The Social Construction of Communities Gerald D. Suttles,1972      The Social Construction of Communities Mark D. Varien,James M. Potter,2008-08-15 The Social Construction of Communities draws on archaeological research in the Southwest to examine how communities are created through social interaction The archaeological record of the Southwest is important for its precise dating exceptional preservation large number of sites and length of occupation making it most intensively researched archaeological regions in the world Taking advantage of that rich archaeological record the contributors to this volume present case studies of the Mesa Verde Rio Grande Kayenta Mogollon and Hohokam regions The result is an enhanced understanding of the ancient Southwest a new appreciation for the ways in which humans construct communities and transform society and an expanded theoretical discussion of the foundational concepts of modern social theory      The Social Construction of Community Nursing Anne Kelly,Anthea Symonds,2017-03-14 At a time of great change the moves towards a primary healthcare led NHS are challenging nurses to rethink their roles organisation and strategy This book combines an analysis of policies which have shaped community nursing from the 19th century with an exploration of recent trends and developments Illustrated throughout with examples of present responses to current policies this book will be invaluable for all community nurses both practising and student as well as for policy makers and sociologists      The Social Construction of Community Care Anthea Symonds,Anne Kelly,1998-11-11 This book represents a new development in the discussion of community care policies with its integrated approach addressed to both community nurses and social workers It includes contributions from practitioners in both fields as well as lecturers and researchers in sociology and social policy The overall theme of the book is the concept of community as a social and cultural construction The authors begin with an account of the historical construction of community care followed by explorations of the actual practice of the delivery of care and of the needs of particular groups within the community      The Catholic Faith and the Social Construction of Religion Peter Stuart,Allan M. Savage,2011-09-02 The intent behind this book is to provide grist for the mill for research students and other interested readers Chapter one by author Allan Savage presents an understanding of the social construction of religious activity which maintains that social construction of religion arises from a dialectical engagement within the world from a phenomenological philosophical point of view Co author Peter Stuart presents a classical and traditional point of view and readers expecting academic accord between the authors will be disappointed A further rationale for writing this book is that both Savage and Stuart desire to express their personal convictions in the public forum Both have interests in the ebb and flow of civilization especially as it pertains to the place of faith religion politics and a variety of social phenomena including economics culture gender ethnicity and the family as well as the ebb and flow of money power property and prestige as articulated throughout history They believe that writing about the place of faith and religion in French Canada is crucial if one is to understand the place that this keystone civilization occupies within confederation and its enduring ambivalence regarding its belonging or not to Canada

The Social Construction of Virtue George W.

Noblitt, Van O. Dempsey, 1996-09-26 It's time to face an inevitable conclusion School reform does not reform schools That's because reform movements conceive of schools as being about transmitting knowledge Yet schools are not primarily about knowledge They are about the construction of meaning and morality in the lives of students and communities In this book the authors argue that to break this recycling of reform efforts we must understand how schools construct moral life The focus is on two elementary schools Rougemont an historically African American school that was closed during school desegregation in the 1970s and Cedar Grove an historically white school to which the former Rougemont students were sent Described are the histories of these schools the communities in which they are located and some of the people who influenced and were influenced by the schools From those contexts the authors then make explicit the virtues that these communities and schools constructed and valued and describe how those virtues came to influence lives The oral histories of the two schools and their communities provide the basis of a novel critique of the value conflict that has characterized educational reform in this country The social construction of virtue offers an alternative perspective on the moral purpose of schooling in America
