This e-book is compiled from papers presented at a prior PICMET conference, Portland International Conference on Engineering and Technology Management. The papers deal with several aspects of managing technological innovation. The first paper by Wei Wei et al examines strategic planning for technology management. The authors developed a model which is based on the capability maturity model (CMM) and fitness landscape theory. The next three papers study behavioral elements which need to be considered carefully in managing technological innovations. The second paper by Chen et al studied entrepreneurship by applying the Chinese entrepreneur aptitude scale to Taiwanese youth. The third paper again by Chen et al explores the relationship between supervisory support and work family conflict. The fourth paper by Lin explores the relationships in the workplace including R & D department. The final two papers present tools for evaluating technological innovations. Lin et al present a novel method of integrating multiple theories for forecasting technological innovations. Lai et al demonstrate use of an enhanced multi-criteria decision model for evaluation of research and development projects. London Access Richard Saul Wurman, 1994.
