

As the Great Pyramid of Khufu began to rise over the Giza plateau in the Fourth Dynasty (about 2580–2560 BCE), a vast cemetery dedicated to high officials and royal family members gradually surrounded the king's royal funerary complex. Despite this impressive display of resources, the earliest Giza mastaba tombs enigmatically bear only minimal decoration: a rectangular "slab tomb" set into the exterior sun wall. The fifteen surviving stelae provide one of the most important sources for the study of early Old Kingdom art, religion, and history. This publication presents a fresh interpretation of the Giza stela, with new color photography, "digital epigraphy" facsimile line drawings, new translations, original discovery photographs, and recent color images taken at the site. Appendices include both color and line drawing paleographies of all hieroglyphs appearing on the stela.

Slab Stelae Of The Giza Necropolis Publications Of The Pennsylvaniayale Expedition To Egypt 7:

Studies on Old Kingdom Reliefs and Sculpture in the Hermitage Andrey O. Bolshakov, 2005 The book is the first complete publication of a relatively small but interesting collection of Old Kingdom monuments in the State Hermitage Museum St Petersburg Twenty two pieces are reproduced as black and white photographs and line drawings Among them are two statues fourteen reliefs and relief fragments five offering stones and a fragment of an ointment tablet several objects in museums of Cairo Copenhagen and Cambridge belonging to the same people are published as well Most of these monuments were never published or are known only through books and periodicals in Russian that usually are not available in Egyptological libraries Although the Hermitage pieces were acquired at antiquities dealers without any documentation their modern history is traced and in a half of cases either their provenance is reconstructed or related monuments are found A limited number of monuments allowed the author to discuss them to a much greater extent than it is common in museum publications and thus the book in spite of its structure of a catalogue virtually is a detailed study of various problems of Old Kingdom history and ideology

The Writing of Gods Racheli Shalomi-Hen, 2006 This book outlines the development of the divine classifiers in the Egyptian script system from the beginning of writing to the end of the Old Kingdom The first part discusses the falcon on the standard and the ways in which ancient Egyptian writing system expressed the idea of divine kingship The seated bearded man is the focus of the second part in which the author follows the sign from its first appearance as a classifier of foreign peoples to its identification with the god Osiris The third part is dedicated to divine markers and the structure of the divine category in the Pyramid Texts This part surveys the special orthographic constraints of the Pyramid Texts as well as the evolution of the female divine classifiers Although the book concentrates on orthographic processes it takes into account the broader religious context of the Old Kingdom Hence the relations between the sun god Re and the king as well as the special role of the Great God in the private inscriptions and the appearance of Osiris as a foreigner are also discussed

Tutankhamun and Carter Rogerio Sousa, Gabriele Pieke, Tine Bagh, 2024-08-15 First scholarly multi disciplinary re assessment of Howard Carter s discovery and excavation of Tutenkhamun s tomb and the impact of the find on our understanding of the material culture of Ancient Egypt The discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamun in 1922 stands out as one of the most important finds of modern archaeology revealing an enormous wealth of objects encapsulating techniques vestiges of uses and re uses of materials as well as unrivalled clues regarding the complex set of beliefs associated with the pharaonic funerary material culture Once cleared from the tomb these objects have captivated the world with their irresistible charm and beauty ending up playing a role in contemporary popular culture However it seems that such magnetism rather hindered than facilitated the scholarly study of the find One hundred years after the discovery of this magnificent tomb most of its objects remain insufficiently studied to this day This volume aims to show how it remains challenging to study Tutankhamun s objects gathering a collection of studies authored by leading scholars on conservation materials funerary beliefs as well as the reception of motifs and the impact of the discovery Through these studies it becomes clear how ancient objects can help us reconstruct the complex fabric of the ancient Egyptian society and how they keep interacting with modern audiences

Architecture, Power, and Religion David Warburton, 2012 This book explores the fundamental question of the origins and nature of monumental religious architecture The principal argument is that the origins of monumental religious architecture were basically aspatial and that the gradual incorporation of functional space into religious architecture can be related to transformations in religious thought Although the discussion ranges across the Old World the argument centers on Egypt and the Egyptian female king Hatshepsut she set the tone for the New Kingdom by tying her legitimacy to Amun and the monuments she built for him This leads into the issues of power and political legitimacy and their relevance to myths The basic contention is that the political ideologies of the Near Eastern Bronze Age contributed fundamentally to what later became the phenomenon we know as religion and that the history of the architecture must be understood in order to understand both religion and architectural space
