Genes in Development Eva M. challenge the concept of the gene alone as the dominant factor in biological development Increasingly aware of the tension between certain empirical results and interpretations of those results based on the orthodox view of genetic determinism a growing number of scientists urge a rethinking of what a gene is and how it works In this collection a group of internationally renowned scientists present some prominent alternative approaches to understanding the role of dna in the construction and function of biological organisms Contributors discuss alternatives to the programmatic view of dna including the developmental systems approach methodical culturalism the molecular process concept of the gene the hermeneutic theory of description and process structuralist biology None of the approaches cast doubt on the notion that dna is tremendously important to biological life on earth rather contributors examine different ideas of how dna should be represented evaluated and explained Just as ideas about genetic codes have reached far beyond the realm of science the reconceptualizations of genetic theory in this volume have broad implications for ethics philosophy and the social sciences Contributors Thomas B rglin Brian C Goodwin James Griesemer Paul Griffiths Jesper Hoffmeyer Evelyn Fox Keller Gerd B M ller Eva M Neumann Held Stuart A Newman Susan Oyama Christoph Rehmann Sutter Sahotra Sarkar Jackie Leach Scully Gerry Webster Ulrich Wolf

Making Human Beings Human Urie Bronfenbrenner, 2005 Making Human Beings Human: Bioecological Perspectives on Human Development is a landmark collection that traces and summarizes Urie Bronfenbrenner's thoughts on the bioecological theory of human development and recommends avenues for future research. The majority of the twenty-three retrospective articles were written by Bronfenbrenner while some were written with colleagues in his own or related fields over the course of six decades. The book's articles document the domain of inquiry that has emerged gradually over many years and has now acquired a title of its own: the bioecological theory of human development. Making Human Beings Human is a culminating work by a prominent figure in the field of human development and will help to shape the future of the field.
