepts and putting the mixed signs to a true and false test
