Slavery furiously debated yet recognized in the Constitution was a stain on the nation s consciousness since the founding of the Republic As the country grew legal battles erupted over the fate of fugitive slaves and the rights of slave owners to take their property into free states Nowhere was the issue more sharply drawn than in the nation s capital where government leaders saw first hand the shame and disgrace of legal slavery and the inherent moral conflict with guarantees in the Declaration of Independence Decades of agitation for change came to fruition on April 16 1862 when Abraham Lincoln signed legislation that ended slavery in the District of Columbia nine months before the Emancipation Proclamation which liberated slaves only in the Confederacy and a full three years before ratification of the Thirteenth Amendment
First Freed Elizabeth Clark-Lewis,2002 This revised edition of award winning author and historian Clark Lewis s 1998 volume published to commemorate the 140th anniversary of Emancipation in the District of Columbia provides readers with critical research and information about this often overlooked and underexamined aspect of local and national history

Compensated Emancipation in the District of Columbia Dorothy S. Provine,2005-01-01 On Apr 16 1862 Congress passed the law entitled An Act for the Release of Certain Persons Held to Service of Labor in the District of Columbia which abolished slavery in the nation s capital and provided monetary compensation for the ex slaveowners The District of Columbia was unique as being the only place the Federal government paid slaveholders after liberating their slaves Petitioners were required to take an oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States and to swear that they had not borne arms against it or given aid and comfort to its enemies Those loyal persons claiming ownership were required to submit within 90 days a petition naming and descibing their slaves estimating their value and stating how they obtained title to such persons Introd
