The Fat Of The Land Proceedings Of The Oxford Symposium On Food And Cookery :

The Fat of the Land Harlan Walker, 2003 Proceedings of the Oxford Symposium on Food and Cooking for the year 2002 The subject is The Fat of the Land Food and Architecture Samantha L. Martin-McAuliffe, 2016-09-22 Food and Architecture is the first book to explore the relationship between these two fields of study and practice Bringing together leading voices from both food studies and architecture it provides a ground breaking cross disciplinary analysis of two disciplines which both rely on a combination of creativity intuition taste and science but have rarely been engaged in direct dialogue Each of the four sections Regionalism Sustainability Craft and Authenticity focuses on a core area of overlap between food and architecture Structured around a series of conversations between chefs culinary historians and architects each theme is explored through a variety of case studies ranging from pig slaughtering and farmhouses in Greece to authenticity and heritage in American cuisine Drawing on a range of approaches from both disciplines methodologies include practice based research literary analysis memoir and narrative The end of each section features a commentary by Samantha Martin McAuliffe which emphasizes key themes and connections This compelling book is invaluable reading for students and scholars in food studies and architecture as well as practicing chefs and architects Tastes and Temptations John L. Varriano, 2009 John Varriano's book is not only a delightful read but draws fascinating parallels between two hitherto disparate fields art history and the history of food in the Renaissance Outstanding scholarship that opens whole new venues of inquiry Ken Albala author of Eating Right in the Renaissance and Beans A History Art history and food history have traditionally been separate disciplines parallel universes In this book John Varriano makes a cosmic leap and lures the two into a stimulating provocative and always entertaining study a tasting menu of gastronomic and visual delights Gillian Riley author of The Oxford Companion to Italian Food With wit and erudition John Varriano shows us how broad cultural relationships can be drawn between the developments of Italian Renaissance art and the period's growing and changing interest in food Enlightening and fascinating details greatly enhance our understanding of the roles that taste and temptation played in creating the early modern world David G Wilkins co editor of History of Italian Renaissance Art Appetites for palate and palette are both whetted in Varriano's urbane and thoroughly magisterial study What could be more satisfying than to feast on food and art together at the same historic table Patrick Hunt author of Renaissance Visions This Mortal Coil Fay Bound Alberti, 2016 With wit insight and earthy wisdom a book that explores the nature of the self the relationship between the brain and the heart the gendering of our physical and emotional selves and the struggle to accommodate mind and body emotions and experience Culinary Linguistics Cornelia Gerhardt, Maximiliane Frobenius, Susanne Ley, 2013-07-04 Language and food are universal to humankind Language accomplishes more than a pure exchange of information and food caters for more than mere subsistence Both represent crucial sites for socialization identity construction and the everyday fabrication and perception of the world as a meaningful orderly place This volume on Culinary Linguistics contains an introduction to the study of food and an extensive overview of the literature focusing on its role in interplay with language. It is the only publication fathoming the field of food and food related studies from a linguistic perspective. The research articles assembled here encompass a number of linguistic fields ranging from historical and ethnographic approaches to literary studies, the teaching of English as a foreign language, psycholinguistics, and the study of computer mediated communication, making this volume compulsory reading for anyone interested in genres of food discourse and the linguistic connection between food and culture. Eating and Being Steven Shapin, 2024-11-20. What we eat, who we are, and the relationship between the two. Eating and Being is a history of Western thinking about food, eating, knowledge, and ourselves. In modern thought, eating is about what is good for you, not about what is good. Eating is about health, not about virtue. Yet this has not always been the case. For a great span of the past, from antiquity through about the middle of the eighteenth century, one of the most pervasive branches of medicine was known as dietetics, prescribing not only what people should eat but also how they should order many aspects of their lives, including sleep, exercise, and emotional management. Dietetics did not distinguish between the medical and the moral, nor did it acknowledge the difference between what was good for you and what was good. Dietetics counseled moderation in all things, where moderation was counted as a virtue as well as the way to health. But during the nineteenth century, nutrition science began to replace the language of traditional dietetics with the vocabulary of proteins, fats, carbohydrates, and calories, and the medical and the moral went their separate ways. Steven Shapin shows how much depended upon that shift, and he also explores the extent to which the sensibilities of dietetics have been lost. Throughout this rich history, he evokes what it felt like to eat during another historical period and invites us to reflect on what it means to feel about food as we now do. Shapin shows how the change from dietetics to nutrition science fundamentally altered how we think about our food, our bodies, and our minds.

