Words and Images on the Screen Ágnes Pethő, 2009-03-26 The screen has never been merely a canvas for the images to be displayed but also to quote Jean Luc Godard a blank page a surface for inscriptions and a stage for all kinds of linguistic occurrences be their audible or visual Word did not come into the world of cinema at the time of the talkies but has been a primordial medial companion that has shaped the cinematic experience from its very beginnings This volume offers a collection of essays that question the role of words and images in the context of moving pictures covering a wide area of their interconnectedness How can we analyse literary adaptations What is the role of adaptations in the evolution of specific national cinemas In what way are written texts used in films Is the model of the word and image relations used in silent films still applicable today What major paradigms can be discerned within the multiplicity of ways Jean Luc Godard s cinema plays with words and images Are these models of modernist or postmodern cinema reflected in films of other directors like R W Fassbinder How do avant garde works deal with the word and image debate What are the connections of animation or computer games with verbal text and narrative What is the phenomenon of jet setting and how does it connect to the ideological implications of the relations between the culture of books and films What happens when Hamlet is completely rewritten reflecting the ideology of late capitalism What happens from the point of view of literariness or rejection of literariness when films are made vehicles of national propaganda How do words get mediated through images These are some of the questions addressed in the present volume by in depth case studies of cinematic intermediality or more general surveys regarding cinema s long lasting liaisons with language or literature

Image and Identity R. Bruce Elder, 2006-01-01 What do images of the body which recent poets and filmmakers have given us tell us about ourselves about the way we think and about the culture in which we live In his new book A Body of Vision R Bruce Elder situates contemporary poetic and cinematic body images in their cultural context Elder examines how recent artists have tried to recognize and to convey primordial forms of experiences He proposes the daring thesis that in their efforts to do so artists have resorted to gnostic models of consciousness He argues that the attempt to convey these primordial modes of awareness demands a different conception of artistic meaning from any of those that currently dominate contemporary critical discussion By reworking theories and speech in highly original ways Elder formulates this new conception The works of Brakhage Artaud Schneeman Cohen and others lie naked under Elder s razor sharp dissecting knife and he exposes the essence of their work cutting deeply into the themes and theses from which the works are derived His remarks on the gaps in contemporary critical practices will likely become the focus of much debate

Bruce Nauman Adi Louria Hayon, 2024-05-06 To date scholars explored Bruce Nauman s oeuvre through various perspectives concepts and premises including linguistics performance power and knowledge sound the political and more

Amidst this vast and rich field Nauman's pieces have been regarded by critics in terms of systematic skepticism tragic skepticism skepticism of the medium and linguistic doubt This book methodically analyzes the notion of performative skepticism and its relevance to various dimensions of Bruce Nauman's post minimalist artistic practice It is argued that Nauman performs the perpetual failure of perception hence demonstrating its doubtful validity to produce certain knowledge without allowing a resolution This kind of skepticism here called performative skepticism exposes the impossibility of epistemological equipment to produce knowledge and the impossibility of attaining certainty in bridging the gap between knowledge and the real

One Hundred Years of Canadian Cinema George Melnyk, 2004-01-01 Melnyk argues passionately that Canadian cinema has never been a singular entity but has continued to speak in the languages and in the voices of Canada's diverse population

Consuming Architecture Daniel Maudlin, Marcel Vellinga, 2014-03-05 Projecting forward in time from the processes of design and construction that are so often the focus of architectural discourse Consuming Architecture examines the variety of ways in which buildings are consumed after they have been produced focusing in particular on processes of occupation appropriation and interpretation Drawing on contributions by architects historians anthropologists literary critics artists film makers photographers and journalists it shows how the consumption of architecture is a dynamic and creative act that involves the creation and negotiation of meanings and values by different stakeholders and that can be expressed in different voices In so doing it challenges ideas of what constitutes architecture architectural discourse and architectural education how we understand and think about it and who can claim ownership of it Consuming Architecture is aimed at students in architectural education and will also be of interest to students and researchers from disciplines that deal with architecture in terms of consumption and material culture
