Sugar And Related Sweetener Markets International Perspectives:

Sugar and Related Sweetener Markets Andrew Schmitz, 2002 Sugar is a major crop for many less developed countries but major barriers exist to its international trade Both the EU and US distort the world sugar market through various internal policies With the growth in production of other sweeteners such as high fructose corn syrup the controversy surrounding international sweetener markets has further increased This book addresses these issues and reviews world sweetener markets with particular chapters devoted to important players such as the US and EU as well as other producers such as Australia Brazil Cuba Eastern Europe and India Topics such as international trade negotiations trade liberalization US policy reform and regional integration in Latin America and the Caribbean are also addressed The World Sugar Market

Sergey Gudoshnikov, Lindsay Jolly, Donald Spence, 2004-07-01 Since the first book published by Woodhead on the global sugar business The international sugar trade was released in 1996 the world sugar market has undergone fundamental change Over the past decade the industry's key economic and policy drivers have created a new regional distribution of sugar production that has had an enormous impact on the price finding process as well as changing the type of sugar on offer to the world market Brazil has become a dominant supplier whilst Cuba's production has collapsed to the pre World War One level Russia has become the world's greatest importer and structural surpluses have seen stocks rise to historic highs and the world price fall to a level below the production costs of some of the most competitive exporters The world sugar market focuses on these changes by identifying describing and assessing the key industry drivers and their future potential impact on the market Part one provides an overview covering the history of sugar production and consumption cultivation of beet and cane and the current state of the market for sugar and alternative sweeteners Part two focuses on identifying describing and assessing the key market drivers both economic and political on sugar demand Part three is devoted to a similar analysis of sugar supply whilst part four covers the future for the sugar markets The world sugar market is aimed at a wide audience from the sugar specialist looking for in depth information on a specific topic to the newcomer needing to gain an overview of the current state of play and future for the world sugar market The book is published in collaboration with the International Sugar Organization whose statistics and studies are used extensively throughout Provides a comprehensive overview of this complex and rapidly changing business Written by three of the world's leading authorities on the global sugar industry and its economics Includes data from the International Sugar Organization Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries M. Ataman Aksoy, John C. Beghin, 2004-11-01 Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries presents research findings based on a series of commodity studies of significant economic importance to developing countries The book sets the stage with background chapters and investigations of cross cutting issues It then describes trade and domestic policy regimes affecting agricultural and food markets and assesses the resulting patterns of production and trade The book continues with an analysis of product standards and costs of compliance and their effects on agricultural and food trade The book also investigates the impact of preferences given to selected countries and their effectiveness then reviews the evidence on the attempts to decouple agricultural support from agricultural output The last background chapter explores the robustness of the global gains of multilateral agricultural and food trade liberalization Given this context the book presents detailed commodity studies for coffee cotton dairy fruits and vegetables groundnuts rice seafood products sugar and wheat These markets feature distorted policy regimes among industrial or middle income countries The studies analyze current policy regimes in key producing and consuming countries document the magnitude of these distortions and estimate the distributional impacts winners and losers of trade and domestic policy reforms By bringing the key issues and findings together in one place Global Agricultural Trade and Developing Countries aids policy makers and researchers both in their approach to global negotiations and in evaluating their domestic policies on agriculture The book also complements the recently published Agriculture and the WTO which focuses primarily on the agricultural issues within the context of the WTO negotiations

Sugar: Refined Power in a Global Regime B. Richardson, 2009-09-23 Sugar is a commonplace product with a complex background mainly because of the high degree of protectionism given to the industry and the benefits of ensuring domestic producers stay in business This book asks why there are such disagreements over trade policy who profits within the current regime and where power ultimately lies

Reinventing the Cuban Sugar Agroindustry Jorge F. Pérez-López, Jose Alvarez, 2005-01-01 The demise of the international socialist community led to a loss in preferential markets for Cuban sugar industry In response to the current crisis this volume gathers over a dozen recognized world experts on Cuban agroindustry to analyze specific topics and make recommendations that would reinvent the industry for effective transition to a free market environment

The Interpretation and Application of the European Convention of Human Rights Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Panos Merkouris, 2012-12-07 The Interpretation and Application of the European Convention of Human Rights Legal and Practical Implications offers an analysis of important legal issues pertaining not only to the ECHR itself but also to the effect that it has on and also receives from other areas of international law

Analysis of U.S.-Mexico Sugar Trade Daisuke Sano, 2010-08 This study examines U S Mexico sugar trade with special attention given to the impact of changes in trade and market environments caused by implementation of the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA and the introduction of high fructose corn syrup HFCS These two factors contributed to shaping sugar markets in the United States and Mexico as well as sugar trade between the two countries The study includes two sections 1 a description of the sugar markets from an historic point of view and 2 an empirical study forecasting the market and trade outlook In section one characteristics of the sugar industry and transition of the sugar markets brought by the two factors NAFTA and HFCS are presented Adoption of HFCS shaped the U S sweetener market in the 1980s and a similar phenomenon appears to be beginning in Mexico This is explained by not only income growth but also the provisions of NAFTA that facilitate U S HFCS to enter the Mexican market and restrict Mexican sugar to the U S market Although Mexico is promised favorable access to the U S market under NAFTA it has not been successful in exporting sugar rather the focus has been to suppress HFCS adoption in the domestic market Next an empirical study comprised of three analyses is presented Regression results from the market analysis showed that the estimated price elasticities for both sugar demand and supply are significant and inelastic These estimates are built into the second model that examines bilateral trade Results from simulations of the trade analysis indicate Mexico s HFCS adoption rate will determine the magnitude of Mexico s sugar export which consequently poses a significant influence on U S markets Also the way the U S government allocates quotas among exporters will have a significant impact particularly on the costs of the U S sugar program Game theory analysis is then used to assess what strategies the involved participants will prefer The results suggest that there will be a conflict of interests and that the U S HFCS industry may play an influential role in forming a sugar policy

Agricultural Trade Liberalization Marcos Sawaya Jank, Inter-American Development Bank, 2004 Agricultural Trade Liberalization investigates key issues in the Western Hemisphere including potential scenarios for liberalization at the regional and multilateral levels the effects of U S and European Union agricultural policies on trade and the outcomes that a Free Trade Area of the Americas and a European Union Mercosur trade agreement might have on agricultural trade flows The book also examines the impact of sanitary and phytosanitary measures and biotechnology on agricultural trade integration of sugar and dairy markets in the Americas and a comparison of agri food industries in the United States and Brazil Finally the book provides and overview of agricultural liberalization in the U S Central American Free Trade Agreement and suggests a food security typology to be utilized by the World Trade Organization BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

The Economic Impact of Public Support to Agriculture Virgil Ball, Roberto Fanfani, Luciano Gutierrez, 2010-07-27 Despite a gradual and sustained decline in the contribution of agriculture to the economies of the member countries of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD the sector remains socially and politically important Although agriculture accounts for less than 2% of the gross domestic product of the OECD countries it occupies over 35% of their total land area Predominantly rural regions where agriculture remains particularly important contain almost one quarter of the population of OECD countries The past quarter century has witnessed significant changes in agricultural policies in OECD countries Although total support remains high a shift has taken place from price linked measures to direct income support most notably in the European Union Policies have been adapted to meet pressing social concerns such as ensuring food security and improving environmental quality OECD countries face major economic issues due to the ageing of their populations and the need to adapt to globalization and increasing competition from emerging economies Continued pressure to reform agricultural policies will be exerted by the need to economize on the use of scarce public resources At the same time agriculture faces new challenges generated by climate change the greening of the economy increasing scarcity of energy and water and the demands placed on the food system by an expanding world
