The Film A Psychological Study The Silent Photoplay In 1916:

The Film Hugo Münsterberg, Richard Griffith, 2004-01-01 In 1916 an eminent psychologist recorded his impressions of the fledgling film industry His penetrating and prescient observations foretold the most modern developments of the cinematic art and his classic survey The Film A Psychological Study remains a text of enduring relevance to movie historians as well as students of film and psychology Ranging from considerations of the viewer's perception of on screen depth and motion to examinations of the cinema's distinguishing and unique characteristics as an art form this study arrives at strikingly modern conclusions about movies and their psychological values The Film : a Psychological Study Hugo

Münsterberg, 1970 Film (the); a psychological study; the silent photoplay in 1916 Hugo Münsterberg, 1970 The Film Hugo Münsterberg, 1970 Stereoscopic Cinema and the Origins of 3-D Film, 1838-1952 Ray Zone, 2014-04-23

From stereoview cards to large format IMAX films 3 D technology's heightened realism and powerful visual allure have held audiences captive for over a century and a half The technology known as stereoscopy creates an illusion of depth by presenting two slightly different images to the eye in print or on screen The advent of stereoscopic film technology excited both filmmakers and audiences as a means of replicating all of the sounds colors movement and dimensionality of life and nature for the first time The origins of 3 D film are often linked with a proliferation of stereoscopic films in the 1950s By the time films like Man in the Dark and House of Wax was attracting large crowds however the technology behind this form of filmmaking was already over a century old Stereoscopic Cinema and the Origins of 3 D Film 1838 1952 examines this novelty period of stereoscopic film charting its progression from Charles Wheatstone's 1938 discovery of 3 D to the 1952 release of Arch Oboler's innovative film Bwana Devil Stereoscopic specialist Ray Zone argues that the development of stereoscopic film can best be understood through a historical analysis of the technology rather than of its inventors Zone examines the products used to create stereoscopic images noting such milestones as David Brewster's and Oliver Wendell Holmes's work with stereoscopes the use of polarizing image selection and the success of twin strip 3 D films among others In addition Zone looks at the films produced up to 1952 discussing public reception of early 3 D short films as well as longer features such as Power of Love in single strip anaglyphic projection in 1922 and Semyon Ivanov's 1941 autostereoscope Robinson Crusoe He integrates his examination of the evolution of 3 D film with other cinematic developments demonstrating the connection between stereoscopic motion pictures and modern film production Stereoscopic Cinema and the Origins of 3 D Film 1838 1952 is an exhaustive study of not only the evolution of 3 D technology and the subsequent filmmaking achievements but also the public response to and cultural impact of 3 D movies Zone takes the reader on a voyage of discovery into the rich history of a field that predates photography and that continues to influence television and computer animation today Early Cinema in Russia and its Cultural Reception Yuri Tsivian, 2013-12-13 This book examines the development of cinematic form and culture in Russia from its late nineteenth century beginnings as a fairground attraction to the early post

Revolutionary years The author traces the changing perceptions of cinema and its social transition from a modernist invention to a national art form He explores reactions to the earliest films from actors novelists poets writers and journalists His richly detailed study of the physical elements of cinematic performance includes the architecture and illumination of the cinema foyer the speed of projection and film acoustics In contrast to standard film histories this book focuses on reflected images rather than discussing films and film makers it features the historical film goer and early writings on film The book presents a vivid and changing picture of cinema culture in Russia in the twilight of the tsarist era and the first decades of the twentieth century The study expands the whole context of reception studies and opens up questions about reception relevant to other national cinemas

Derek Jarman and Lyric Film Steven Dillon,2004-04-01 Derek Jarman was the most important independent filmmaker in England during the 1980s Using emblems and symbols in associative contexts rather than conventional cause and effect narrative he created films noteworthy for their lyricism and poetic feeling and for their exploration of the gay experience His style of filmmaking also links Jarman with other prominent directors of lyric film including Pier Paolo Pasolini Andrei Tarkovsky Jean Cocteau and Jean Genet This pathfinding book places Derek Jarman in the tradition of lyric film and offers incisive readings of all eleven of his feature length films from Sebastiane to Blue Steven Dillon looks at Jarman and other directors working in a similar vein to establish how lyric films are composed through the use of visual imagery and actual poetry He then traces Jarman s use of imagery notably mirrors and the sea in his films and discusses in detail the relationship between cinematic representations and sexual identity This insightful reading of Jarman s work helps us better understand how films such as The Last of England and The Garden can be said to cohere and mean without being reduced to clear messages Above all Dillon s book reveals how truly beautiful and brilliant Jarman s movies are Picturing the Primitive A. Oksiloff,2016-04-30 Primitive Pictures explores the relationship between early German cinema and anthropology s fascination with primitive cultures At the core of this study is a mythic first contact between the camera and the non Western body The term that binds the two is the Primitive referring both to cultures ostensibly existing outside of modern Time and also to a way of seeing the world via the lens Asseka Oksiloff examines how the movie camera with its capacity to record reality in a supposedly direct fashion is legitimated by the primitive body in the first decades of the twentieth century From the earliest research footage to popularized adventure footage the film theory the primitive holds out the promise of a critical space that affirms modern technological vision A Companion to Early Cinema André Gaudreault, Nicolas Dulac, Santiago Hidalgo, 2012-07-17 A COMPANION TO EARLY CINEMA This collection of essays by early cinema scholars from Europe and North America offers manifold perspectives on early cinema fiction which perfectly reflect the state of international research Martin Loiperdinger Universitaet Trier A fabulous selection of first rate articles Rick Altman University of Iowa One of the most challenging books in recent film studies in it early cinema is both a historical object and a contemporary presence As in a great novel we can retrace the adventures of the past the films styles discourses and receptions that made cinema the breakthrough reality it was in its first decades But we can also come to appreciate how much of this reality is still present in our digital world Francesco Casetti Yale University A Companion to Early Cinema is an authoritative reference on the field of early cinema Its 30 peer reviewed chapters offer cutting edge research and original perspectives on the major concerns in early cinema studies and take an ambitious look at ideas and themes that will lead discussions about early cinema into the future Including work by both established and up and coming scholars in early cinema film theory and film history this will be the definitive volume on early cinema history for years to come and a must have reference for all those working in the field
