Vulnerability and Human Rights Bryan S. Turner, 2010-12-31 The mass violence of the twentieth century's two world wars followed more recently by decentralized and privatized warfare manifested in terrorism ethnic cleansing and other localized forms of killing has led to a heightened awareness of human beings vulnerability and the precarious nature of the institutions they create to protect themselves from violence and exploitation This vulnerability something humans share amid the diversity of cultural beliefs and values that mark their differences provides solid ground on which to construct a framework of human rights Bryan Turner undertakes this task here developing a sociology of rights from a sociology of the human body His blending of empirical research with normative analysis constitutes an important step forward for the discipline of sociology Like anthropology sociology has traditionally eschewed the study of justice as beyond the limits of a discipline that pays homage to cultural relativism and the value neutrality of positivistic science Turner s expanded approach accordingly involves a truly interdisciplinary dialogue with the literature of economics law medicine philosophy political science and religion

Human Performance, Situation Awareness, and Automation Dennis A. Vincenzi, Mustapha Mouloua, Peter A. Hancock, 2005-01-06 In 2000 the Conference on Automation joined forces with a partner group on situation awareness SA The rising complexity of systems demands that one can be aware of a large range of environmental and task based stimulation in order to match what is done with what has to be done Thus SA and automation based interaction fall naturally together and this conference is the second embodiment of this union Moving into the 21st century further diversification of the applications of automation will continue for example the revolution in genetic technology Given the broad nature of this form of human machine interaction it is vital to apply past lessons to map a future for the symbiotic relationship between humans and the artifacts they create It is as part of this ongoing endeavor that the present volume is offered
