First Fruits of Freedom Janette Thomas Greenwood,2010-03-01 A moving narrative that offers a rare glimpse into the lives of African American men women and children on the cusp of freedom First Fruits of Freedom chronicles one of the first collective migrations of blacks from the South to the North during and after the Civil War Janette Thomas Greenwood relates the history of a network forged between Worcester County Massachusetts and eastern

North Carolina as a result of Worcester regiments taking control of northeastern North Carolina during the war White soldiers from Worcester a hotbed of abolitionism protected refugee slaves set up schools for them and led them north at war's end White patrons and a supportive black community helped many migrants fulfill their aspirations for complete emancipation and facilitated the arrival of additional family members and friends Migrants established a small black community in Worcester with a distinctive southern flavor But even in the North white sympathy did not continue after the Civil War Despite their many efforts black Worcesterites were generally disappointed in their hopes for full fledged citizenship reflecting the larger national trajectory of Reconstruction and its aftermath

How Curious a Land Jonathan M. Bryant, 2014-07-01 The story of the Civil War and Reconstruction in Greene County Georgia is a remarkable tale of both fundamental change and essential continuity In How Curious a Land Jonathan Bryant follows the county's social economic and legal transformation from a wealthy self sufficient plantation economy based on slavery to a largely impoverished economically dependent community dominated by a new commercial class of merchants and lawyers Emancipated slaves made up two thirds of the county's population at the end of the Civil War and thanks to an able charismatic and politically active leadership they enjoyed early success in pressing for their rights But their gains says Bryant were only temporary because the white elite retained control of the legal system and used it effectively against blacks Law also helped shape the course of economic change as for example postbellum laws designed to benefit the new commercial elite ensured poverty for most of the county's small farmers both black and white by relegating them to the status of sharecroppers and tenants As a result the county's wealth though greatly diminished in the postbellum years remained concentrated in the hands of a small elite
