The Dilemmas Of Lone Motherhood Essays From Feminist Economics:

The Dilemmas of Lone Motherhood Randy Albelda, Sue Himmelweit, Jane Humphries, 2013-09-13 In today's society women having entered the workplace in growing numbers worldwide are increasingly expected to earn wages whilst still being primarily responsible for raising children. While all parents confront the tensions of this double burden for lone mothers the situation can be especially acute as there is no other adult to share responsibilities and no access to a male wage. The revealing essays in this volume address a range of the dilemmas lone mothers routinely face whilst also distinguishing important situational differences and considering other social perspectives. It asks: How can governments help without undermining their ability to enter the workforce? Should the state indefinitely support lone mothers? How should we measure the success of a policy? What roles do ethnicity, race, religion, class and sexual orientation play? The impressive range of contributors to this volume speak from numerous contrasting perspectives. Here they study a variety of international settings such as Sri Lanka, the US, Germany, England and Norway and in so doing they allow the reader to draw powerful conclusions by comparing such issues and potential resolutions in varying countries and contexts. This book was previously published as a special issue of Feminist Economics.

The Routledge Companion to Motherhood Lynn O'Brien Hallstein, Andrea O'Reilly, Melinda Giles, 2019-11-04 Interdisciplinary and intersectional in emphasis, the Routledge Companion to Motherhood brings together essays on current intellectual themes, issues and debates while also creating a foundation for future scholarship and study as the field of Motherhood Studies continues to develop globally. This Routledge Companion is the first extensive collection on the wide-ranging topics, themes, issues and debates that ground the intellectual work being done on motherhood. Global in scope and including a range of disciplinary perspectives including anthropology, literature, communication studies, sociology, women's and gender studies, history and economics, this volume introduces the foundational topics and ideas in motherhood, delineates the diversity and complexity of mothering and also stimulates dialogue among scholars and students approaching from divergent backgrounds and intellectual perspectives. This will become a foundational text for academics in Women's and Gender Studies and interdisciplinary researchers interested in this important, complex and rapidly growing topic. Scholars of psychology, sociology or public policy and activists in both university and workplace settings interested in motherhood and mothering will find it an invaluable guide.

Working-Class Courtship, Marriage, and Divorce in Scotland, 1855-1939 Eleanor Gordon, Jeff Meek, Katie Barclay, 2025-10-25 This is the first book-length study of the history of working-class courtship and marriage in Scotland from the establishment of civil registration to the introduction in 1939 of legislation which abolished irregular marriage and introduced civil marriage. Adopting a life-course approach, the book explores the social, economic and cultural contexts of romantic partnerships from courtship through to marital or family dissolution. Drawing from a wide range of sources that capture official accounts and discourses on the one hand and the testimony and experience of working-class people on the other, the book offers a uniquely broad and textured view of courtship and marriage in this period In so doing it advances recent historiographical debates surrounding marriage in the Anglophone world particularly the mutability of love and whether the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries constituted a social and cultural turning point for the working classes in terms of choice of marriage partner the nature of the marital relationship and the parent child relationship The book also engages with debates about extra marital sexual activity in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries whether the family was more or less stable than the contemporary family and the different ways that marriages broke down before the advent of divorce reform This has important implications for wider European and North American historiography and raises timely questions about the primacy of the traditional family in policy and public discourse

Reshaping the Holy Elora Shehabuddin,2008 Through extensive field research Elora Shehabuddin explores the profound implications of women s political and social mobilization for reshaping Islam Specifically she examines the lives of Muslim women in Bangladesh who have become increasingly mobilized by the activities of predominantly secular NGOs yet who desire to retain reclaim and reshape rather than reject their faith In their employment and in their interactions with the legal system the state NGOs and political and religious groups women are changing state practices views of women in the public sphere and the nature of lived Islam itself In contrast to most work on Islam and Muslims which has focused on the Middle East and has privileged the study of religious and legal texts this book redirects our attention to South Asia home to one of the largest Muslim populations in the world and emphasizes the actual experiences of Muslims Women and gender as well as Bangladesh s formally democratic context are central to this inquiry and analysis
