Grant-Kels, 2013-02-12 Atlas of Dermatological Manifestations of Gastrointestinal Disease provides a comprehensive compendium of digestive tract diseases with dermatological manifestations. The work is arranged by digestive symptoms with sections based on the specific digestive disease etiology. The atlas includes clinical presentations, pathophysiology, differential diagnosis, diagnostic tests, procedures, pathology, and references, presented with substantial numbers of images. Concise and easy to use, Atlas of Dermatological Manifestations of Gastrointestinal Disease is an important resource for gastroenterologists, dermatologists, and internists alike in the treatment of digestive tract diseases.

Cutaneous manifestations of Internal Malignancy: Inherited Syndromes (Geno-dermatoses) & Paraneoplastic Syndromes. Dr. Hakim Saboowala, 2020-06-08. Cutaneous manifestations of Internal Malignancy: Inherited Syndromes (Geno-dermatoses) & Paraneoplastic Syndromes. Cutaneous manifestations. Cutaneous markers can be classified into 2 major types: 1. Genetically determined syndromes with a cutaneous component (Genodermatoses) that predispose at-risk individuals to develop cancer. This group of genodermatoses is of particular importance because of the association of skin findings with the development of malignancies, both cutaneous and non-cutaneous. 2. Paraneoplastic syndromes which occur as a result of circulating factors or presumed factors produced by the underlying cancer. The skin often signals systemic changes. Some neoplastic diseases that affect internal organs may trigger several cutaneous manifestations. For diagnosis of the early stage of internal malignancy, paraneoplastic dermatoses are the most important among other skin changes. Although these dermatoses are relatively unusual, the recognition of some typical paraneoplastic dermatoses may lead to the early diagnosis of a neoplasm and determine a better prognosis. Paraneoplastic dermatoses may be defined as hormonal, neurological, or hematological disturbances and as clinical and biochemical imbalances associated with the presence of malignancies without direct association with primary tumor invasion or metastasis. I have endeavored in this Booklet to discuss the paraneoplastic cutaneous manifestations strongly associated with neoplasms which include: Acanthosis nigricans, malignant tripe palms, Erythema gyratum repens, Bazex syndrome, Acquired hypertrichosis lanuginosa, Necrolytic migratory erythema, Leser-Trélat sign, and Paraneoplastic pemphigus. An attempt has been made to review the clinical manifestations of each condition and include updated knowledge on disease pathogenesis along with plenty of illustrations. Dr. H. K. Saboowala, M.B.B.M.R.S.H. London.

Bokemeyer, 1998-02-02 Paraneoplastic syndromes comprise a variety of signs and symptoms that are not directly caused by the primary tumor or its metastases They may be metabolic dystrophic or degenerative disorders resulting from remote humoral or hormonal effects and spontaneously disappear after successful tumor excision or chemo or radiotherapy A few years ago paraneoplastic syndromes were still thought to be rare Today we know that a single tumor is capable of producing a variety of hormones and that paraneoplastic syndromes are caused by this ectopic formation of hormones hormone like polypeptides and growth factors Recent research has shown that viral metabolic intermediates mutated oncogenes and suppressor genes may also be involved The early diagnosis of a paraneoplastic syndrome is crucial for it may point to an undetected tumor or signal tumor relapse This book covers endocrinal neurologic muscular cutaneous hematologic and organ associated paraneoplastic syndromes and provides a detailed description of their clinical symptoms diagnosis and therapy Aiming to promote the understanding of paraneoplastic syndromes this volume is an indispensable source for their diagnosis and treatment in clinical oncology

TxNxM1 J.M. Debois,2006-05-08 Although distant metastases are the most dreaded situation in the evolution of cancer of every organ the medical literature has surprisingly given little attention to the anatomical relationship between the primary tumor and metastatic sites Only risk factors treatment possibilities and survival results are extensively examined Stimulated by the occurrence in his practice of some puzzling and unexpected metastases the author reviewed more than 12 000 references He looked for anatomical relationships highlighting the relation between the location of the primary tumors and the particular patterns of metastasis observed It would seem that the pathways and flows are apparently a more decisive factor in the implantation of the metastases than the seed and soil properties of the cancer cells and the metastatic site Aided by his colleague Dr T Geukens M D the author includes original anatomical drawings illustrating the sometimes unexpected pathways the cancer cells follow in order to reach the organs where they will become lodged and give rise to metastatic tumors The subject has apparently not been exhausted in the literature and several ideas are given for further research
