

KNOW! How to Discuss Suicide

September is National Suicide Prevention Awareness Month. Suicide is the second leading cause of death for children, adolescents, and young adults ages 15 to 24. For young people, connection to supportive adults in their lives can act as a protective factor against suicide risk. Understanding how to talk about suicide is critical to developing that connection. However, it is often difficult to start a conversation about suicide and help someone who is experiencing suicidal thoughts.

The 988 Suicide and Crisis Line's #BeThe1To campaign offers 5 evidence-based action steps for communicating about suicide.

Step 1: Ask

Ask questions like "How are you feeling?", "Are you thinking about suicide?", and "How can I help?" Engaging in non-judgmental, supportive, and direct communication opens the door for an honest dialogue about their emotions. Be sure to listen calmly and take them seriously. Let them know that you understand and appreciate their courage in sharing something so difficult with you. Pay attention to the reasons that they are in pain as well as their own reasons for living.

Remember that the language you use matters. Stigma surrounding suicidal thoughts can prevent young people from seeking support. Avoid asking leading or shaming questions, like "You're not thinking of suicide, are you?" Instead, reassure them that there are no taboo thoughts and that you are a safe person.

Do not be afraid to directly ask if they are thinking of suicide or self-harm. It is a myth that talking about suicide will "plant the idea" in someone's head. In fact, acknowledging and discussing suicide can reduce suicidal ideation.

Step 2: Be There

Offer your physical presence, a phone call, or any way of showing that you support and care about the person at risk. Make sure that you follow through on your offer of support. Do not commit to anything that you are not able to accomplish. If you can't be there for them, talk with them about who might be an effective source of help. Being present for someone with thoughts of suicide saves lives. By increasing someone's sense of connectedness and reducing their isolation, being there for them helps to alleviate feelings of hopelessness and other risk factors.

Step 3: Keep them Safe

If they express thoughts of suicide, ask questions to better understand the severity of danger they are in: Have they tried to kill themselves before? Do they know how they would do it? Do they have a plan? What access do they have to their plan? If they indicate that they are in crisis, connect them with immediate resources like 988, the suicide prevention lifeline, or local crisis services. It is important to remember that, for many people, particularly people of color, people with disabilities, veterans, and members of the LGBTQIA+ community, these immediate resources may not be safe.
