Book Jacket Fishing Poems Karen Mulhallen, 2014-07 This ground breaking book by the renowned poet and magazine editor Karen Mulhallen concerns itself with the water the lakes and the oceans and the solitary pursuits like fishing which take us back to the beginnings of human life The further back we go the closer we are to the world of spirits manifesting themselves as natural forms The book opens on the Baja coast of California Human beings native peoples occupied that coast more than a thousand years ago White settlers never arrived there until the 16th century In the desert and on the uninhabited coastline of the Baja one can feel these old forces In western Mexico in a small fishing village the narrator of these poems meets a man who had sailed down from northern California basically in an open boat There was a small cabin But his experiences of the sea in the narrative of this work tells us how Europeans had come to Ontario and what must it have been like And of course the great lakes with their tides and their depths continue that tradition of encounter with the elements The poems in this collection tell a story and weave motifs of history and spirituality and their connection to earth water and fire Gone Fishing Tamera Will Wissinger, 2013 Children are invited to join nine year old Catfish Sam as he captures a day of adventure in his net And in verse In this unique novel told through poems and comic illustrations

Lucky Fish Aimee Nezhukumatathil, 2014-01-28 Lucky Fish travels along a lush current a confluence of leaping vocabulary and startling formal variety with upwelling gratitude at its source for love motherhood new hope and the fluid and rich possibilities of words themselves With an exuberant appetite for my morning song my scurry step my dew anchored in complicated human situations this astounding young poet's third collection of poems is her strongest yet Nezhukumatathil's third book is fascinated with the small mechanisms of being whether natural personal or imagined Everything from eating eels in the Ozark mountains to the history of red dye finds a rich life in her poems At times her lush settings and small stories are reminiscent of fairy tales while at others Nezhukumatathil speaks with resonance and fierceness Even as the poems jump from the Philippines to India to New York they still take their time stopping to notice that there is no mystery on water greater than the absence of rust and to draw small but wonderful parallels Publishers Weekly