PIG/PORK Pía Spry-Marqués, 2017-07-13. Exploring the love-hate relationship between humans and pigs through the lenses of archaeology, biology, history, and gastronomy. Pigs unite and divide people, but why? Pig Pork presents a close and affectionate look at the myriad causes underlying this singular, multi-millennial bond. What is it that people in all four corners of the world find so fascinating about the pig? When did the human obsession with pigs begin, how did it develop through time, and where is it heading? Why are pigs so special to some of us but not to others? Pig Pork sets out to answer these and other porcine-related questions, examining human-pig interactions across the globe through time, from the Palaeolithic to the present day. The book dissects pig anatomy and behaviour and describes how this knowledge plays a major role in the advance of the agricultural and medical sciences, among others. The book also looks closely at the history of pig-human interaction, how they were domesticated, and when/how they affected human history through their diseases, and how they have been involved in centuries of human conflicts, with particular reference to the story of the Iberian Jews and Muslims at the time of the Inquisition. The book goes on to look at how pigs' characteristics and our relationship with them have combined to produce many of the world's great dishes. All this is accompanied by a liberal peppering of pork recipes and the stories behind them along with facts, wisdom and porker lore providing a thought provoking account of where our food comes from both historically and agriculturally and how this continues to influence many parts of our behaviour and culture. The Metamorphosis of Greek Cuisine Nafsika Papacharalampous, 2023-11-10. This book is an ethnography of the metamorphosis of rural foods and traditional dishes and of the making of cuisine and identity in contemporary Athens. In the wake of the financial crisis in Athens in the mid 2010s forgotten rural foods of the past are transformed into luxurious artisanal foods while traditional dishes appear reinvented in fine dining restaurants after decades of darkness. How and why is this all happening in a city of poverty, hardship and economic crisis? Through sensory descriptions and thick ethnographic material it follows the Athenian affluent middle class in upscale delis and goes inside fine dining restaurant kitchens discussing the complex combination of cuisine, tradition, memory and identity, revealing the cultural logic and social aspects of cuisine. It demonstrates how cuisine emerges from very different, often contradictory social spaces not only as an intellectual and aesthetic endeavour of chefs or as a revival of foods and foodways that link the country and the city but also as interlinked with embodied memories and embedded in social relations and commensality. This book will be of great interest to scholars and students in Anthropology and Food Studies. Real Food Nina Planck, 2016-05-10. Hailed as the patron saint of farmers markets by the Guardian and called one of the great food activists by Vanity Fair's David Kamp, Nina Planck was on the vanguard of the real food movement and her first book remains a vital and original contribution to the hot debate about what to eat and why. In lively personal chapters on produce, dairy, meat, fish, chocolate and other real foods, Nina explains how ancient foods like beef and butter have been falsely accused while industrial foods like corn syrup and soybean oil have created a triple epidemic of obesity, diabetes and heart disease. The New York Times said that Real Food poses a convincing alternative to the prevailing dietary guidelines even those treated as gospel. A rebuttal to dietary fads and a clarion call for the return to old-fashioned foods, Real Food no longer seems radical if only because the conversation has caught up to Nina Planck. Indeed, it has become gospel in its own right. This special tenth anniversary edition includes a foreword by Nina Teicholz, The Big Fat Surprise, and a new introduction from the author. Moral Transformation in Greco-Roman Philosophy of Mind Max J. Lee, 2020-04-15. Max J. Lee examines the philosophies of Platonism and Stoicism during the Greco-Roman era and their rivals including Diaspora Judaism and Pauline Christianity on how to transform a person's character from vice to virtue. He describes each philosophical school's respective teachings on diverse moral topoi such as emotional control, ethical action and habit, character formation, training, mentorship and deity provided by publisher.
