The First Hollywood Musical Edwin M. Bradley, 2004-08-25 As Hollywood entered the sound era it was rightly determined that the same public fascinated by the novelty of the talkie would be dazzled by the spectacle of a song and dance film In 1929 and 1930 film musicals became the industry's most lucrative genre until the greedy studios almost killed the genre by glutting the market with too many films that looked and sounded like clones of each other From the classy movies such as Sunnyside Up and Hallelujah to failures such as The Lottery Bride and Howdy Broadway this filmography details 171 early Hollywood musicals Arranged by subgenre backstagers operettas college films and stage derived musical comedies the entries include studio release date cast and credits running time a complete song list any recordings spawned by the film Academy Award nominations and winners and availability on video or laserdisc These data are followed by a plot synopsis including analysis of the film's place in the genre's history Includes over 90 photographs

Musicmakers of Network Radio Jim Cox, 2014-01-10 Before television radio was the sole source of simultaneous mass entertainment in America The medium served as launching pad for the careers of countless future stars of stage and screen Singers and conductors became legends by offering musical entertainment directly to Americans in their homes vehicles and places of work and play This volume presents biographies of 24 renowned performers who spent a significant portion of their careers in front of a radio microphone Profiles of individuals like Steve Allen Rosemary Clooney Bob Crosby Johnny Desmond Jo Stafford and Percy Faith along with groups such as the Ink Spots and the King's Men reveal the private lives behind the public personas and bring to life the icons and ambiance of a bygone era

Alice Faye Jane Lenz Elder, 2009-10-20 Alice Faye's sweet demeanor sultry glances and velvety voice were her signatures Her haunting rendition of You'll Never Know has never been surpassed by any other singer Fans adored her in such films as Alexander's Ragtime Band, Rose of Washington Square, Tin Pan Alley, Week End in Havana and Hello Frisco Hello. In the 1930s and 1940s she reigned as queen of 20th Century Fox musicals. She co-starred with such legends as Shirley Temple, Tyrone Power, Carmen Miranda and Don Ameche and was voted the number one box office attraction of 1940, placing ahead of Bette Davis and Myrna Loy. To a select cult she remains a beloved star. In 1945 at the pinnacle of her career she chose to walk out on her Fox contract. This remarkable episode is unlike any other in the heyday of the big studio system. Her daring departure from films left Fox mogul Darryl F. Zanuck and the rest of the movie industry flabbergasted. For years she had skirmished with him over her roles, her health and her private life. His heavy-handed film editing of her fine work in Otto Preminger's drama Fallen Angel, a role she had fought for, relegated Faye to the shadows so that Zanuck could showcase the younger Linda Darnell. After leaving Fox, Faye, 1915-1998, devoted herself to her marriage to radio star Phil Harris, to motherhood and to a second career on radio in the Phil Harris-Alice Faye Show, broadcast for eight years. She happily gave up films in favor of the independence and self-esteem that she discovered in private life. She willingly freed herself of the star treatment that debilitated so many of her contemporaries. In the 1980s she emerged as a spokeswoman for Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, touring America to encourage senior citizens to make their lives more meaningful and vital. Before Betty Grable, before Marilyn Monroe, Alice Faye was first in the lineup of 20th Century Fox blondes. This book captures her special essence, her work in film, radio and popular music and indeed her graceful survival beyond the silver screen.

Television Program Master Index Charles V. Dintrone, 1996. Television history has become one of the hottest areas of research in popular culture. Because the field is relatively new and so wide-ranging, no matter what one is researching, much of the relevant material will be found scattered through numerous other works, frustrating scholarly progress. This work makes the television researcher's job easier by providing a single index to 341 books that include information on 1,002 shows. Most of the books deal exclusively with television, though some autobiographies, biographies, Congressional hearings and works on communication and the media are also indexed. For a show to be included, it must have been carried on NBC, CBS, ABC or Fox and must have been a series. Shows on PBS are generally not included, though exceptions have been made for Sesame Street and Mister Rogers' Neighborhood.

Renegades, Showmen & Angels Jan Jones, 2006. Jan Jones' second volume on Fort Worth's theatrical heritage presents for the first time a richly illustrated, comprehensive history of the showmen, performers, theaters and events that shaped the city's theatrical fortunes in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Jones chronicles the early amateur theatricals of the 1870s, the development of Hell's Half Acre with its many variety theaters and honky-tonks and the opening of Evans Hall, the town's first legitimate theater. By 1883, far-sighted civic leaders had completed the Fort Worth Opera House, and by 1886 the city had joined the touring circuit of Galveston showman Henry Greenwall. Under Greenwall's aegis, many of the era's leading players appeared in the city, including Edwin Booth and Sarah Bernhardt. The Texas Spring Palace exhibitions of 1889 and 1890 brought national acclaim and did much to alter perceptions of the community as a
