The Nightwatchman Hlonipha Mokoena, 2025-08 The Nightwatchman Essays on Portraiture and the Black Male Figure in Colonial South Africa brings into focus the African policeman as a subject of portraiture While colonial governments co-opted and conscripted Africans into military and policing services it was after the Zulu defeat of the English in the battle of Isandlwana that a genre of photography developed around images of the Zulu warrior and Zulu policeman In this illustrated book Hlonipha Mokoena extends the literature on colonial ethnographic photography by creating a narrative of nightwatchman portraiture from the rich archive of images Although the origins of this genre lay in the representation of Fingoes amaMfengu during the frontier wars she argues that an ethnological spectacle of the Zulu male body was inaugurated after the last Zulu king Cetshwayo was photographed as a posing subject While much research has focussed on the African man employed in emasculating labour or as a functionary of settler power this book shifts debates about how the body moves in history Placed in uniform the male subject becomes aestheticised and admired Mokoena focuses less on the idiosyncrasies of the uniform than on the sartorial selection processes and co-optation of colonial aesthetic culture that constructed the idea of the Nonqgqayi or nightwatchman as a fully formed photographic presence The beauty captured in these images upends conceptions of colonial photography as a tool of oppression In its focus on the figure of the black and brown fighting man The Nightwatchman offers an innovative work on the history of portraiture

Babinski,2003-06-30 This riveting new collection offers testimonies of former fundamentalists who became disillusioned with their churches and left Presenting more than two dozen personal journeys this book gives a clear picture of what attracts a person to the fundamentalist faith and what can drive believers away from their religion Photos throughout Race in a Godless World Nathan G. Alexander,2019-09-16 Is modern racism a product of secularisation and the decline of Christian universalism The debate has raged for decades but up to now the actual racial views of historical atheists and freethinkers have never been subjected to a systematic analysis Race in a Godless World sets out to correct the oversight It centres on Britain and the United States in the second half of the nineteenth century a time when popular atheist movements were emerging and scepticism about the truth of Christianity was becoming widespread Covering racial and evolutionary science imperialism slavery and racial prejudice in theory and practice it provides a much needed account of the complex and sometimes contradictory ideas espoused by the transatlantic community of atheists and freethinkers It also reflects on the social dimension of irreligiousness exploring how working class atheists experiences of exclusion could make them sympathetic to other marginalised groups The Making of a Battle Royal Jeffrey Paul Straub,2018-04-17 American Baptists emerged from the Civil War as a divided group Slavery landmarkism and other issues sundered Baptists into regional clusters who held more or less to the same larger doctrinal sentiments As the century progressed influences from Europe further altered the landscape A new way to view the Bible more human less divine began to shape Baptist thought Moreover Darwinian evolutionism altered the way religion was studied Religion like humanity itself was progressing Conservative Baptists proto fundamentalists objected to these alterations Baptist bodies had a new enemy theological liberalism The schools were at the center of the story in the earliest days as professors many of whom studied abroad returned to the United States with progressive ideas that were passed on to their students Soon these ideas were being presented at denominational gatherings or published in denomination papers and books Baptists agitated over the new views with some professors losing their jobs when they strayed too far from historic Baptists commitments By 1920 the Northern Baptists in particular broke out into an all out war over theology that came to be called The Fundamentalist Modernist controversy This is the fifty year history behind that controversy
